HOME IN RUINS—Fireman Joseph Joseph De Patta (left) sprays smoldering ruins of home of J. Larry Husband at 9 Irving Drive, Sleepy Hollow, swept by $27,000 fire late yesterday. Asst. Fire So Hot It Hides How Blaze Starts

A fire, so intense it covered all trace of its cause, did $27,000 damage to the Sleepy Hollow home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Larry Husband at 9 Irving Drive yesterday afternoon.

The blaze had cut a charred swath through all but three rooms of the house and was burning in the attic and through a thick shake roof when San Anselmo firemen arrived at 4:45 p.m. Fire Chief Frank Sousa said, "It must have been burning for some time."

One of those who called and reported the fire was Husband, who arrived home from work to find flames and smoke coming through the blown-out windows of his home. He let the family dog out of the garage, he said, but it was too hot to go near the house.

His wife and five children were attending a Brownie meeting at the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Husband later told firemen she and the children left the house at 3:15

House, Senate Clear Away Last Obstacles To Viet Appropriations

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the House heading toward a vote on a $4.8-billion Viet Nam military supply bill, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., announced today he will move to kill any policy rider to a similar Senate measure.

Mansfield said it was possible the Senate could act on the bill later in the day. Earlier, after he and House Speaker John W. McCormack had met with President Johnson yesterday Mansfield had predicted passage by a wide margin before the end of the week.

Morse, a critic of Johnson's Asian policies, told reporters he will offer a rider to rescind a 1964 resolution approving the use by Johnson of force to counter Communist aggression in Asia.

McCormack said once the money authorization bill is passed, he is confident the House Appropriations Committee will act rapidly on the actual appropriation bills for military and economic purposes in Viet Nam.

Senate passage of the bill seemed assured after a cluster of vocal opponents had decided the measure was "not a proper vehicle" for battling the administration's Southeast Asian policies.

The 17 senators who for 14 days had talked the bill to a standstill on the Senate floor met twice yesterday and then announced they would not offer a controversial anti-escalation amendment to the measure, part of $12.3 billion for emergency military use sought by Johnson.

But the opposition — accused of filibustering by administration supporters — made it clear that a backdown on the money bill would not still their criticism of Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

Explained the group's spokesman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "None of us wants to deprive the armies in the field of anything they need. This argument keeps coming up, and none of us wishes (in) any way to be accused of obstructing the supply of our troops."

The Arkansas Democrat told newsmen that he and his 16 associates were "deeply concerned about the trend of our involvement in South Viet Nam." Although they decided not to offer an amendment to the pending bill, Fulbright said,

Helicopter-Landed Troops Trap North Viet Battalion

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. air cavalrymen swarmed down ropes and aluminum ladders from helicopters through bomb holes blasted in a tangled jungle today in an assault aimed at trapping and killing a North Vietnamese battalion.

Hundreds of U.S. Marines, who used the same tactics yesterday to gain the strategic advantage of assaulting from high ground of a mountaintop swept down from the hills today toward a peninsula in the South China Sea, driving 400 trapped Communist troops before them. A U.S. official said they had killed 115 of the enemy in bloody fighting.

South Vietnamese troops moving in a blocking action to support the Marine assault near the ancient imperial capital of Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon, reported killing 145 Viet Cong in their phase of the operation.

The 1st Cavalry troops hit a Viet Cong area further south near Bong Son, about 320 miles northeast of Saigon in a new operation called Black Horse, the latest phase of the continuing multi-brigade operation White Wing.

The Communist battalion, believed to be the 9th Battalion of the 18th North Vietnamese Regiment, was reported holed up in the horseshoe-shaped mountain chain which encircles a coastal valley and overlooks the sea.

U.S. Air Force Skyraider fighter bombers kicked off the assault by dumping 750-pound bombs with delayed fuses in

Light Snow Hits Mount Tamalpais

Light flakes of snow fell about 9:30 a.m. today on Mount Tamalpais, and a shower, too small to measure, hit San Rafael a half hour later.

The Weather Bureau predicted high west winds tonight, with a chance of rain.

MEDICARE IN MARIN

No One Sure Exactly How New Health Rules Work

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

(Second of five articles)

At midnight two major welfare programs, accounting for about $2 million in the Marin County budget, vanished.

They were replaced, in theory, by the least known part of the new federal Medicare program, the part operated by the state.

In fact, they were replaced by chaos.

No one in California knows how the new program will work, or how many people will be benefited, or what, exactly, their benefits will be. How people will go about becoming qualified for aid was made clear for the first time yesterday.

Also — more important perhaps from the standpoint of physicians, insurance men and hospitals — no one knows who will get paid what and by whom.

The program is designed to replace the former (until today) medical aid to the aged program and the medical assistance for persons receiving public assistance.

Betty L. Pressley, in charge of the county's social services department, yesterday said one thing is clear. No aid presently given will be stopped, and no one entitled to aid under the former program will get any less.

For some persons, the scope of medical care will increase greatly. For a few others, a new, cheaper program of medical care will go into effect for 90 days as soon as a member of the family has "a spell of hospitalization."

No one reached by the Independent-Journal at the county welfare office or the state offices was able to say how long the spell must be, however.

Persons entitled to the new medical care were supposed to receive identification cards. As of today, no card had been printed, and state officials were uncertain what information was supposed to go on them.

The situation is pretty clear, according to Ruth Wilson of the State Department of Social Welfare, in the cases of persons now receiving public assistance under any program which is partially federally supported.

All of them except a few who will not meet a state residence requirement, will be blanketed into the new state program.

They will be entitled to free hospital care, outpatient hospital services, laboratory and x-ray services, nursing home care, physicians' services, home health care, private duty nursing, outpatient clinic care, dental care, physical therapy, drugs, dentures, prosthetic devices, eyeglasses, and other diagnostic screening, preventive or rehabilitative services, including treatment by prayer.

All of these services are in-

BROWN REINS IN ON CAMPAIGNERS

Bennett, Real Estate Official Warned Not To Campaign On State Time; Others May

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown told two of his top appointees today to stop campaigning on state time.

He gave the warnings to Real Estate Commissioner Milton Gordon, running for secretary of state, and Public Utilities Commissioner William Bennett, of Kentfield, a candidate for attorney general. Both are Democrats.

Brown, at his news conference, said he has told Gordon that it would be "highly improper" of him to accept campaign contributions from real estate licensees.

Norbert Schlei, Gordon's opponent for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state, had demanded that Gordon either resign or refuse to accept contributions from real estate interests.

Brown, however, excluded Democratic Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch from his warning. Lynch had been appointed to the elective office by Brown when it became vacant and now has to run for election.

For an elected incumbent, said Brown, running for office is "part and parcel" of the job. The statement apparently included Brown, himself, and other elected officials.

Of Gordon, Brown said he "cannot campaign on state time." And, said Brown, he cannot take a leave of absence, although he is entitled to a 30-day vacation.

"The same applies to Bill Bennett," said Brown. But he said it did not apply to Thomas C. Braden, president of the State Board of Education, who is running for the Democratic nomi-

Russians Land Space Ship, Coat Of Arms On Venus

MOSCOW (UPI) — A one-ton unmanned Russian space ship landed today on the planet Venus and planted the Soviet coat of arms in an historic breakthrough in man's conquest of space.

The automatic space ship Venus 3 covered the 24-million mile distance in three and a half months, giving the Russians another major first over the United States.

Venus 3 was the first such vehicle to make a landing on a cosmic body other than the moon. It followed another Soviet first of Feb. 3 when the Russians made the first soft landing on the Moon.

The official news agency Tass said the station, fired last Nov. 16, reached the surface of Venus at 9:56 a.m. Moscow time (1:56 a.m. EST). It said the flight covered "approximately 24 million" miles.

The Russians also disclosed another space probe, Venus 2, passed within 14,912 miles of Venus on Sunday and went into orbit around the sun. This was 7,042 miles closer than Ameri-

LBJ Dangles Peace Corps For Hanoi

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appealed to Hanoi today to negotiate peace, and held out the promise of a massive reconstruction program that would include North Viet Nam.

Johnson, addressing his remarks directly to the leaders of North Viet Nam in a White House ceremony marking the fifth anniversary of the Peace Corps, urged that they "negotiate peace and let war stand aside while the people of Viet Nam choose."

"For our part," Johnson said, "we will be willing to abide by the outcome."

Johnson told Hanoi's leaders "total victory is beyond expectation for them—as they must know it is..."

Asks Congress Help On Meals, Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson submitted to Congress today a cradle-to-old age health and education program to help feed poor children and meet the hospital needs of the elderly.

In a lengthy message, Johnson also called for creation of an advisory committee on alcoholism and a government center for research on its cause, prevention and control.

The message was skimpy on financing figures. But Johnson did say he was asking for $50 million "for programs designed to provide adequate nutrition for disadvantaged children," in addition to $329 million in cash and commodities already in the budget for school nutrition programs.

FOOD PROGRAM

The President also said he has directed Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John Gardner to begin a special food service program under which local organizations will be able to offer balanced, nutritious meals to the elderly, at cut rates or free to those in need. This would be done under an older Americans act passed last year.

Johnson's food proposals carried with them the threat of continued conflict with Congress. Complaints have sprung up at his proposed 79 per cent cut in the program for subsidized milk for school children. Johnson did not back away from this. Again he emphasized that those who can should pay for milk in school lunches.

MORE PRESSURE

In the medical and health field, Johnson noted that one-third of the general hospitals in the nation, containing 260,000 beds, are obsolete and the pressure on hospitals will grow when medicare goes into operation July 1.

While he was at it, Johnson recommended:

Grants to states and communities for planning better use of manpower facilities and funds for comprehensive health services.

A new state formula, beginning in the 1968 fiscal year, for such health services.

Also to start in that same year, a program of grants to states, communities, medical schools and hospitals to meet special health programs.

A three-year program to provide grants for training needed health workers. The money would be used to build and improve schools, tp provide

Vote Contest Shaping Up In Water District

Contests for election of directors in two Marin Municipal Water Districts shaped up today with latest petitions of candidacy papers taken out at the county clerk's office for filing for the June 7 primary.

William A. Marcus, incumbent for District 4, is being challenged by Joel F. Gustafson, college professor residing at 35 Morningsun Avenue, Mill Valley. Marcus, a business consultant, and retired banker, lives at 101 Crown Road, Kentfield. Marcus took out his petition late yesterday and Gustafson took his this morning.

Other races, for director of District 3, thus far involves George W. Thierbach, incumbent of 128 Hill Path, Corte Madera, who was among the first to take out petitions, and Allan James Creighton, a safety engineer living at 56 Bella Vista Avenue, San Anselmo, who appeared as challenger today.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Archbishop McGucken Beaten

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken is hospitalized with bruises and a possible concussion after a beating by robbers.

The pair of assailants — finding no money — stripped the archbishop of San Francisco of his keys and rosary, a gift from Pope John XXIII three years ago in Rome, and left him lying dazed on the street in front of his Pacific Heights home.

McGucken

The 62-year-old archibishop said he was accosted by two men as he was returning home Saturday night from his nightly stroll. He said one of the men asked, "Is there any way to get from here to that crazy Golden Gate Bridge?"

As the archbishop started to reply, he said, he was struck on the side of the face and knocked to the sidewalk. In the fall, the archbishop apparently hit his head and blacked out.

When he regained consciousness, he said, his assailants had fled.

Police said that Archbishop McGuchen was wearing a heavy overcoat and a scarf which concealed his clerical collar, and that his assailants probably were not aware of their victim's identity.

Danny Kaye Turns Industrialist

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Movie and television entertainer Danny Kaye has been named a vice president of Lear Jet Corp.

William P. Lear Sr., president of the executive aircraft firm, announced the appointment and said it will in no way detract from Kaye's other activities.

Kaye

"Danny Kaye's profound interest in aviation is a well known facet of amazing man's talents," Lear said. "We are delighted he has chosen to pursue this interest in an active way with the Lear jet family."

Lear said Kaye, who hold a commercial pilot's license with multi-engine and instrument ratings, will participate actively in the marketing program on an international basis for all Lear jet aircraft.

Kaye also is one of three principals in a new Lear distributorship. The firm, Pacific Lear Jet Sales Co., has offices in Los Angeles with marketing responsibilities in a seven-state area of the west, including Alaska.

Character Actor Dies By Shot

Hale

Hospital attendants said it appeared that the actor had taken his own life with a .38-caliber pistol. He had been under treatment for depression.

The actor started his career in 1934, and appeared in 17 films. He was often cast as a lawyer, judge or public official. As Mr. Dithers, he was the erratic boss of Blondie's husband Dagwood.

His screen credits included such films as "Call Northside 777," "On the Sunny Side of the Street," "The Steel Trap," "Duffy of San Quentin," "36 Hours to Kill" and "Strangers on a train."

Karloff Under Knife

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Boris Karloff, who rose to fame as the star of horror films, was reported in good condition following minor surgery at Good Samaritan Hospital. Karloff, who is 78, entered the hospital Feb. 14.

Royalty Sees Spill

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI)—A policeman toppled from his motorcycle yesterday while taking part in a police display for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip on the second day of their visit to Nassau. The royal couple and many in the crowd of 20,000 smiled as police Constable Harrison Lockhart got up and dusted himself off. He was not hurt.

ROME (UPI)—A Rome court acquitted soprano Anna Moffo yesterday of failing to pay import duties on a New Jersey-licensed automobile she brought over from the United States May 16, 1963. The court accepted her argument that as U.S. citizen coming to Italy only briefly she was not required to pay duties for temporary import of the car.

GOP Seeking Draft System Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty Republican House members called today for an immediate investigation of the draft, charging the present system is haphazard and mired in a jungle of red tape.

Administration efforts to persuade allies to supply men for Viet Nam also should come under congressional scrutiny, the group said in a statement issued prior to a late morning news conference at the Capitol.

"The search to provide manpower to fight the war in Viet Nam should be equitable and efficient," the congressmen said. "We are concerned that it is neither."

The group predicted the administration "may soon seek to increase substantially the number of U.S. forces in Southeast Asia" and said "we can no longer afford a haphazard approach."

In the statement, the congressmen also claimed:

1. The Defense Department is "not making maximum efficient use" of present personnel. They cited a recent report they said showed 9,000 enlisted men held jobs in officers' clubs, hobby shops, bowling alleys, golf courses and commissary stores.

2. Nearly 280,000 men classified 1-A aren't available for the draft because their papers are "stalled in the bureaucratic pipeline."

3. "There does not appear to be a clear order of priority in which the administration is considering calling various manpower groups for service."

4. Tests scheduled to help determine which college students should be given deferments discriminate against liberal arts students and favor those concentrating on science courses.

Jail Term Set For Egg-Tossing

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A Warsaw photographer has received a three-month jail sentence and lecture for hurling eggs at singer Marlene Dietrich.

The photographer Marek Balcerzak, 35, pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges in Warsaw magistrate's court. He hurled three eggs when Miss Dietrich appeared on stage Sunday night because, he said, he was piqued over an allegedly unpaid bill for photographs of the Berlin-born entertainer. The eggs splashed near Miss Dietrich's feet.

Balcerzak testified that Miss Dietrich had accepted photos from him in January 1964, but her aides declined to pay his bill of $332.

Witness Declares From Stand He Shot, Killed Malcolm

NEW YORK (AP) — In a dramatic courtroom confession, Talmadge Hayer says he was one of the assassins of black nationalist leader Malcolm X.

He declared that his codefendants — Norman 3X Butler and Thomas 15X Johnson—"had nothing to do with it."

Hayer, 24, testified yesterday that he had three accomplices, but he refused to name them. He said the killers were hired. But he refused to say who hired them or why, or how much money was involved.

Hayer, who made his confession during the defense presentation, faced continued cross-examination today.

Hayer said no one involved in the murder was connected with the Black Muslims.

The prosecution contends that all three defendants were active members of the sect, of which Malcolm once was a top leader. He broke with the Muslims and founded his own black nationalist movement in 1964.

Hayer, Butler, 26, and Johnson, 30, all Negroes, are on trial in State Supreme Court on first-degree murder charges.

They are accused of shooting Malcolm as he addressed 400 followers in a Manhattan ballroom Feb. 21, 1965. The prosecution charges that Johnson fired a shotgun blast into Malcolm's chest and that Hayer and Butler pumped pistol bullets into him as he lay prone on the stage.

Hayer, who swore on the witness stand last Wednesday that he was innocent, returned to the stand after an out-of-court conference with his codefendants.

He told Justice Charles Marks and the jury that he wanted to "tell the truth."

Hayer — who had said first that he had four accomplices and then said later there were three — testified that he fired a 45-caliber automatic at Malcom "about four times" after he had been felled by the shotgun blast.

SURVIVOR 'FORGETS'

12th Anniversary Of D.C. Shooting

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sole political survivor of the five "Purple Heart" House members had to be reminded that it was exactly 12 years ago today that he and his colleagues were shot while attending a House session.

"Celebrate what?" replied Rep. George H. Fallon, 64, Maryland Democrat, when asked if he intended to observe the anniversary of one of the weirdest episodes in congressional history.

"Gee, I had forgotten all about it," Fallon said.

Fallon was shot in the hip when four flag-waving Puerto Rican terrorists shouting, "Freedom for Puerto Rico!" leaped from their seats in the House gallery and fired several volleys of bullets at members seated on the House floor beneath the gallery. The House was debating a Mexican labor bill at the time.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley, R-Mich., was shot in the chest and liver; Rep. Clifford Davis, D-Tenn., was wounded in the leg; Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R-Iowa, was shot in the shoulder; and Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts, D-Ala., was shot in the leg.

For several years, the five victims gathered annually for luncheon on the anniversary. The practice stopped when the vagaries of politics removed four of them from the congressional scene. Bentley was an unsuccessful candidate for the Senate. Davis, Roberts and Jensen lost in bids for re-election to the House.

What happened to the assailants?

All four were captured quickly and were convicted in a federal court here on assault charges. They were Lolita Lebron, 34; Rafael Miranda, 25; Andres Figuerroa Cordero, 29; and Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28. All were from New York and were members of the Puerto Rican Nationalist party.

The woman was sentenced to from 16 to 50 years in prison. Her male accomplices received terms of from 25 to 75 years. They still are behind bars.

The wild attack set off a short-lived crusade for tighter security measures for the House, but nothing substantial came of it. Doormen now check more closely persons who have admission cards for the galleries. The cards must be obtained from members.

In an address yesterday to the Atlanta Press Club, Graham said that young persons are "making a tremendous impact on the social, economic and political and moral life of America."

Hearing Rushed In Girl's Killing

CRESCENT CITY (UPI)—A 16-year-old high school boy suspected of slaying 11-year-old Myra Gerling has been turned over to the California Youth Authority, it was learned yesterday.

A hearing announced for March 4 was held last Friday before juvenile court Judge M.H. Messner, who said the hearing date was moved up because "we could see no reason not to go ahead with it after all the evidence was in."

"The boy responsible for the crime is in custody and we are not looking for anyone else," Messner said Monday.

Three boys discovered the nude body of the Crescent City girl Feb. 12. Her throat had been slashed and she had been stabbed at least 40 times.

Author's Friend Faces Marijuana Sentence

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A judge convicted a girl of possessing marijuana yesterday and excoriated a best selling novelist who vanished after being arrested with her atop a Telegraph Hill building.

Judge Francis McCarthy, in Superior Court, found Carolyn Adams, 19, guilty after a two-day trial. Facing a maximum two years in prison, she will have a probation hearing March 21.

Referring to writer Ken Kesey, the judge told the defendant: "If Mr. Kesey is still alive, then I'd say he becomes a rather sad Sir Galahad . . . to leave you alone to face the charges."

Police said they found 3.54 grams of the narcotic when they arrested the girl and Kesey, author of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," on the rooftop the night of Jan. 19.

Kesey was sentenced in suburban Redwood City Jan. 17 to six months in the San Mateo County Jail for possessing marijuana. He was free on a $5,000 appeal bond two nights later when arrested in San Francisco. He disappeared while free on $2,200 bond here.

On Feb. 6 a bus belonging to Kesey was found 40 miles north of Eureka, in northwestern California.

Young Negro Offered New, Better Haircut

MADISON, N.J. (UPI) — A Negro youth who charged that a reluctant white barber stood with "one hand on his hip, and sort of casually hacked away at my head" will get another haircut today from another barber.

Thomas Sellers III, 16, accepted an invitation from Vincent Costanzo, proprietor of Plaza Barber Shop in nearby Hazlet, to take the haircut at his stop late today.

"We decided to take him up on his offer," said Thomas' mother. "The man was concerned over the reputation of his trade. We are heartened by this gesture."

Thomas' father, who brought a suit which resulted in a state Supreme Court decision requiring all New Jersey barbers to cut the hair of Negroes, complained to the state board of examiners about the hair cut. He charged the barber, Peter Triolo, with "gross incompetence."

Five photographs of Sellers's son, taken after the haircut last Saturday, accompanied the complaint.

In Trenton, a spokesman for the barber's board said there was no precedent for deciding such a complaint.

The Supreme Court decision arose from a complaint two years ago by Sellers and Reginald Barrow, who charged they were denied service at Philip's barber shop here.

Young Sellers claimed his hair had been "butchered" by Triolo.

Patrol Reports Span Leap Hint

A 29-year-old Kentfield mother, Mrs. Jeanette Ehlen Duro, was held for observation at San Francisco General Hospital today after a California Highway Patrolman found her walking on the east sidewalk of the Golden Gate Bridge at 5 p.m. yesterday.

The officer reported Mrs. Duro, of 925 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, told him, "I can't see how anyone could kill themselves by jumping from the bridge." He told her she should not be on the bridge.

He said a note was found in Mrs. Duro's car, parked at Vista Point, saying she intended to "do this terrible thing."

Police Overpower Berserk Traveler

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A man went berserk on a San Francisco-bound airliner, tried to get inside the pilots' cockpit, and was forcibly removed when the plane returned to the terminal at Los Angeles International Airport last night, Police said.

The plane was taxiing to the runway for takeoff when the incident occurred, police said. The flight, Western Airline's flight 220, was delayed an hour afterward while the baggage compartment was searched as a precautionary measure, a spokesman for the airline said.

Taken into custody was a man identified by police as Gerald Park, 21, of Sunnyvale.

Police said he became enraged when a stewardess asked him to sit down and fasten his safety belt as the plane moved toward the runway.

He allegedly hit the stewardess, Jean Clark, and then tugged at the locked cockpit door while the pilot, Capt Joe Sedey, taxiied back to the terminal. The stewardess had somehow managed to warn Sedey, police said, and he used his two-way radio to ask the airport control tower to call police.

The first officer to board the plane, Det. Leonard Brown, was hit and kicked by Park, police said. Two uniformed officers arrived moments later, police said, and subdued Park.

The baggage check was made because Park shouted that he had a bag as he was being taken off the plane, officers said. A check turned up no luggage for him.

Soviets Trimming Budget On Overseas Foreign Aid

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is cutting back its foreign aid program, a survey of available information shows.

This is bad news for developing nations at a time when aid from the West is failing to increase in pace with rising demands and when Communist China is defaulting on aid promises.

Authoritative sources say the biggest Soviet aid beneficiary, India, was told late last year the Soviet Union cannot meet the Indians' expectations. The Indians were told domestic economic pressure is forcing the Kremlin to restrict its aid program.

Other countries have been disappointed. The most recent disclosure of this came two weeks ago from Kenya. It rejected aid that was tied to the sale of Soviet goods.

The Soviet aid cutback dates from the ouster of Nikita S. Khrushchev from power in October 1964.

Khrushchev was openhanded with aid, seeking to win friends and influence nations. His successors have taken a stricter attitude.

The Soviet Union has provided about $10 billion worth of aid to other Communist countries.

Florida Is Warmest

NEW YORK (UPI)—The lowest temperature reported this morning to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 2 above zero at Williston, N.D. The highest reported yesterday was 86 degrees at Vero Beach, Fla.

Labor Still Set On Wage Boosts

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Organized labor's breech with the Johnson administration over the federal minimum wage and guideposts to collective bargaining showed no sighs of healing today.

George Meany closed down the AFL-CIO's winter executive council meeting yesterday, saying no compromise on minimum wage is in sight. The labor federation's goals to rise the present $1.25 per hour minimum wage still stand a $1.40 this year, $1.60 in 1967 and $1.75 by 1968.

The AFL-CIO president added he still feels Johnson's economic guidelines on wage increases are "impractical."

More Troubles For One-Man Peace Effort

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — An Israel restaurant owner today faced arrest on his expected return from Egypt where he flew in a relic biplane to seek peace between the two nations.

Abie Nathan, 38, maneuvered the Stearman biplane across the heavily guarded Israeli-Egyptian frontier yesterday and was arrested as soon as he landed at Port Said. He was ordered to return home.

(Nathan took off for Israel from Port Said today but had to land within five minutes because a patch the Egyptians fixed on the lower wing of his ancient plane came loose as soon as he got airborne. The Egyptians set about making a new patch for the would-be Israeli "peace dove."

Israel national police spokesman Jacob Nash said Nathan faced charges of illegally leaving the country, taking off without flight clearance and of flying without a license.

Red Cross Praised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson officially opened the 1966 Red Cross membership and fund drive yesterday by urging Americans to "give and give generously. The Red Cross has never failed us," the Chief Executive said. "We cannot fail it now . . . I know we shall offer a full measure of both volunteers and funds."

Almonte Directors Seek New Place For Meetings

Almonte Sanitary District directors will seek a new meeting place at Marin Terrace School but will continue to meet in the office of former director A. R. Teather until a new location is found.

Three directors, Chairman Robert A. Alexander, Richard J. Dawe, and Hugh Brown, will take the oath of office this week at the county clerk's office.

The board, which last night answered many charges and questions by George W. Blackwell, Almonte property owner, agreed to invite Blackwell to attend the next board meeting.

Resignation of Teather was accepted by the board with a commendation for his dedicated service, Alexander reported. There was no action taken to fill Teather's post, the directors agreeing to check with the county clerk to see if the directorship could be left vacant until the June primary to permit voters to decide on a new director.

Actions of last night resulted from findings by county Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell in an audit of operations of special districts in the county.

Alexander said the board was operating under an erroneous impression that members could fill out oaths on special forms, seal them and forward them to the county clerk's office.

He read a long statement denying Blackwell's charge that the board is "milking the Almonte taxpayer" and cited statistics to prove otherwise.

The board passed a motion agreeing to support a proposed Southern Marin sanitary district comprised of Almonte, Homestead, Alto, Kay Park sanitary districts, and the city of Mill Valley, and tabled the subject of a proposed new contract with Mill Valley, hearing that the contract draft has not yet arrived.

It was agreed to ask the Marin County jury the exact status of a grand jury investigation of Almonte District separately and of any other districts.

PETITIONS

candidates taking out petitions were all incumbents who are so far, without opposition.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales took out papers for his first race for the office he now holds by appointment.

Rep. Donald H. Clausen, R-First District, filed his notice of intention to seek renomination at the Marin County clerk's office, in the last of the counties making up his large congressional district. Phillip H. Drath of San Rafael yesterday filed notice of intention to seek the Democratic nomination for Congress, but Clausen is expected to be without opposition in the Republican primary.

Stanley J. Fontez, county treasurer-tax collector, entered the list for another term.

Two judges filed for election, neither expected to have competition: Judge Harold J. Haley of Superior Court and Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Municipal Court.

Also taking out petitions were: Matthew A. Graham of 68 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, Republican Central Committee, second district; Frank P. Myer, of Inverness, Republican Central Committee, fourth district; Thomas A. Skornia of 105 Camino Bueno Road, Ross, Democratic Central Committee, second district; George Pierre De Tuncq, of 82 Grove Lane, Novato, Democratic Central Committee, fifth district, and also for Novato Sanitary District Board, and Thomas D[illegible]ley Hardcastle, 7 English Court, Novato, for Novato Sanitary District Board. Both De Tuncq and Hardcastle are incumbents.

In announcing his candidacy for re-election, District Attorney Bales, 42, declared, "I pledge to the people of Marin that I shall continue to discharge the duties of district attorney in a responsible and impartial manner and to prosecute vigorously, but with fairness to all.

"My 13 years in the district attorney's office as deputy, assistant, and district attorney have furnished me with the finest of training and experience for carrying out the important responsibilities of my office."

Bales was appointed district attorney in April, 1964, after the resignation of Roger P. Garety, to whom he had been assistant since 1960. He joined the office in 1953.

Bales is a native of Los Angeles and received his law degree from University of California's Boalt Hall. He and his wife, Jo Ann; son, Thomas, and daughter, Susan, reside at 232 Clorinda Avenue, San Rafael.

Fontez, who was elected county treasurer in 1962, pointed to his accomplishment of tripling the income from county deposits since taking office, and converting much of the bookkeeping to data processing.

"I believe that this post should continue to be elective, retaining service to the people, not encumbered by political ties in other directions," Fontez said.

He cited the Fairchild Semiconductor tax case in which he joined in criticism of the board of supervisors for forgiving a penalty on escaped taxes.

Fontez, a native of San Francisco, came to Marin at the age of 4. He is a graduate of San Francisco State College with a degree in secondary education, and taught in high school and college from 1948 until 1956, when he joined the auditor-controller's office.

He and his wife, Florence, live at 501 Heather Way, Terra Linda. They have a son, Lawrence, 21, serving in the Army in Korea, and two daughters, Teresa, 20, and Kathleen, 13.

Clausen was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in a special election in January, 1963, following the death of Rep. Clem Miller, and was re-elected in 1964. He resides in Crescent City.

Judge Haley was named to the Superior Court by Gov. Edmund 3. Brown to replace Judge Richard M. Sims Jr., who moved up from that court to the District Court of Appeals in San Francisco. Judge Haley took office Jan. 5, 1965.

Judge Thomas was appointed to the municipal bench by Governor Brown on Oct. 12, 1959. He has since been elected.

the area. The bombs blasted huge holes in the dense jungle, large enough for helicopters to hover over and disgorge their troops on long ladders and ropes.

Communist casualties probably were in the hundreds since Marine Corps fighter-bombers swept down on a Viet Cong junk fleet trying to slip out of the region this morning under cover of pre-dawn darkness. The trapped guerrillas were bombed and strafed with rocket and machinegun fire.

Elsewhere, U.S. paratroopers of the 173 Airborne Brigade suffered casualties when U.S. planes supporting their ground action mistakenly bombed the American positions.

A military spokesman said fighting between the Communists and the paratroopers was so close and intense Sunday that the Americans were unable to pull back and let the air strikes in.

Five U.S. Air Force F-100s and two Navy A1H Skyraiders raiding Viet Cong supply lines northeast of Saigon today reported intense ground fire from quad-fifties—the dreaded four-barrelled 50 caliber machinegun. All of the planes returned safely and pilots said at least 10 Viet Cong manning one of the deadly guns were believed killed.

The pilots said it was the first time they had run into anything in South Viet Nam as heavy as quad-fifties and although there have been reports in recent months of a Communist buildup in heavy anti-aircraft weapons.

fellowships, and to develop new types of health personnel.

In the field of general education, Johnson proposed a four-year extension of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and, along with it, a boost from $2,000 to $3,000 in the family income formula for providing educational help to the poor beginning in fiscal 1968.

He proposed that Congress authorize $5 million additional to help communities plan school construction so as to encourage innovation and deal with obsolescence, overcrowding and such special problems as segregation.

For the Higher Education Facilities Act, Johnson urged extension for three more years and authorization of $458 million in construction grants for the 1967 fiscal year beginning July 1. He proposed that $200 million be supplied for loans to build undergraduate and graduate facilities.

BONDS

considerable discussion prompted by questions from the City of Larkspur.

Ronald E. Piper, whose resignation as Larkspur city manager was effective yesterday, raised several questions in a letter, based mainly on the city's proposed 53-acre park.

Piper asked if the city would get any state bond money for its project and wondered if the split between city and county territory of the county bond funds is realistic, considering the higher assessed valuation in cities.

Piper also said the county bond program, which would provide $129,747 for Larkspur, would jeopardize any city bond proposal for park development. A total of $670,000 is needed for the Larkspur park development, he wrote.

Supervisor Chairman Byron W. Leydecker said the answers to Piper's questions would come out in the "education process" for the bond campaign.

He said he did not see why the city would want to "shoot down" the park bond concept.

Robert Bundy, acting Larkspur city manager, said the city was not trying to "shoot down" the proposal in any way, but simply wanted the questions answered.

Mrs. Jean Barnard of Mill Valley suggested the board delay action to give a chance for all questions to be answered.

Leydecker said it would probably be 1978 for a bond election could be held if all questions were to be covered.

p.m. and all seemed in order at that time.

"She did not check the family room though, where the fire must have started," said Chief Sousa. "The fire could have been smouldering through when she left."

It took firemen 15 minutes to control the blaze, and close to an hour and a half to put it out, the chief reported. Fearful that the blaze might start up again, firemen from San Anselmo Station No. 2 went out to check the house three times last night.

Chief Sousa said, "The fire seemed to have started in the family room but we can't determine the cause because of the extensive damage there." Husband told the chief the only appliances in the room, where some of the children slept, were a couple of lamps.

Lt. Joseph De Patta of the fire department, first to arrive on the scene, said, "The house was completely engulfed in flames."

Chief Sousa said the only rooms to escape total damage were two bedrooms and a bathroom in the rear of the house. They were damaged by smoke and heat only, he said.

He estimated damage to the house at $17,000 and to its contents at $10,000. The fire was fought by 12 men using two pumper trucks, the chief reported.

LBJ Questioned On Viet Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A House Republican leader today urged President Johnson "to end the confusion" and tell the American people whether he favors allowing the Communists to be part of any interim South Vietnamese government.

If he does, said Rep. Melvin Laird, of Wis., "all the fighting in South Viet Nam, all the sacrifices, all the bloodshed make no sense, and they should not be further prolonged."

Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference, attacked what he said were the "contradictory statements and double talk from administration spokesmen" on a recent proposal by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Newsletter Issue Brings Heated Words

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Hot words flew today between Marin County Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez and two members of the county board of supervisors as the board considered County Administrator Alan Bruce's recommended ban on paycheck enclosures which had not been approved by his office.

At the request of the Marin County Employees' Assn., the supervisors agreed to postpone a decision until April 6, after the arrival of the association's new manager, Fred Ward.

In the meantime, however, they heard the views of Bruce, Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell and Fontez.

It was a paycheck enclosure announcing hiring of Ward, and saying it was hoped he would be equal to or better than anyone else working with personnel in the county, that caused Bruce to propose enclosures be banned unless he had approved them.

Bruce said he had "no intent to censor" the employees but there had been no policy on such enclosures and there should be one.

Mitchell said he saw no implication that materials such as the newsletter bore an official stamp of approval, and said the newsletter was inserted by association members at no cost to the county.

The air of cordiality in the discussion was abruptly ended by Fontez.

"The rapport between the administrator's office and the employees is terrible," said Fontez.

While he conceded Bruce had not been unfair to county employees, Fontez charged the administrator had "used some very poor judgment in some cases."

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, prefacing his reply with the comment that he was not angry at Fontez or anyone else, said he was "beginning to resent the competition that goes on for the popularity of the employees." He said the board room was "not the proper place to get up and say the administrator is using poor judgment."

Chairman Byron W. Leydecker declared "more damage is done by such statements than by Mr. Bruce carrying out his duties." He insisted payroll enclosures bear an implied stamp of approval by "the policy makers."

When the matter comes up again next month, Leydecker said, he is "not going to listen to a bunch of personal charges."

Fontez again aroused Kettenhofen when he said Bruce should have gone to county employees first so the matter could be worked out "in the family instead of on the line."

Kettenhofen said supervisors have "got to do these things in public" and Bruce had acted properly.

said, is to negotiate peace and let the people of South Viet Nam, through free elections, select their leaders and their way of life.

"We are ready, when that day comes, to join in a massive effort to reconstruction and development open to all — including North Viet Nam," Johnson said.

Stressing anew that this country wants neither territory nor bases in Viet Nam, Johnson said:

"We fight for the principle that the people of South Viet Nam should be able to choose their own course, free from the coercions of violence, terror and fear.

Johnson said Peace Corps volunteers would be sent to Viet Nam as they already have been sent to 46 countries, once there is peace.

Assembled in the White House East Room for the ceremony were ambassadors from countries where the Peace Corps is serving, returned Peace Corps volunteers, and many high-ranking government officials.

BROWN

nation for lieutenant governor. He said that Braden's present job was part-time. It is also unsalaried.

Brown also took aim at the report of the state's Constitution Revision Commission, presented to the legislature late last month.

"I think they've yielded to political expedience," he said.

The Assembly wants the governor to bring the report before the current legislative session, but the Senate wants him to hold off until next year.

Brown said he will not put the matter on the session's agenda unless he has agreement by both sides. But he said he might place it before a special legislative session in November.

Brown particularly objected to sections of the report he said makes it impossible for the state to use private industry to do some jobs.

He also said the provisions permitting legislators to set "political footballs."

The commission's report must first be presented to the legislature and then the voters.

Brown praised the commission for proposing the removal of much obsolete language, but said the commission "should do more than clean up the language."

On other matters, the governor:

1. Said he will announce a decision this week on whether to accept the Senate's plan for avoiding a tax increase.

2. Said he will disclose this week his new appointee to the State Highway Commission.

3. Defended his code of ethics for state employes against an attack from Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy. Monagan said Brown violated it by soliciting campaign contributions from his appointees.

Brown replied he hadn't solicited contributions, but accepted them. He said "That's just part of the political mud he's been slinging."

"this doesn't mean this matter is over."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., subsequently announced he would call up his own amendment to the money bill today that asks Congress to terminate the authority it granted Johnson in the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution. The resolution authorized the President to take whatever steps he felt necessary to repel aggression in Southeast Asia.

Morse had delayed the call-up of his resolution in hope that Fulbright's group would agree on a policy amendment in which he could join.

OBITUARIES

Raymond P. Forster Sr. Dies At 61

Raymond Paul Forster Sr., former partner in the San Francisco plumbing firm of W. J. Forster and Sons, died yesterday at his Fairfax home after a long illness. He was 61 years old.

Forster was a native of Oakland. He sold his interest in the San Francisco firm five years ago and moved to Marin County, making his home at 188 Bothin Road in Fairfax. He worked as a plumber for other San Francisco firms until he retired a year ago.

He was a member of Plumbers and Pipefitters Union Local 38.

His wife, Gertrude M. Forster, was named in 1964 chairman of the Decorations Guild of the Marin Art and Garden Center.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, Raymond Paul Forster Jr. of Woodacre, Jack William Forster of Corte Madera, and Thomas Lee Forster of Orland; a brother, Harold Forster of Albany, and seven grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Redwoods Presbyterian Church, Larkspur. Inurnment will be private. The family has requested that tributes be to the Marin County Cancer Society or the memorial fund of Redwoods Presbyterian Church.

GEORGE STOCKING

Funeral for George W. Stocking, a former Marin County resident, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow in Colusa.

Burial will be in Stonyford Cemetery, Stonyford, Colusa County.

Stocking, 72, a resident of Stonyford, died Saturday at a Colusa hospital following a heart attack.

While living in Marin, he was in charge of bus transportation at Tamalpais High School, after the trains were taken out of service. He moved from Mill Valley in 1946 to the Sacramento Valley, where he became a rancher. He continued in this work up to his death.

Stocking is survived by his wife, Jessie, of Stonyford; a son, Bert Stocking, of Mill Valley; three daughters, Mrs. Grace White of Carmichael, Sacramento County; Mrs. Evelyn Gentner of Lodi, and Mrs. Marjorie Pendell of Sacramento. Also surviving him are two brothers, Eugene and Howard Stocking, and a sister, Anna Stocking, all of Sacramento, and nine grandchildren.

Wives of fishermen fed cod liver oil to children long before it was prescribed by doctors.

LILLIE LYSER

Lillie DeWolf Lyser, 88, died yesterday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Anderson, 516 Manzanita Avenue, Corte Madera, following a short illness.

Mrs. Lyser and her husband, Fred C. Lyser celebrated their diamond wedding three years ago. They lived at 21 Buena Vista Avenue, Corte Madera, before moving to the home of their daughter.

A native of San Francisco, Mrs. Lyser went to Honolulu in 1902 to be married and stayed there until 1946 when the couple moved to Marin County. Her husband is a retired executive of an import company in Honolulu.

Mrs. Lyser's father, William Morrison DeWolf, was founder of the DeWolf Realty Co. in San Francisco and helped develop much of the Richmond district.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Alice White of San Francisco; three grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Private funeral will be held at the Chapel of the Hills tomorrow. The family prefers memorial gifts to favorite charities.

KURT A. CHRISTENSEN

Funeral for Kurt A. Christensen, San Rafael accountant who died Sunday at a local hospital, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

Christensen, 53, of 277 Union Street, was a native of Copenhagen, Denmark. He had lived in Marin County four years. He was a member of Lodge 49, Danish Brotherhood of San Francisco, and of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

He is survived by his wife, Vera Christensen of San Rafael; a daughter, Margit Christensen of Copenhagen, Denmark; his father, Eliner Christensen of Denmark, and two sisters, Rita Christensen of Copenhagen, Denmark, and Mrs. Amy Koed of Aarhus, Denmark.

CARDS OF THANKS

The recent loss of our beloved wife and mother has brought much sadness and emptiness to our home. Yet Kay's untimely death brought forth an outpouring of compassion from friends and neighbors that has astounded us, and has made our grief much easier to bear. We would like to thank the clergy, the many people who visited Kay, who recited the Rosary, and who attended the Requiem Mass. We will thank you all individually, but it might take a little time. Little Richard Joseph, whom Kay bore two days before her death, is doing very well, and we expect to have him home soon. May God bless each and every one of you.

WHALES TRAVEL CHEAPER

With the help of friends, a group of Port Hueneme (Ventura County) boat enthusiasts today launch the craft which took them two years and $5,000 to build. The boat, a 32.5-foot trimaran named "Cetacean" (after the order of marine mammals including whales) now lacks only a few finishing touches—including more money—before the craft makes a shakedown cruise to San Francisco, its builders say. Marinites Picked To Study Scenic Roads

Two Marin County residents were elected to a five-member watchdog committee yesterday which will deal direct with highway authorities on matters effecting the scenic beauty of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposed route through the redwood country.

Mrs. Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon and architect Lawrence Halprin of Kentfield were appointed to the committee by George L. Collins of Ross, who heads the 50-member 10-county National Redwood Road Committee, at a meeting in San Francisco.

Collins said the purpose of the smaller committee was to let highway authorities know "we are in the picture and stand ready to assist in the improvement of scenic routes within the scope of their operations."

Mrs. Azevedo is a representative of Marin County, and Halprin, a landscape architect in San Francisco, represents San Francisco County.

The new committee came as a result of Halprin's suggesting the State Division of Highways be asked to halt all construction on Highway 1 from Bodega Bay to Mendocino until the full committee had planned scenic routes.

Said Halprin, "Unless this group does something right away, 50 or 60 miles of the most beautiful coastline in the world will be destroyed."

His proposal was rejected in favor of a compromise resolution asking the Division of Highways to confer with the committee on further work along scenic routes.

This was the third meeting of the new committee, formed last October by Governor Brown.

Britain Facing Dollars System

LONDON (UPI) —Britain will switch from the pound sterling to the decimal system if the Labor government is returned to power in the March 31 general election, Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan said today.

He said the proposed change would be made in February 1971.

The pound (presently worth about $2.80) would be retained as a major unit but divided into 100 smaller units.

Few Husbands Serve Breakfast To Wives

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (UPI) — How many husbands serve their wives breakfast in bed and when do they do it?

Only about one husband in four ever does his wife that honor, according to a survey of 200 housewives by the DeDomenico Kitchens of the Golden Grain Macaroni Co. Those who did listed these occasions most often: The arrival of a baby, Mother's Day, anniversaries, birthdays and "when the mood hits him."

People Get Larger; So Do Bathtubs

NEW YORK (UPI) —Medica authorities confirm the impres sion that Americans are talle and heavier today than eve before. To accommodate the growth, the Tile Council o America says, bathtubs are be ing made larger.

The trade association of the nation's ceramic tile manufac turers reports the standard-siz bathtub is now five and a hal to six feet long instead of the former four to five feet long And, the Tile Council adds, it's 16 inches wide, two inches wider than the previous stan dard.

Congress Not Likely To Act On Redwoods Bill This Year

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Johnson's urgent plea to Congress for creation of a redwood national park in California will go unheeded this year.

Legislation to save more of the majestic trees now threatened by logging operations will not even reach the House floor for a vote, it was learned today.

The House Interior Committee, headed by Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., will not act on the measure and hearings, if any, will be only exploratory in nature.

Rep. B.F. Sisk, D-Calif., a key member of the House Rules Committee, said he did not expect redwoods legislation to reach that committee to be cleared for floor debate.

"From everything that I can learn," he said, "there is very little likelihood that the House Interior Committee will find an opportunity to take a look at it."

Rep. Ralph J. Rivers, D-Alaska, chairman of the national parks subcommittee, confirmed that the Interior Committee would not act on the measure but told UPI there was "just a chance" that hearings might be held.

"I don't like to sound pessimistic," Rivers said, "but there is no chance of getting it out this year."

He said is subcommittee might hold a brief hearing on legislation to establish the park late in the current session of Congress. But any action, he said, would have to await next year.

One committee source, who declined to be identified, put it more bluntly. The legislation, he said, did "not stand a Chinaman's chance this year."

Sisk said he was not introducing either of two redwood national ark bills now pending in Congress because no action would be taken on either one in any event.

Last week President Johnson sent Congress a conservation message in which he urged the lawmakers to "move swiftly" on legislation to create the new national park bills now pending the huge trees are cut down.

This week Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall told a news conference that too long an argument over the park would mean that "the chain saws will win and there will be no park..."

"If we don't get the park this year or next," he said, "it's probably too late."

The proposed park has widespread support in both the House and Senate. But there is deep division over how large it should be.

Johnson's draft bill, worked out with California officials, would provide for a 43,392-acre park with land acquisition estimated at nearly $57 million. But Rep. Jeffery Cohelan, D-Calif., and Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., are spearheading a drive for a park more than twice that size and costing about three times as much.

Pill Aftermath Troubles Seen

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Three San Jose doctors reported Monday they have observed several cases of women becoming infertile after stopping the use of oral contraceptives.

They said 24 women patients suffered unwanted results after halting the use of the pills, including irregular menstural cycles, a halt of such cycles or infertility.

The doctors, M. James Whitelaw, V.F. Nola and C.F. Kalman, made their report in the journal of the American Medical Assn. They are with the departments of obstetrics and gynecology and pathology at O'Connor Hospital in San Jose.

Assessor's Aide Takes New Job

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Robert E. Burns, confidential secretary to San Francisco Assessor Russell L. Wolden, resigned his $965 a month job Monday to work for a financial planning firm.

Burns said he had been "considering another offer for some time."

Wolden is on trial on bribery conspiracy charges.

State Courtroom Caseload Soars

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A record 10,400,331 cases were filed in California courts in 1965. Of these 8,724,842 dealing with traffic citations.

The Administrative Office of the Courts said that was nearly a half million more filings than in 1964.

Justice and municipal courts received 96 per cent of the cases, superior courts 3 per cent and higher courts the rest.

In superior court there were 100,000 cases involving divorce, annulments or separate maintenance.

If the first part of your car registration number is here, you might be a winner.

Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner. Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster—the symbols plus the rest of the numbers—$2332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past few weeks. And every week there are 72 new winners posted on the showroom wall. So watch for next weeks list of new symbols in this newspaper.) No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number. While you're in the showroom, get a good look at the Buick Special. The $2332.00* happens to be its price. *Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Special V-6, 2-dr. coupe. Price includes Federal Excise Tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge.

Contest Rules. Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. L. Polk and Co., P.O. Box 1347, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

East Germany Seeks U.N. Membership

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist East Germany applied today for membership in the United Nations.

The request was relayed to Secretary-General U Thant by Polish Ambassador Bohdan Lewandowski.

The Polish ambassador transmitted the application by East German President Walter Ulbricht.

A spokesman for Thant said the secretary-general will transmit the request to Ambassador Muhammad H. el-Farra of Jordan, president of the U. N. Security Council for March.

The Security Council must approve requests for U.N. membership then forward a recommendation to the U.N. General Assembly for ratification. The Assembly is not scheduled to meet until next fall.

West Germany is not a U.N. member, but maintains an observer mission at U.N. headquarters. Easy Germany has no observer mission.

Sheriff's Aides Probe Woman's Beating Case

Sheriff's officers today were investigating a report by an injured 51-year-old Novato woman that she was accosted and beaten by a stranger.

Mrs. Edith Wallace, 677 Cherry Street, was admitted at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital for treatment of a head laceration and shoulder injury.

Sheriff's Inspector A. V. Menjou, who talked to her at the hospital yesterday, said she reported that she and her husband, Oliver, had been playing cards at the home of Mrs. Constance Corr, 172 Beattie Avenue, Novato, last Saturday. They left about 11:30 p.m., according to the report, and a few minutes later Mrs. Wallace returned with the injuries, telling Mrs. Corr that "a convict has accosted me and my husband is gone."

The husband was located soon after at home in bed, deputies said. He told them he knew nothing of the injuries.

Why Toil When Pension Better?

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —Erlanger Hospital Administrator Harold Peterson says he lost an employee in the housekeeping department.

He said the hospital paid the woman $105 per month, then raised her salary to $120 in an effort to keep her.

"But she left us for $125 a month welfare," Peterson said.

Devised: A Guide To Right Tests

NEW YORK (AP) — There are so many tests and questionnaires to measure human behavior that a Columbia University professor is preparing a guide to help people find the right one.

Dr. Matthew B. Miles, psychology professor in the university's teachers college, said his manual will be a comprehensive guide to some 300 tests used by teachers, psychologists, guidance counselors, personnel managers, social workers and sociologists.

When his manual is published, a psychologist who wanted to measure the level of an individual's "Machiavellianism" (the will to exploit another) could look up the term and find what tests are available and which best suit his purpose.

Execution Date Ordered For Slaying

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Convicted murderer Leaman Russell Smith, 34, was ordered today to be executed May 4 for the slaying of two Los Angeles policemen.

Smith was convicted of murder July 1, 1964 for fatally shooting officers Charles P. Monaghan and Robert Endler, both 37. Witnesses testified the two officers were attempting to question Smith in a store when he shot them.

Two other persons, a police detective and a store employe, were wounded in the gunfight.

The death penalty was imposed by Superior Court Judge John G. Barnes.

The convictions of two others were reversed by the State Supreme Court and they will begin new trials next week.

Smith's conviction was upheld by the high court, following his appeal.

San Anselmo Seeking Way To Buy Legion Log Cabin

The San Anselmo Parks and 134-3—ASIAN FLU—pg 9 —.— Recreation Commission last night asked Andrew J. Snyder Jr., city parks and recreation director, to investigate the possibility of purchasing the American Legion Log Cabin behind Memorial Park.

Snyder said the cabin is large enough to use as a recreation center to serve memorial park, though too small to serve as a center for the entire community.

The commission also endorsed the Marin County parks bond issue suggested by Supervisor Peter H. Behr and asked that the San Anselmo City Council add its endorsement to the issue. Snyder reported the bonds, if passed, would provide about $226,000 for San Anselmo.

Commissioners also recommended that Robert Alvarado of San Anselmo and the San Anselmo Homes Assn. receive National Recreation and Park Assn. citations, Alvarado for his work with Little League and the homes association for its contribution to city landscaping.

The commission also recommended underground utility service to memorial park along Sonoma Avenue.

Blackie Memorial Response 'Fabulous'

There'll be a band on hand for the unveiling of the Blackie memorial statue (if and when).

William L. Howell, president of the Tiburon Chamber of Commerce, said today response "has been fabulous" to a chamber invitation for donations to put up a statue to Blackie, the swaybacked horse that was probably Tiburon's best-known "citizen." The 40-year-old equine died Saturday in the pasture he had grazed for many years.

Not only is the money coming in, said Howell, but the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District Non-Marching Band has promised to arrive, 40 strong, to play at the unveiling when the statue is placed in the pasture (or wherever it is placed).

Meanwhile, a Tamalpais Valley resident proposed that the statue be a tiki.

John R. Minton of 411 Wellesley Avenue suggested that Barney West, the Sausalito tiki carver, transform a chunk of redwood into a likeness of the swaybacked horse. He said West has a big enough chunk on hand.

There may turn out to be rival funds for honoring the onetime cavalry mount. Minton said Charles Tijerina, president of Tiburon National Bank, has agreed that a "Blackie fund" may be set up at the bank as depository for private contributions toward the tiki. He estimated cost of the carving at between $2,000 and $3,000.

Dirtiest City

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Lima is one of the dirtiest cities in the the world, says St. Leger McCarthy, director of sanitation for Westminister, England. McCarthy, after a 30-day study of the Peruvian capital, recommends cleaning the garbage from the streets and increasing city sanitary services.

Cubans Release Stray Marines

HAVANA (AP) — Two U.S. Marines were taken into custody by a Cuban patrol in Cuban territorial waters off Guantanamo Naval Base in southeastern Cuba Sunday.

The two were turned over to Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelhofer, who handles American affairs here. They were expected to be flown to the United States later.

The Marines were identified as Vaughn David Muller, 19, Erie, Pa., and Richard Anthony Monaco, 18, Milton, N.J.

The Cuban government reportedly will not bring any charges against them but this was not officially confirmed.

Muller and Monaco were quoted as saying their boat had drifted away from the naval base area and they were unaware they were in Cuban waters.

Asian Flu Epidemic Falling Away

The two-week Asian flu epidemic was slinking away from Marin County today, leaving at least five out of 10 people a little weaker but school classroom schedules rapidly resumed normality.

Dixie District schools, hardest hit and closed for three days last week, had absenteeism down to 10 per cent and below. "We are having no trouble getting substitutes for the few teachers we now have off," said Asst. Supt. Joseph Goff.

It was the same story throughout the county. San Rafael High School was reported back to normal, with from five to 10 per cent of the students absent for one reason or another.

County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht said: "The situation is better today than it has been since the run of flu started. It appears to have been only the hardy people who escaped getting it this time."

ca's nearest approach to Venus by Mariner II.

It was believed Venus 2 was planned so it could take preliminary soundings for the arrival of Venus 3 today.

The United States sent an unmanned space craft within 21,954 miles of the cloud-shrouded planet on Dec. 14, 1962. An earlier scheduled American Venus fly-by in August, 1962, failed because of a malfunction of the booster rocket.

Tass indicated that communication between earth and the historic space probe failed at the end:

"Throughout the flight regular communication was maintained with the probe and information was received," Tass said. "During the approach of the probe to the planet the communication period at the final stage did not take place."

The lack of communication in the final stage of Venus 3 may have left unsolved the mystery of the planet's surface which is cloaked in a dense atmosphere which makes it the brightest of the planets — a blue white shimmer in the sky at night.

Venus is considered Earth's twin in mass and size and man has long speculated on whether life could exist there. Most scientists doubt it because it is a "hot" planet with temperatures reaching 800 degrees.

The planet is slightly smaller than the Earth, with a diameter 200 miles less. Because of its orbit about the sun every 19 months it comes nearer to Earth than any other planet. The distance from the Earth ranges up to 160 million miles.

Life Expectancy Rises In Britain

LONDON (AP)—Life expectancy for a British male is now 68.1 years. For a female it is 74.2 years, the registrar-general's latest reports show.

The figures were 67.3 and 72.7 10 years ago for men and women, respectively.

Village Citizens Veto School Cash

PITMAN N.J. (AP) — For the first time since the school system was set up in 1884, residents of this Gloucester County community have voted down a school budget.

By a vote of 606 to 268, the townspeople rejected the $969,000 budget for the 1966-67 school year.

Every previous budget for the past 82 years has been approved. There are about 2,400 pupils enrolled in the town's three elementary schools and one high school. The Board of Education can resubmit the budget within 15 days.

Indian Given Solitary Stint For Walkaway

Patrick Shields, the convict who came in from the cold, will spend the next 10 days in solitary confinement at San Quentin Prison as a result of his four days of freedom in the hills of Marin.

This was the decision today by a disciplinary committee headed by Warden Lawrence E. Wilson that heard Shields explain why he walked off from the prison ranch Thursday and gave himself up Sunday.

Shields, a 34-year-old Indian, had already served 11 years of a 14-year sentence for mayhem and assault with a deadly weapon when he escaped.

Shields has also lost his job outside the walls and will revert back to his old job in the prison's clothing factory when he returns from isolation.

He told the committee, however, that he will try in the future to co-operate with the prison psychiatrists who, said Warden Wilson, had been trying to help him in the past.

"It is a pity you had to walk off before deciding a lot is to be gained by your co-operating," Wilson told the inmate.

"I guess I am my own worst enemy," replied Shields.

A report will be made by the prison authorities to the district attorney's office within the next few days to determine what court action, if any, is taken against Shields for escaping.

Shields was "sentenced" to 10 days in isolation for failing to be present at a head count — a breach of prison rules. Actual escape is a felony.

Writer Given Military Awards

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elton C. Fay, Associated Press military writer who retired today, has been presented the Air Force's highest civilian decoration — the exceptional service award.

Secretary of the Air Force Harold Brown pinned the award on Fay in a Pentagon ceremony Monday.

In a separate ceremony, Vice Adm. Ephraim Holmes gave Fay the Navy's public service citation. A further award for 42-year veteran of the Associated Press will be made by the Army.

'Suede Shoe' Roofers Report Investigated

Sgt. George Barnes of the Tiburon sheriff's substation today was investigating a report that an elderly Tiburon woman was bilked of $330 by "suede shoe" roofers.

Barnes said the recital was given him yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Lucy O'Brien of San Francisco, daughter of Mrs. Sarah F. Glass, 84, of 2265 Paradise Drive, Tiburon. Her account went like this:

On Feb. 18, two men called at Mrs. Glass's house saying they had been sent to repair the roof. They spent about three hours spraying the roof with "silver paint," then informed Mrs. Glass she owed them $180 for the work.

Mrs. Glass told them she had given all her money but $150 to her daughter for an eye operation. They took the money, but told her she still owed them much more because they had put 54 gallons of materials on the roof. They presented a bill listing the kinds and quantities of materials.

Last Friday, they returned, saying Mrs. Glass owed them more money, and presented a new bill. She gave them $180 more. This did not cover the amount, however, so the men took two mantle clocks to make up the difference.

Mrs. Glass thought her daughter had ordered the work done. Mrs. O'Brien said she had known nothing about it until afterward.

Sergeant Barnes said a gang had been working the state bilking elderly women in similar manner for more than a year. "They move around a lot. They're probably working down in Fresno by now," he said.

Congressmen Aid State Demo Slate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All but six members of California's 23-man Democratic congressional delegation went on record yesterday in support of incumbent Democratic state officials seeking re-election.

The pledge of support was released by the office of Rep. Chet Holifield and praised the records of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson, Att. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, Controller Alan Cranston and Treasurer Bert Betts.

Not signing the statement were Reps. Philip Burton, Harlan Hagen, Ronald Brooks Cameron, Charles W. Wilson, Richard Hanna and Lionel Van Deerlin.

Disarm Chief Claims Geneva News Is Good

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Disarmament Chief William C. Foster told Congress today he returned from the latest Geneva arms control talks more encouraged than ever about chances for a treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons.

He gave the report to the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee.

Cranston To Ask Bay Fill Ruling

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State Controller Alan Cranston today said he will seek a temporary injunction to stop Emeryville from going ahead with plans for filling a section of San Francisco Bay.

The Emerville City Council voted 4-1 last night to move ahead ith the project.

Cranston, chairman of the State Lands Commission, said he will join ith the Bay Conservation and Development Commission to obtain an immediate temporary injunction to halt the filling operations.

Starting March 27* your jet coach fare costs you 25% less on United

Discover America with United's new Round-Trip Excursion Fare

In dollars and cents, without tax, it looks like this:

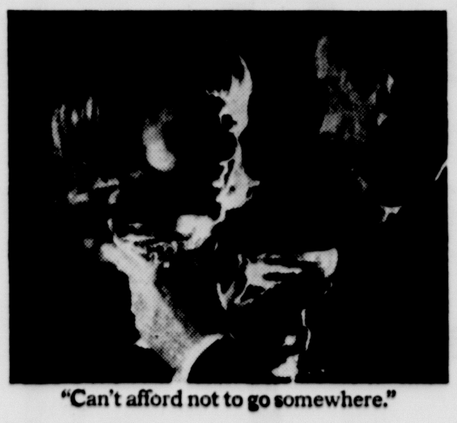
San Francisco to New York . . . was $290.20, now $217.65, you pocket $ 72.55

San Francisco to Chicago . . . . . was $210.90, now $158.25, you pocket $ 52.65

Suppose you take your wife. You save 25% on her fare, too. And, that could be the hotel bill, some extra sightseeing, and a sensational dinner. Maybe even a rent a car.

There are a few conditions, but they're easy to take. Here they are:

1. The fare is not offered from noon Friday to noon Saturday, or from noon Sunday to noon Monday.
2. You may not return during the same calendar week, but must complete the trip within 30 days.
3. In addition to weekend restrictions, the fare does not apply during the heavy traffic days shaded on the 1966 calendar below. But you may return from your destination during the shaded periods in June, July 31, and August.



"Can't afford not to go somewhere."

Remember, this is not "Stand-by" space. Not only can you make reservations, but you enjoy all of the other regular fare service features on United.

For vacation, for take-your-wife-along business trips, for just getting out and discovering America very economically, this has to be the best way.

And since United flies to more of America than anyone else, discovering it in the friendly skies of United makes the best sense of all.

You can fly anywhere we fly in the continental U.S.A. and still save 25% on your round-trip jet coach fare. New fare does not apply to Hawaii where Coach fares are already at a comparable low level.

Pick up the phone and tell us or your Travel Agent you want to take advantage of United's Round-Trip Excursion Fare. It's the friendliest jet fare in town. Call United Air Lines at 388-3774 or your Travel Agent.

Round-Trip Excursion Fare does not apply on days shaded.

SYMBOL OF OUSTER — The headless statue of Ghana's deposed president Kwame Nkrumah, lies on the ground at the central police station in Accra, Ghana, where newsmen saw it for the first time yesterday. Meanwhile, coup leader Lt. Gen. J. A. Ankrah took steps to prevent Nkrumah's return to his homeland from Moscow, the latest stop on his communist nations travels during a self-appointed campaign to bring peace to Viet Nam. Ousted Ghana Boss Visits Kremlin; Return Is Barred MOSCOW (AP) — Kwame Nkrumah, deposed president of Ghana, stopped over in Moscow today for talks with Societ leaders. The military leaders who overthrew him said Nkrumah would be put on trial if he returned home.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was at the airport when Nkrumah arrived last night aboard a special Soviet plane from Peking. They talked for about half an hour, then drove off separately.

Nkrumah was in Peking conferring with Red Chinese leaders when his regime was overthrown last Thursday in a military coup. He left the Communist Chinese captial yesterday vowing to crush the army and police who deposed him.

In Accra, Lt. Gen. J.A. Ankrah, president of the National Liberation Council now governing Ghana, told a news conference that if Nkrumah "dares to come back to this country he will be tried for the crimes he has committed."

Valuable Drapes Gone From Home

Drapes, worth $1,000, were reported yesterday stolen from a vacant house at 106 San Marino Drive, San Rafael.

James Dal Bon, salesman for Redmond and Co., San Rafael real estate firm, said the house had been visited by numerous prospective buyers, and police said there was no sign of forced entry.

The drapes were taken from the living room, family room, master bedroom and a smaller bedroom.

Property Taxing Reform Is Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two Democratic legislators proposed a major reform of California property taxing today, declaring it's time to assure the homeowner of fair tax treatment.

The package introduced by Assemblyman Nicholas Petris of Oakland and John T. Knox of Richmond carries the backing of Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood. Gov. Brown also supports much of the 25-point program.

Knox heads the Assembly Municipal and County Government Committee, and Petris is chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee. Both made investigations of the current scandal that has rocked tax assessors offices statewide.

If businesses that had escaped full assessment in Alameda County were reassessed, they added, it is estimated each homeowner's tax bill there could be cut by at least $3.

"The investigations of our committees have indicated a critical need for general assessment reform," the assemblymen declared. "Unless these major reforms are enacted now, the property taxpayer will have no assurance that he is being equitably or fairly assessed."

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch says taxpayers lost millions through higher property taxes when assessors or their aides lowered assessments on business property and received money for doing so from a tax consultant hired by the business — which in turn paid the consultant a percentage of the reduction.

Petris and Knox said the main "cause of the massive underassessments and escapements have been loose administrative practices and the totally unwarranted secrecy with which all assessors' records are now cloaked."

Main points in their reform package:

A uniform public assessment ratio statewide.

Special appeals boards in all counties for those disagreeing with their property taxes.

Strong penalties for giving false information to assessors.

Student Recites North Viet Nam

STANFORD (AP)—North Viet Nam is being developed into a "kind of jumping board" for other Communist invasions, a defecting student said yesterday.

The speaker was Nguyen Hung, 26, one of four students who fled the North Viet Nam regime while students in Germany.

He and the others spoke at Stanford University as part of a tour sponsored by the South Viet Nam government and the U.S. State Department.

The bombings of North Viet Nam, Hung continued, are "like spanking a child . . . you don't like it, but you know it is necessary."

Town Beautification

Corte Madera park and recreation commissioners and interested citizen groups will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the recreation room of the public safety building to set a schedule for a proposed campaign to clean up and beautify the town. Commissioners will also report on their inspection tour of the town taken Saturday.

Trio Convicted In Kidnap Case

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Tilford Baker and Dean Bromley were convicted of first-degree kidnaping today in the abduction last November of 13-year-old Charles Hyde III of Tacoma.

A Superior Court jury ordered life imprisonment for the two Tacoma men.

A third defendant, James Evans, was found guilty of conspiracy to commit a kidnaping, which carries a maximum sentence of 10 years.

Judge John D. Cochran is expected to sentence the three men next Monday.

Special Training

Airman Kenneth L. Atkins Jr., son of Mrs. Joan M. Atkins of Sausalito, has been selected for training at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., as an aircraft maintenance specialist. He recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Railroad Loses Try At Delaying Tunnel

Northwestern Pacific Railroad yesterday lost an attempt in U.S. District Court to stave off a deadline day after tomorrow for start of work toward restoring the collapsed Puerto Suello tunnel in San Rafael.

The railroad asked the federal court in San Francisco to issue a temporary restraining order against enforcement of the California Public Utilities Commission's order that it reopen the road, with work to start no later than Thursday.

Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli, however, ruled the court would issue no such order. He said the court would not issue an order "the effect of which would be to perpetuate an illegal abandonment."

Northwestern Pacific has been fighting through the courts and the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to abandon the line since a few weeks after the tunnel partially collapsed in a fire on July 20, 1961. It has been turned down in every court and after every hearing.

However, Boris H. Lakusta of San Rafael, attorney for San Rafael and Marin County in their attempts to get the rail line reopened, said the railroad could appeal yesterday's turndown to the U.S. Supreme Court, thus delaying application of the PUC order.

There was no sign of work toward restoring the line today.

Fishing Lines Tangle Thieves

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—Would-be bank burglars got their fishing lines tangled and came up with no catch.

Rawlins police found a plastic sack with four fishing lines rigged on the corners at the night depository of the Rawlins National Bank. Officers theorized the thieves tried to catch money dropped in the night depository in the plastic sack and retrieve it with the fishing lines.

But officers said the depository is so constructed that when the fishing lines were pulled up, the lines were severed.

CANINE CAPSULE REVEALED

Russian news agency Tass yesterday released this picture from Moscow, showing one of the two Soviet space dogs being readied last month for its orbital flight. The Tass caption says merely "boarding the dog into capsule is made through top and back hatches." The two dogs, Veterok (Breeze) and Ugolek (Little Coal Lump) began their second week in orbit through the earth's radiation zones today, in a test about which the Soviets are releasing very little information. Planners Continue Rezoning

The Novato Planning Commission last night continued its program of rezoning to fit existing use of land by recommending three major rezonings to the city council.

These would:

1. Change from general commercial to retail business lots on the north side of Grant Avenue between Highway 101 and Reichert Avenue; south side of Grant Avenue between Machin Avenue and Scott Street; east side of Machin Avenue between Cain Lane and Blodgett Lane; north side of Grant Avenue between Highway 101 and east of Fifth Street; south side of Grant Avenue between First and Second streets, between Fourth and Fifth streets, and the block bounded by First Street, Grant Avenue, Highway 101 and Mirabella.

2. Change from multiple to multiple with Highway frontage regulations lots on the west side of Sixth Street between Vallejo Avenue and 150 feet north of Grant Avenue and on the east side of Sixth Street between Vallejo Avenue and 250 feet north of Grant Avenue.

3. Change from limited agricultural to single-family residential lots in the Hune Subdivision on the north side of Center Road between Novato Gardens and the Keith Subdivision.

The commission recommended restricting the use allowed in commercial districts by requiring special use permits for service stations, used car lots and drive-ins.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

1. Reversed its former decision and recommended multiple dwelling zoning for 39,000 square feet at Olive and Railroad avenues requested by the Olompali Investment Co. The city council had recommended the multiple zone.

2. Approved a three-lot subdivision by Casey Van Gronigen at 1627 Center Road.

3. Approved the tentative map of Vineyard Manor of 22 lots on six acres north of Vineyard Road near Sutro Avenue.

4. Granted a six-month permit to Nick J. Kemmer to assemble small manufactured parts in his home at 841 Wilson Avenue.

All-White Fawn

UDINE, Italy (AP) — An all-white fawn has been captured in the Alps near here. The animal was the first albino deer ever seen here.

Glacier Comes Back To Delight Tourists

GREYMOUTH, N.Z. (AP) — For years the Franz Josef Glacier, on the west coast of New Zealand's South Island, has been retreating. Tourist interests lamented because this glacier is a most spectacular one, dropping steeply from alpine regions to only 600 feet above sea level, where it can easily be visited by tourists.

During the last winter the glacier ended its long retreat up the valley and began pushing forward again at a rate of nearly three feet a day. Latest measurements by geologists show that it has speeded up still further and is rumbling forward at the remarkable pace, for a glacier, of 5½ feet daily, engulfing everything in its path.

Kentfield Students Score High

Kentfield School District trustees were told last night that 75 per cent of the district's fifth and eighth grade students scored better on recent achievement tests than 75 per cent of the nation's students who took the test.

District guidance counselor Jack Williams told the board that testing results were almost the same as last year, with the exception of scores on the mathematics section of the test, where district students showed a "marked improvement." He attributed this to the concentration on teaching of "new math" in the district.

Supt. Howard C. Harmon recommended the district spend $15,000 next year to hire two more "resource" teachers and apply for $4,000 in matching federal funds to purchase maps, globes, and other material for social studies instruction.

Trustee Kenneth Treganowen was absent.

Vandals Hit TV Repeater Unit

Vandalism and a burglary at a television receiver station of Tele-Vue Systems of Marin off Queenstone Drive in Marinwood was reported by sheriff's deputies today.

They said a small building at the station was entered by forcing a vent. Several rocks were thrown against a plate shielding sets with television tubes, officers said.

Corinne F. Gregory, 10 Corte Dorado, Greenbrae, told deputies someone pried the rear door of her home, entered and took a small picture of her daughter, Barbara, 17. Nothing else was believed taken.

Getting In Shape For Alpine Climb

By MOLLY MARIN

Scaling some of the famed Alpine peaks is the dream-about-to-come-true of Richard Bates of Belvedere. Mr. and Mrs. Bates will go to Europe in July, spending three weeks in England and three weeks in Switzerland. Already, Dick, who is a skilled mountaineer, is corresponding with the Swiss Alpine Society, and he has engaged a guide and is getting in condition for the arduous climbs. While in Switzerland, Dick and Tony expect to make Zermatt their headquarters. They hope that their oldest son, Dick, now stationed in Germany with the U.S. Army, will be able to join them for part of the holiday.

A LIVELY WEEKEND is planned beginning Friday afternoon when a contingent of Marinites joins the group boarding a chartered bus for three days at Incline Village at Lake Tahoe's north shore. The party is a kickoff for the new pilot project of the Children's Garden Auxiliary which is seeking to provide a group home for six children from the Youth Guidance Center in San Francisco. In the party, which will include skiing, dinner dancing and a "wild game breakfast," will be Marinites Messrs. and Mesdames Osborne Howes, Roy Roche, Eugene Farny, D. Kirk Davidson, of Kentfield; Clarence Amonette of Ross; William Hendrickson III and Robin Skewes-Cox of San Anselmo; and John Wingate and Wendell Gates of San Rafael. The John P. Burkes of San Francisco will serve as hosts, as Mrs. Burke is chairman. One of the founders, Mrs. Skewes-Cox is chairman of the group homes project. . . .

JULIE KATHARINE PELKAN received her name officially at christening ceremonies at St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon Sunday. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pelkan (Carole Hoefer) of Belvedere was born Dec. 13. She has a sister, Jennifer, 4. Officiating at the baptism was the Rev. Harold Ring, S.J., who is a cousin of the baby's grandmother, Mrs. Karl F. Pelkan of San Jose. Dr. and Mrs. Pelkan, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefer of Belvedere are the grandparents. The little girl also has four great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefer of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Foster of Santa Rosa, who were all present at the church rite, and attended a reception afterwards at the Pelkan residence in Belvedere. Mrs. John Wilson of San Francisco is Julie's godmother, and Richard Morris of San Francisco is her godfather.

WEST END VILLA in San Rafael was the scene of a family gathering Saturday evening for a birthday party honoring a former Marinite, Eli Geller of San Francisco. Among the guests at the surprise affair hosted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Geller of San Rafael, were his two brothers and their wives, the Howard Gellers of Portland, Ore. and Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Geller of Manhattan Beach, who flew here for the occasion. Coming from San Francisco were Messrs. and Mesdames David Woltenberg, Alfred Tragerman, Al Small, Max Polansky, and Mrs. Paul Joslyn. Marin Catholic Club Plans St. Patrick's Day Luncheon

"Sweet Molly Malone" will be the theme of Marin Catholic Women's Club annual St. Patrick's Day fashion show and luncheon to be held March 17 at Peacock Gap Country Club. Cocktails will be served at 11:30 a.m. followed by luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Guests will be greeted at the entrance by Molly and her flower cart containing blossoms and the cockles and mussels of the song, as well. The decorations are under the direction of Mrs. William Schilling.

Chairman for the luncheon and show is Mrs. William Vaughn. Co-chairman is Mrs. William Nolan. Reservations chairman is Mrs. James Arbios of Mill Valley. Also working on the committee are Mesdames George Silveira, John Maxson, Robert Vogel, Robert Leahy, Albert Couderc, Leo Stemple, Harold Skaggs, Robert Nadolski, John Seisedt, Alvin Payne and Eugene Lombardi.

Grandmother In Peace Corps Lunch Topic For Triple C

"A Grandmother Joins the Peace Corps" will be the title of the program for tomorrow's 12:15 p.m. luncheon meeting of the Mill Valley Community Church Club in the parish hall.

Speaking on her experiences with the Peace Corps will be Mrs. Anne Peabody of Palo Alto, who is a past president of the Women's Fellowship of the United Church of Christ, Northern California Conference.

Born in Iran, where her father, mother and grandfather had been missionaries, Mrs. Peabody was the wife of a minister. When he died, she wanted to become a missionary, but was told by the missionary board of her church that she was too old.

She then took examinations for the Peace Corps, was accepted, and went through the same rigorous training given young people who go overseas under the program.

Sent to Bolivia, she spent her first year helping doctors with public health work and the second year she worked at the Los Negros Leper Colony.

Luncheon chairman is Mrs. John Norall.

Nursery School Schedules Talk

"The Myth Of The Overprivileged Child" is the program topic for the March 9 annual public meeting of the Tamalpais Nursery School. It will be held in the school at Camino Alto and Sycamore, Mill Valley.

Board chairman Mrs. John Hopkins will conduct a short business meeting for the election of trustees of the nonprofit charitable corporation.

Coffee will be served at 7:30 p.m. before the 8 p.m. meeting.

The Tamalpais Nursery School, which operates two programs in early childhood education focused on child development, is celebrating its 10th anniversary.

Marin Girls Among Winners For Youth Power Conference

Mary Helene Davidson of Novato and Nora Angress of Marshall were top winners in the seventh annual "Food Comes First for Youth Power" conference held at Asilomar Feb. 18 to 20. Mary Helene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Davidson of Novato, and a student at San Domenico in San Anselmo, won a $100 and a plaque for her project "Setting Up a Campaign Procedure for Correcting Nutritional Problems in School." Nora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Angress of Marshall and a student at Tomales High School won $25 and a plaque for her project" History of Dairy Foods in California."

The "Food Comes First" conference is sponsored by all segments of agriculture and allied industries in California, from growers to retailers. The program is designed to encourage teen-agers to learn the importance of food in good health, the place of agriculture in the state's economy and the many food career possibilities.

Students from each high school first prepare a project which illustrates food or nutritional facts or describes food careers. Those selected at the local level to represent their high school or county then became delegates to the Asilomar conference where they competed with more than 130 students from 37 different California counties for a chance to represent California at the National Youthpower Congress in Chicago this month. Wayne Anderson of Fresno County and Susan Hepler of Contra Costa were the winners of the trip this year. Mary Helene Davidson is the alternate in case either Wayne or Susan are unable to go.

Mary Helene and Nora, both sophomores, will present their projects before school assemblies, service clubs and other organizations.

Family Life Meet Planned March 12

A family life conference for parents, educators and other leaders of youth is being sponsored by the 14th District Parent-Teacher Assn. and the Marin and Sonoma Superintendents of Schools in cooperation with voluntary and professional organizations, churches and public agencies who feel concern and responsibility for sex education and family relationships in the community.

The conference is to be held March 12 from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in Gymnasium No. 1, San Rafael High School, San Rafael.

DR. EVELYN Millis Duvall, educator and noted expert in the area of human development, author of "Love and the Facts of Life" and its earlier version "The Facts of Life and Love for Teen-agers," a high school text "Family Living," and co-author of "Sense and Nonsense About Sex" and "The Church Looks at Family Life" will give the main address.

Following the main talk by Dr. Duvall, entitled "Climate and Challenge in Family Life Education" will be a panel representing "The Climate As We See It" in which representatives of school, home, church and community agencies will set the climate for Family Life Education as it is seen in his or her own particular field, stressing problems, conditions, possible needs, and goals for the future. In the afternoon many discussion groups will talk over the ideas put forth. The entire group will assemble together for a summary by Dr. Duvall.

Dr. Charles Nagel is chairman of the event. Other committee members are Kaye Hunt, registration; Mrs. William Rudee, hostesses; Mrs. Bert Corona, refreshments; Daniel Pelz, exhibits; the Rev. John Riley, financing; Mrs. Charles J. Robba and Mrs. John Machedo, publicity; Jean Kimmich, evaluations; Martin Hanzlik, correspondence; and Mrs. Cedrick Johnson, Mrs. Frederick Mehrten, Mrs. Eugene Neisingh, Miss Margaret Frings and Dr. Mitchell Soso. The subcommittee on moderators, recorders, observers and resource persons is composed of Dr. Richard Feuerstein, Daniel Pelz, John Boyle, Dr. William Bewley, and Mrs. Rudee.

Reservations may be made with Dr. Charles Nagel, Marin County Schools Office, Civic Center, San Rafael.

Dr. Duvall will also be heard on March 11 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church parish hall, San Rafael. From 9:30 a.m. to noon she will present a talk on "Children and the Family" through primary to sixth grade, and from 7:30 to 10 p.m. parents are urged to bring students in junior and senior high school.

Reception Set Tomorrow For Newcomers

A reception and tea will be held for 120 members of the Novato Newcomers Club who have joined the club during the past year at 1 p.m. tomorrow, at the Officers' Club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Mrs. Paul Steinkamp, membership chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Cyrille Raymond, tea chairman. Also attending will be the newly elected executive board as well as the retiring board of officers.

Women of the Novato area that joined the club in February included Mesdames James Goin, William Wahlstrom, Sarah Cohen, Les Rosenberg, Louis Santini, Esther Loewenberg, Harry Walker, Dallas Pack, Marshall Richardson, H. B. Sheffield, Clyde Wrightsman, Clifford Sturgeon and Leo Wasset.

Adjustable Rods

Closet rods so easy to install that they can be done by a housewife come in lengths from 18 inches to 120 inches. The rods are adjustable.

Romantic Lingerie

For lingerie's romantic look, Hollywood's Vassarette gathers a cloud of chiffon tricot for a peignoir in the palest of apple blossom pinks with accents of pale silver grey lace imported from France. A lace-edged shoulder capelet floats free in back and is shaped to the bodice in front. There's a matching gown.

Methodist Women Will Hear Church World Service Story

Mrs. Caleb Cope will tell "The Church World Service Story" to Church of Mill Valley on March 8 at the church.

Business will be discussed at 11 a.m.; luncheon will be at noon and the program will follow.

Mrs. Cope is the Diocesan representative for world relief for the Episcopal Diocese in Northern California. An authority on world relief and refugee resettlement, she was chairman of the conference on world relief and world affairs held at Grace Cathedral in San Francisco last November.

Now a resident of Mill Valley, Margery Cope and her family lived two years in Geneva, Switzerland.

Mrs. Cope's talk on the history and growth of world service will be illustrated by slides and there will be a display of handmade articles from other countries.

Hostesses will be be Mesdames Mills Calahan, Lyman Booth, Martha Clancy and Herbert Norris. Mrs. Clyde Butterfield will conduct devotions.

Meeting Cancelled

The regular meeting of Tamakwa Sewing Club, scheduled for Thursday, has been cancelled due to the illness of many members.

'Pinafores' Auxiliary Sets Tea For Year's New Officers

Members of the Terra Linda Valley Hospital Auxiliary, the "Pinafores," will be hostesses at a tea, on Monday at 2:30 p.m. in one of the day rooms at the hospital, to welcome officers of their group for the year.

The new officers of the Auxiliary are Mesdames J. Warnock Walsh Jr., president; A. J. Melter, vice president; John Pattalochi, secretary; and Bram Kool, treasurer.

Selected to serve on the board of directors for two year terms are Mesdames L. R. Castellani, V. L. Jovino and William Schoenfeld. They will join Mesdames J. J. Knight, Michael Mitchell and John Rauschkolb, who are beginning their second year of service as directors.

Dr. Rafael Dufficy Jr., Administrator and Charles Bruce, assistant administrator of Terra Linda Valley Hospital will welcome guests. The tea will be followed by a tour of the hospital.

Beauty Travel Kit

Women on the go might look into a travel kit that holds four beauty aids securely in place. Zip it open and find a cleaner, a moisturizer, an astringent and a skin cream. All are bottled in plastic for non-breakability and fitted into a snap-open pouch. There's room to spare for other items.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'He Says Un-Pretty Girls Have To Work Harder And Are Nicer'

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off. Send your teen-age questions to Youth Asked For It, care of the Independent-Journal.

DEAR HELEN:

What do you think about a boy who won't date pretty girls? He says they're all alike if they've got good looks — spoiled, selfish, vain and short on brains. He says the unpretty girls have to work harder so they're nicer to be with, and, besides, they're grateful. I'm very good looking, and, not bragging, I can get almost any boy I want, but they bore me, so I don't keep them long. They don't seem to know how to talk to a girl.

How can I make the one I really want realize that just because I'm pretty I'm not just skin-deep?—BEAUTIFUL SOUL

DEAR B. S.:

Nothing you said in your letter would indicate this boy is wrong — about you, anyway. Think "plain" for a change, and you may see that you're the dull one. A girl who brags she can get any boy she wants but doesn't keep them long should exchange her "I'm Particular" badge for an "I Try Harder" button.

DEAR HELEN:

You said going steady is getting less popular, and it is, at our high school anyway. That's because it's kid stuff. All the little junior high kids go steady. Of course, that only means they walk down the halls together or maybe see each other on Saturday afternoon, but anyway this shows us older kids how silly it looks. The phrase "going steady" is going out. In senior high, we "go around" with someone. That usually means we date only one boy or girl at a time, but there's none of this silly business about a ring, and the big break-up scene — and if you want to mess around with someone else, you aren't Typhoid Mary. Incidentally — "go around" means you go quite steadily with just one, "mess around" means date casually with a lot of fellows but don't have a special boy.

The nicest part about "going around" with a boy is that when you stop going around with him, you still stay friends. — LENORE

DEAR HELEN:

I'm glad to hear others say they don't go for going steady. It's like bobby socks, and making-out at parties: For the very young.—OLDER NOW

DEAR HELEN:

I think going steady is insecure, immature, too demanding, dangerous, no fun, mostly for status and it hems you in, but that's because the right guy doesn't ask me. If the guy I dream about would say "Let's go steady," I'd jump over to the other side of the fence like I was sent for. And so would every other teen I know! — HOPEFUL

DEAR HELEN:

Do you think they should show those terrible "gruey" (gruesome and gory) pictures in driver-education classes? Maybe seeing dead bodies and dismembered arms and stuff scares us into being careful, but it almost makes me sick. It comes just before lunch.—YUK

DEAR YUK:

If a "gruey" film can save one person from a wreck, it's worth a few queasy stomachs. That person might be you.

DEAR HELEN:

My parents won't let me ride a horse because once my mother rode one and it threw her. If you ask me it's just tough oranges that her horse went wild. I'd be riding under supervision and the horse is gentle. Is this fair?—HORSE LOVER

DEAR H. L.:

It isn't fair, but it's understandable. Mothers scare easily where their children are concerned. Maybe a talk with the owner of this gentle horse would help.

THIS COLUMN is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen Help You. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

New Concrete Mix

If your husband has some concrete or masonry repairs on his things-to-do list and he isn't exactly the do-it-yourselfer he thinks he is—you might subtly suggest he use something new this time.

There's a new concrete mix which comes complete with the exact amount of water. The package has a unique pouch-within-a-pouch construction; you don't even have to open the container to mix its contents. The package eliminates the guesswork for hubby and the messwork for you.

INTENT ON THE CARDS

Its first bridge tournament was given yesterday by St. Brigid's Chapter of the Social Service Auxiliary of Marin at St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae, drawing players from both duplicate and rubber bridge. Here, from left, during the heat of play are Mesdames Joseph Strittmatter, Mervyn Mazza, Jessie Rubino, P. A. Bates and Douglas Drury. Social Service of Marin will benefit from the day's proceeds. THE SUBURBAN SCENE selmo, and, of course, the guest of honor's wife were also on hand.

MR. AND MRS. Norton Meyer came home to Sausalito Sunday from a trip to New Zealand with the Sierra Club.

About 100 members from all over the country left by chartered plane on Jan. 29, stopping en route at Honolulu and Fiji and at Honolulu and Tahiti on the return trip. On reaching New Zealand, Mrs. Meyer went with one group that visited more cities than the other, but also went on the famous Milford Track hike lasting three days. I stayed in huts at night. They also took other trips staying in hotels and camping out. In the same group with Mrs. Meyer was Miss Eugenia Grunsky of Mill Valley. Mr. Meyer went with the group that did a lot of hiking in the snow country of the Southern Alps.

MRS. KENT O. Seymour of Mill Valley was honored at a welcome home luncheon given recently at the Century Club in San Francisco by Mrs. Delmar Clinton and Mrs. Rodney B. Hartman. The Seymours recently returned from a trip to the Middle and Far East.

MISS GAIL Frederickson of Tuxedo Park, N.Y., is a house-guest of her great aunt, Mrs. Pauls D. Case of Sausalito. She was just graduated from Alfred University in Alfred, N.H.

OFF TO EUROPE for an unlimited stay are Jeanne Mitchell and Nancy Nelson, students at the College of Marin. They embarked from Los Angeles aboard the SS Maasdam in January and docked at Le Havre on Feb. 9. They plan to work and travel in France, Germany, England, Ireland, and Scotland before returning to the United States.

Jeanne is the daughter of the Henry B. Mitchells and Nancy is the daughter of Chief and Mrs. Frank L. Nelson of Corte Madera.

Nursery School Adds New Staff

Named to the staff of the Belvedere Nursery School for the spring semester are Mrs. Jane Scott of Tiburon and Mrs. Jean Jacobsen of Belvedere. The appointments were announced by Mrs. Beverly Bastian, executive director.

Mrs. Sybil Reynolds, former vice principal, has been granted a two year leave of absence. She will accompany her husband James Reynolds to Montreal, where Mr. Reynolds is employed as an engineer.

Both new teachers have completed teacher-trainee programs in nursery education. Mrs. Scott was educated at Stanford University and the University of California. Mrs. Jacobsen was graduated from the University of California at Los Angeles and took her master's degree in psychology at Syracuse University.

Senior Fashions

"March Winds" is the theme for Redwood High School's fashion show to be presented by the senior girls on March 26 at 1:30 p.m. in the Redwood gym. The show will feature teen fashions and a performance by the Redwood choir.

PORTUGAL IN STEREO

"Bravo Portugal," a color travel film showing many facets of Portuguese life, will be shown for the first time in the Bay Area at 8 p.m. March 8 in Olney Hall at College of Marin, sponsored by the Associated Students of the college and the Explorers Club of San Francisco. Photographers Lisa Chickering and Jeanne Porterfield, who covered 7,000 miles making the two-hour film, will narrate it, aided by stereophonic background music.

CONCERT REVIEW

American Music Shows Top Form

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Dominican College's American Music Festival closed brilliantly last night with a panorama of music in this country from its earliest history to the contemporary period.

It drew a good sized and enthusiastic audience to Angelico Hall.

The program ranged from 17th Century merry music of New England, as sung by our not-so-prim Puritan ancestors, to an 1815 California Mission Mass, to the West Coast premier of California composer Lou Harrison's "Four Strict Songs."

In this festival the college music department and festival chairman Sister Mary Dominic, O.P., have established beyond doubt that America has a wonderfully rich musical heritage. They may well be credited in the future with being among the first educational institutions to recognize the value and promote the study of this long-neglected music.

The singing of the early American music by a 44-voice festival chorus made up of members of the Marin Pro Musica, San Francisco Theological Seminary and Dominican College choirs, directed by Wilbur Russell, was excellent and historically interesting. But the highlight of the evening was the work by Lou Harrison, who was present.

Its most extradordinary feature was its exotic orchestration, using some 25 instruments, mostly strings, of the Oakland Symphony, (ably conducted by Robert Hughes), 22 baritone voices, and a set of water-filled bowls tapped with sticks. Unusual effects were two harps played alternately by the same harpist, and piano strings plucked with the fingers.

The result was truly lovely music that formed an exquisitely expressive accompaniment for the words of these hymns to the beauties of nature. In the second one, tenor Kenneth Small's solo was very good.

Another high point of the concert was soprano Gwen Curatilo's superb singing of American Moravian arias and anthems by Christian I. Latrobe and Johannes Herbst.

Surprisingly effective in its simple harmonic structure was the Misa Viscaina composed by Fray Duran, O.F.M., and originally sung by a chorus of Indians at the Mission San Jose to simple orchestral accompaniment.

The four pieces of 17th Century merry music of New England sung by the Puritans, not only in their churches but in their homes, showed they had a fun-loving side in great contrast to their dour image.

Also a revelation of the unsuspected musical tastes of our ancestors was the group of white spirituals, or songs with sacred words they fitted to popular secular tunes of their day —a far cry from the better known somber hymns.

All of these were well performed by the festival chorus, skillfully trained and directed by Russell.

Gasoline Siphoned

Mrs. Boris Faverman reported to Mill Valley police at 6:40 p.m. yesterday that someone had siphoned gasoline from her car in front of her home at 100 Helens Lane.

No Session

A special meeting of the West Marin School District board, set for last night, was postponed to 8 p.m. today because the district architect was unable to attend. The session will deal with the planned addition to West Marin School.

Orchestra Rehearsal Is Open

The Marin Chamber Orchestra's rehearsal Sunday will be open to Marin County students interested in meeting members of the orchestra and learning about the music to be played at a later concert.

The rehearsal will begin at 2 p.m. in Alexander Hall at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo. The program will include Leonard Bernstein's "Serenade for Solo Violin, Strings, Piano and Percussion," Schoenberg's "Verlarte Nacht" and the "Peasant Cantata" by Bach.

That program will be offered by the orchestra at its first concert of the season at 4 p.m. March 13 at the seminary.

U.C. Chancellor Eyes Punishment

BERKELEY (UPI) — Chancellor Roger Heyns today considered a recommendation that three University of California students — including self-professed Communist Bettina Aptheker—be banned from extra-curricular campus activities.

Miss Aptheker, Harold Jacobs and Mrs. Susan Stein were accused yesterday of participating in a campus rally, sponsored by the Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) which violated university rules.

Law Prof. John Hetland, who conducted a hearing into the alleged rules violations, did not recommend, however, that Miss Apthetker be banned from her current elective post as a member of the university's Student Rules Committee.

Social Studies

San Anselmo School District Board, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the multi-use room at Isabel Cook School, will hear reports on the social studies curriculum in all grades and will review the district's contract with the San Anselmo Park and Recreation Department to provide facilities for the recreation program.

Marin Catholic High Plans Hootenanny

A century of American folk music, ranging from Civil War Negro spirituals to today's modern protest songs, along with rock 'n' roll, Tin Pan Alley tunes and go-go dance routines, is planned for Marin Catholic High School's second annual Hootenanny.

Encouraged by last year's successful event, which brought out a bigger than capacity crowd, the musical hoedown will stage two performances in the school gymnasium at 8 p.m. on March 18 and 19.

The company of 50 performers, including the Marin Catholic High School Glee Club, will start the two-hour Hootenanny with an all-time favorite, "When the Saints Go Marching In."

Singer Mauriene Lee is returning to the show as are College of Marin students Jim Monroe and Steve Mazzio, singers and guitarists. The three will be featured soloists.

New talent who will take the solo spotlight include singer Barbara Burch, formerly of Marin and now of Stockton; singer Joene Denning and banjoist Bill Houston, Marin Catholic students, and a rock 'n' roll combo, the Chosen Few, made up of Lou Soileau, Dan Snead and Rick Teller of Marin Catholic and Mark Meyer of Redwood High School.

Brother Christopher, O. P., who initiated last year's program, is again producing and directing the show. A former Broadway musical comedy star and baritone, Brother Christopher will also appear as a soloist accompanied by fellow faculty member and pianist Rev. Richard Wingell, and Santos Beloy, professional drummer and guitarist from San Francisco.

Also on the production staff are Sister Ann Rose of the Sisters of the Holy Names, set designer, and Sister Rose Genevive (SHN), director of the glee club. Both are high school faculty members.

Movies To Show Mission Work

Rev. Stanley Best, returned missionary from Brazil, will show colored movies of his work at Manaus, Amazons, Brazil, at a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Faith Baptist Church, 844 Sweeter Avenue, Novato.

Reverend Best has written two missionary novels, "The Hidden City of the Amazon," and "Mine is the High Road."

A pot luck dinner at 6:30 p.m. will precede the showing.

Law Campaign Chairman Needed

Joseph Cresalia of San Rafael has been named chairman of the Optimist Club's year-long "Respect for the Law" campaign.

The Optimists are making available to Bay Area schools and other groups a half-hour color film narrated by television comedian Danny Thomas and entitled "Respect for the Law."

Cresalia, a San Francisco jeweler, said copies of the film may be obtained from the San Francisco Police Department.

Student Scholars Are Semi-Finalists

Selection of 14 Novato High School seniors as semi-finalists in competition for California state scholarships was announced today by the California State Scholarship Commission.

Confusion Rampant Over New Health Care Setup

cluded in the state law, passed in November, which set up the program.

At present, these persons now are treated in a hospital as medically indigent. The new law, however, says the patients may choose their own hospitals and their own doctors.

In addition to the benefits just mentioned, persons over 65 will also have the costs of the federal Medicare program taken care of, both the starting "deductible" payment at the beginning of care and the $3 a month for the voluntary medical insurance program, after July 1.

The serious confusion, however, comes for the other people to be included in the state program. They are called by the welfare officials the "categorically linked medically indigent persons."

Such a person might be a widow who is working and has a child. She may not be receiving welfare, because her income is too high, but she and her child both will be covered after one of them has a "spell of hospitalization."

Just how long that spell must be had not been made clear by today, but Acton Barnes, assistant chief of the division of community health services, State Department of Public Health, said yesterday mere admission into a hospital would qualify as a "spell."

After that "spell," the full gamut of care, as for the welfare patients, would be available for 90 days.

Miss Wilson said she was not sure, but thought that meant, for instance, that if the widow's child had to have its appendix removed, his mother would suddenly be allowed to have her teeth fixed and to get new eyeglasses.

She and Barnes agreed there would probably be pressure on doctors to place people in hospitals just to qualify them for unrelated care.

The "linked" person must be like regular welfare recipients in some way except for income or resources; that is, he must be over 65, or blind, or disabled, or in a broken family, or in a complete family with the breadwinner out of work.

But, although the scope of service is large, for most "linked" persons it will not be free. Each person must be certified by the county welfare office, and receive one of those cards which were to be issued as of today but which have not been printed.

Part of the job of certification will be a decision on how much a person is able to pay for medical care each month or each year as a share of the cost.

The financial restrictions were announced for the first time yesterday, and they turned out to be tough. Most persons who have personal assets worth more than $1,500, or couples with $3,000, not counting a home or car, will have to deplete their resources down to that point before they get any aid.

Also, the medical payments which will have to be made privately will have to deplete total income almost to the amount the person would get if he were actually on welfare.

For instance, to take an extreme case, a woman with six children could have no more than $5,628 annual income before she would have to pay part of the cost. Her share would be any amount over that income figure which she could scrape up.

(Tomorrow's article will discuss how the state program will be financed, and its expected effect for Marin property taxpayers.)

Long Hair Results In Band Career

BOLZANO, Italy (AP)—Prof. Tullio Gaspari, vice president of the Bolzano Technical Institute, has been sending home all boy students who show up with their hair too long. They can be re-admitted when they return with a haircut.

Usually it works. But not always. Eighteen-year-old Marco Merzi simply gave up the school and joined a Beatle-type band of long-haired singers.

Man Jailed In Revolver Brandishing

Sheriff's deputies last night arrested a 28-year-old San Rafael man who had allegedly brandished a .22-caliber revolver in downtown Tiburon.

Jerry N. Levaro of 398 Woodland Avenue, a mailman for the San Rafael Post Office, was held in lieu of $550 bail today at county jail on charges of possession of a concealed weapon and displaying a weapon in a threatening manner.

Deputies said that Mrs. Theresa Nelson, an employee of the 39 Main Bar at 39 Main Street, reported at 9:45 p.m. that a man was standing on a railing behind the bar, aiming a revolver at boats docked in the nearby yacht harbor.

Officers found Levaro in another bar, with a revolver in his pockets.

Levaro said he had been threatened by a man named Garcia who was coming by boat to Tiburon "to get him" and that he had to get away, deputies reported.

Anti-Spanking Group Forms

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A group organized to combat corporal punishment in schools has registered with the secretary of state.

Incorporation of the Society for the Prevention of Corporal punishment yesterday was prompted by a recent incident said Belton Mouras, executive director of the California branch of the Humane Society of the United States.

Mouras referred to action by Vice Principal James W. Gill of Campos Verdes Junior High School in paddling some pupils who took part in what Dist. Atty. John Price called "a small scale riot" in the school cafeteria Jan. 12.

Saris, Girls, Please

POONA, India (AP)—Girls in skirts attract the attention of roadside Romeos, the city council said in a resolution adopted recently. It called on high school girls to wear India's traditional sari, a garment which runs from the neck to the ankles, because the sari commands respect.

Court Tosses Out M'Naghten Rule

NEW YORK (AP) — Since Daniel M'Naghten set out more than a hundred years ago to kill the British prime minister—and got the wrong man—courts have held that the test of insanity was the ability to distinguish right from wrong.

But yesterday the 2nd U.S. Court of Appeals threw out the M'Naghten Rule on the grounds that it doesn't go far enough.

The court ruled that a person is not responsible for criminal conduct if — even though he knows an act to be wrong — he cannot control his behavior.

The decision, which applies only to federal courts in the 2nd Circuit of New York, Connecticut and Vermont, implements a 1962 proposal of the American Law Institute.

Among the 26 persons who drafted the proposal was Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, chief medical officer of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore. "I'm overjoyed with it," he said. "The M'Naghten Rule was a bad rule. It was made in 1843 and I think it has outlived its usefulness."

The rule had a "fatal defect" that placed "tight shackles" upon expert psychiatric testimony, said one of the judges, Irving R. Kaufman.

He said the result "is that instead of being treated at appropriate mental institutions for a sufficiently long period to bring about a cure or sufficient improvement so that the accused may return with relative safety to himself and the community, he is ordinarily sentenced to a prison term as if criminally responsible and then released as a potential recidivist with a society at his mercy."

From his summer home in Allentown, Pa., Dr. Frederic Wertham, a New York psychiatrist, said:

"The scrapping of the M'Naghten Rule is a great mistake. It's against the interests of the public, it endangers the lives of the people, and it's absolutely no improvement."

The court's decision overturned the conviction of Charles Freeman, who had been sentenced to five years for a narcotics violation.

District Judge Charles H. Tenney had found Freeman competent to stand trial under the M'Naghten Rule, but the Appeals Court said he should apply the new finding at a trial.

M'Naghten, suffering delusions of persecution, tried to kill British Prime Minister Robert Pell in London. But Pell rode in Queen Victoria's carriage because of her absence and his secretary, Drummond, rode in Pell's vehicle. M'Naghten shot and killed Dummond by mistake.

After a lengthy trial he was acquitted in 1843 by reason of insanity. The rule has been a part of English common law since then.

Prof. John M. Junker of the University of Washington Law School at Seattle, who has done extensive research on the rule, said of the decision:

"It's a good decision, I would think. The M'Naghten Rule focuses only on a person's ability to understand the difference between right and wrong. It leaves out of account the person who knows what he is doing is wrong, but is unable to conform his actions to his intellectual understanding. A person could understand, but be unable to control his actions."

Wording Error Corrected For School Ballots

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly Education Committee again has approved legislation to reduce the majority vote needed for passing local school bond issues on primary or general election ballots from two-thirds to 60 per cent.

Assemblyman Charles B. Garrius, D-Reedley, sponsor of the bill and constitutional amendment, said Monday that when last year's legislature approved the same measures they were improperly drafted.

He told the committee that the original legislation said that 60 per cent of the residents of a school district who cast ballots must approve the bond issue. Garrigus explained it should have said that approval is required by only 60 per cent of those who vote on the bond issue.

Federal Adult Education Coin Back To State

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Max Rafferty reports federal officials have restored a 50 per cent cut in California's $1.6 million adult basic education program for this fiscal year.

The state superintendent of public instruction said Monday that the state would receive approximately $802,550 that had been deducted from California's program to teach illiterate adults how to read and write.

Federal officials had said the money, authorized under the Johnson administration's war on poverty program, was needed for other commitments. Rafferty said the cut would have shut down two-thirds of the classes.

Largest Orchid

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Botanist Francisco Ruiz Alarco says he has grown the largest orchid in the world, measuring more than 60 centimeters (27.2 inches). Ruiz says the scientific name for the flower is phragmopedilum caudatum.

Bizarre Racist Poison Plot Uncovered In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A mild-mannered welder was accused by police today of plotting the wholesale poisoning of Negroes in all parts of the United States.

District attorney's agents said Herman Lee Henry, 41, planned to send free food samples to virtually every Negro in the country. The samples at first would be wholesome, to gain the recipients' confidence, then later would contain poison, the agents said.

Henry, of suburban Sun Valley, allegedly told investigators he hoped to finance the scheme with proceeds from an invention which he did not describe.

He is held on a charge of soliciting for the purpose of murder. Agents who posed as members of a white supremacy group said he asked them to join in the plot.

They said Henry planned to obtain names by setting up food sample booths in supermarkets

FRIED CHICKEN JOLLY
2 Jolly fryers, cut-up
1 cup buttermilk
1 cup flour
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
Vegetable shortening
Use the breasts, wings, thighs and drumsticks of Jolly fryers. (Save back, neck and giblets to make soup for another meal). Pour buttermilk into pie plates; combine flour, salt and pepper in second pie plate. Dip chicken, 1 piece at a time in buttermilk, then flour mixture. Heat enough shortening in large frying pan so that it is ½ inch deep. Place chicken, skin side down in hot fat and brown; turn and brown other side. Drain on absorbent paper. Chicken can be browned early in day and held for last-minute oven cooking. Arrange browned chicken in single layer on greased wire rack in shallow baking pan. Bake, uncovered in 350° oven 20 to 30 minutes or until tender when pierced with fork. Pile into napkin lined basket or tray and serve hot.

EGGPLANT FRITTERS
Peel and cook a small eggplant until tender. Drain mash and season with salt and pepper. Add 1 egg, 2 tsp. baking powder and just enough flour to hold together. Fork into round cakes, dredge with flour and fry. Delicate flavor—delicious!

Leydecker Obtains Delay On Filling Park Vacancy

Marin County Supervisors today reappointed Mrs. Elizabeth B. Davies of Novato to the county park and recreation commission, but delayed action on an appointment for the seat now held by Mrs. Adele J. Alpers of San Rafael.

The delay until next week was asked by Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker of the First Supervisorial District. He said he would be prepared to appoint someone next week. He would not say whether it would be Mrs. Alpers.

Terms of both Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Alpers expired Feb. 3.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss moved for Mrs. Davies reappointment, but he said he had not yet asked if she wanted to serve another term.

"Let's say I'm going to draft her," Gnoss said.

Mrs. Davies resigned from the commission temporarily after the board delayed action on approval of Stafford Lake regional park near Novato.

Inspector Hired

Marin County supervisors today hired Sidney Feller of Oakland at $1,200 a month as inspector for the hall of justice project to begin next Monday.

Unification Proposal Revision On Agenda

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Civic Center to discuss a proposed change in the voting conditions in two unification plans.

The State Board of Education has been asked to approve unification of the Drake High School attendance are with Tomales High School District and unification of the Redwood and Tamalpais attendance areas. Voters in Redwood and Tamalpais could vote only on the plan affecting their area. The proposed change would allow them to vote on both the Redwood-Tamalpais plan and the Drake-Tomales plan.

Sausalito Trustees Let Teacher Seek Office

Sausalito School District trustees last night recognized "the tees last night recognized "the Richardson Bay School science teacher, to run for state assemblyman.

Trustees noted that through this process Pockrus is able to show his pupils the actual function of the democratic elective process where a citizen can participate in politics, reported board president David E. Freedheim.

Pockrus, who lives at Rohnert Park, plans to run for the Democratic nomination against Robert E. Mertle of San Rafael. The winner will contest for the office against Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, in November.

Trustees decided to conduct a series of reviews of the district's educational programs, to start near the end of this month.

Sausalito School District trustees also:

1. Commended Mrs. Wanda Jones, speech therapist, on the district's speech therapy program, initiated this school year.

2. Heard that a new program has been set up for loading buses after school at Central School, following a report of disciplinary problems.

3. Voted to make June 17, the last day of school, a teachers' work day and a holiday for pupils.

4. Accepted resignation of Mrs. Ruth Keizer, long-time Central School secretary.

5. Announced a special meeting at 8 p.m. Monday, in Richardson Bay School library to discuss the district's agreement with Mill Valley School district for accepting Mill Valley pupils in Sausalito schools.

Mother Seeking Help In Dog-Bite Problem

The mother of 6-year-old Elouise Pearce said today she was anxious to locate the owner of a black-and-white long-haired dog that bit the little girl in the 500 block of Jewell Street, San Rafael, on her way home from school about 10:40 a.m. last Thursday.

Mrs. Wameva Pearce of 218 Union Street, San Rafael, said the bite was not serious but she wished to learn whether the dog had its rabies shots.

Supervisors Protest Airport Policy Shift

Marin County supervisors today protested a proposed change in federal policy on airport funds that could hamper the improvement of the County Airport at Novato.

The Federal Aviation Agency is reportedly considering a change of emphasis from small airports to major fields in its support program. The county has applied for 54 per cent federal aid for the airport project.

New Charges Face Suspect In Dope Case

A 19-year-old Mill Valley youth, already facing a felony charge of marijuana possession, was arrested yesterday afternoon by sheriff's officers on a new complaint accusing him of five burglaries and one attempted robbery.

John Organ Lem, of 12 Eagle Rock Road, was held in county jail today in lieu of $5,500 bail. Newest charges are burglaries of Greenbrae Pet Hospital on Redwood Highway last July 12 and July 22; Tamalpais Pet Hospital, on Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, last July 16; Schooner Restaurant on Gate 5 Road, Sausalito, last Aug. 20; and Zack's Restaurant in Sausalito, last Sept. 7.

He also is charged with an attempted robbery Sept. 7 at Greenbrae Lanes, 101 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

On Feb. 8 he was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of possession of marijuana. He was accused of burglary of the home of David W. Hunter, 532 Sausalito Boulevard, Sausalito, on Jan. 17, but the complaint was later dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Seeks Sisk's Post

FRESNO (AP) — Cecil F. White of Fresno, a former Democratic San Joaquin Valley congressman, said today he will seek the seat now held by Rep. B. F. Sisk, D-Fresno. White said he will run as a Republican.

Council Wants Cove Name To Stay Same

The Tiburon City Council last night, in a quick-change performance, shed the hats of city planners and donned those historians to recommend by 3-2 vote that Hospital Cove on Angel Island retain its name.

The state department of fish and game had written to the county board of supervisors asking its attitude on changing the name to Ayala Cove, after Spanish explorer Don Juan de Ayala, discoverer of San Francisco Bay.

Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood convinced the board of supervisors to turn the matter over to the Tiburon City Council, under whose jurisdiction most of the island lies. So the question landed in the council's lap last night.

The change was opposed in letters from several residents, including Richard M. Sims, judge of the district court of appeals in San Francisco and a former Marin County Superior Court judge.

Sims maintained that the name "Hospital Cove" was derived from the island's American period of history and was therefore more important than the Spanish name.

Armed with a one-volume history of San Francisco Bay, Councilman Ellinwood described Ayala's discovery of the Bay, his 49 days of exploration around it, and his eventual landing in "Hospital Cove."

"To think that this great explorer actually dropped anchor in our city!" she exclaimed, asserting that discovery of the island and the bay should be considered most important. But, she said, "my grandfather was the very person who located the hospital on the island, giving the cove its name."

"I've sailed in and out of Hospital Cove many times and I'm also in favor of changing the name," said Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge, claiming that the Spanish name would be "much more picturesque."

City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose suggested that Ayala deserved some credit, but that another part of the island could be named after him while the cove's original name be maintained.

In the only split vote of the meeting, the council decided to ask that the name should be maintained, with Strawbridge and Ellinwood dissenting.

The final decision will be made, according to Rose, by a federal board on geographic names.

The Tiburon City Council Also:

1. Approved a resolution giving support to a Tiburon Chamber of Commerce drive to raise funds to build a monument to Blackie, the sway-backed horse.
2. Approved a landscaping plan for Tiburon Boulevard at the entrance to the Reedlands. Cost of the project is estimated at $20,000, with $15,000 to be paid by the state and the remainder by the city and the Reedlands Property Owners Assn.
3. Gave approval to the final map for the Hilary Heights subdivision. The map calls for the interruption of Hilary Heights Drive, a question much debated in September.
4. Approved split into two lots of a 23,000-square foot parcel at 644 Tiburon Boulevard, owned by Mrs. Lee De Berry.
5. Authorized the city manager to proceed with a study of the cost and effect of widening Tiburon Boulevard from Main Street to Mar West. The project would add 200 downtown parking spaces and improve drainage there, according to Rose.

Thief Is Polite

WOKINGHAM, England (AP) — Joseph Darroch, an accountant, saw a bedroom light on when he returned home from work. He suspected a burglar was in his house. A passerby offered to guard his back door while Darroch watched the front door and Mrs. Darroch went to phone the police. The passerby was a burglar. He made off with eight pounds ($22.40).

Automobile Stolen

Roger S. Miller of 128 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, told police yesterday his 1963 aqua colored Chevrolet Impala was stolen from its parking stall in the city parking lot at Second and Lindaro streets in San Rafael between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Douglas Job Decision Put Off Again

Marin County supervisors today again put off deciding the fate of John M. Douglas in the position he holds as county economic development director.

Supervisors were only three strong today, with Supervisor Peter H. Behr on vacation and Supervisor Thomas T. Storer still ill with pneumonia.

The board was to act last Thursday on the grand jury recommendation that supervisors reconsider both the position and the hiring of the man to fill it. Discussion was postponed to today at Storer's request, but his doctor ordered him to stay home.

Storer has been in favor of abolishing the position ever since it was revealed that Douglas was a neighbor of Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker. This fact came out the day after supervisors voted to hire Douglas.

Michigan, Huron Lake Water Rising

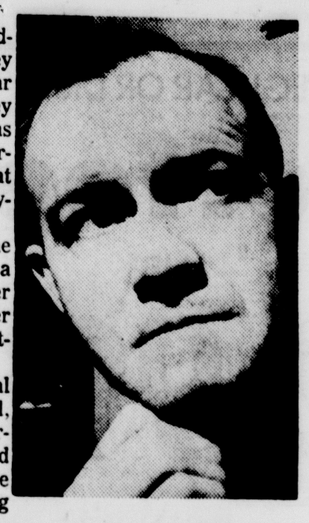
Attack Claims Slayer Motherwell

Larry Lord Motherwell, whose career of make-believe and lies ended with his conviction of the murder of a wealthy Washington, D.C., widow six years ago, died yesterday of a heart attack in San Quentin Prison.

During his life on the outside, 48-year-old Motherwell posed as a missile scientist, a secret agent, a naval officer, a doctor, and a foreign correspondent. But inside San Quentin, he filled out his five years to life term in the role he knew best—that of a carpenter.

He collapsed and died in the workshop where he had earned himself the reputation of a fine worker and excellent cabinet maker, said prison authorities.

Motherwell, born Frank Eugene Carventer, was arrested in 1959 and charged with the slaying of 72-year-old Pearl Putney, shortly after her bones were found on a logging road near the tiny mountain town of Sierraville in Sierra County. She had disappeared a year earlier.



LARRY MOTHERWELL
Killer dies a carpenter

At his trial, Motherwell admitted to his defense attorney that he was an habitual liar and may have told Mrs. Putney such things as that he was kissed by Queen Elizabeth during an American visit and that Motherwell Mountain in Maryland was named after him.

He recalled how, earlier, he had been elected an elder of a Washington, D.C., church after he told officials he was owner of a castle at Motherwell, Scotland.

Witnesses testified at the trial that the thrice-wed Motherwell, who had served time for impersonating a naval officer, used his persuasive powers to talk the wealthy Mrs. Putney into taking a "last fling" with him.

The witnesses said also that during their far-flung travels, from Washington to Florida and across the South and Southwest to Las Vegas, Motherwell took Mrs. Putney for thousands of dollars—one estimate was as high as $35,000.

They were last seen together Aug. 15, 1958 at a Marysville motel, where they registered as Dr. and Mrs. Motherwell. After a year of high living, during which he lavished Mrs. Putney's jewels on other women, Motherwell was arrested in Atlanta, Ga.

In the course of the trial, the prosecuting attorney accused Motherwell of three more murders and several near-misses. These included the drowning of his second wife, Sarah, in a bathtub, and the death of the couple's mongoloid daughter in June, 1954.

Motherwell's first wife broke down and sobbed on the witness stand as she testified that he took her and their two children rowing on a lake, hit her on the head with a pipe, and tipped over the boat in an unsuccessful attempt to do away with them in 1945.

Superior Court Judge Warren Steel imposed a life sentence following Motherwell's first degree murder conviction for the murder of Mrs. Putney. An appellate court later reduced the conviction to second degree on the grounds that there was no proof of premeditation of killing in the course of robbery. The new sentence was five years to life.

Motherwell behaved well in prison, officials said, but he was denied parole on three occasions.

The prison officials said they would notify Motherwell's parents in Youngstown, Ohio, to determine disposition of the body of the greying but still handsome prisoner. In the event his parents do not claim the body, it will be cremated at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Fairfax Eyes Ruling Out Relatives On Same Staff

By FRANK FARRARA

The City of Fairfax may soon have an ordinance that will outlaw husband and wife, father and son or brothers working together in the same city department.

The question of relatives working for the city came up last night as the Fairfax City Council discussed proposed amendments to the personnel ordinance.

Councilmen indicated they would favor an amendment that would rule out close relatives working in the same department.

The rule would apply not only to relatives of employees, but also to relatives of elected and appointed officials, such as members of board and commissions.

There is no city rule on relatives now. City Administrator David J. Sumbardo recommended that no relative of a city employee or elected or appointed official be employed.

Sumbardo said problems arise from relatives working for the city and "it would be better to avoid such situations."

Mayor Frank L. Lawrence said such a blanket ruling would "eliminate a lot of people who want to work for the city."

Sumbardo said the city's board of review and department heads were opposed to the overall ban of relatives, but might approve a "compromise" ban on relatives working in the same department.

Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said he could see no difficulty in having two members of a family working for the city.

The proposed amendment on relatives, along with others discussed by the council, was referred back to the board of review for comment. Amendments to the personnel ordinance are slated to be introduced at the next council session, March 14, Sumbardo said.

Councilmen also agreed that veterans should receive five points additional on their initial examinations for city employment.

Sumbardo said he did not feel that there should be any preference given to veterans. "I've seen cases where points were added on and they got someone not as well qualified," he said.

Councilman Robert R. Souza noted thatt veterans are given points in government testing because of the time they lost while in the service.

Among the other proposed amendments are:

Removing the wording "loyalty oath" and substitute the wording "such oaths as shall be required by the State of California."

Eliminating the provision that a person who resigns can be reinstated in his former job within a year, and requiring that the person who resigns and wants to return must go through the same employment procedures as others.

(Sumbardo said this will prevent the returning employee from "bumping the guy who took his place.")

Requiring periodic medical examinations, at city expense, to determine if an employee is in physical condition to perform his duties.

Council Voids Permit For Substandard Lot

Fairfax city councilmen last night authorized action to stop construction of a house on a substandard lot at 46 Taylor Drive.

Councilmen said former City Building Inspector Rolfe M. Ockenden erred in issuing the permit, and construction of the home would be in violation of the city's zoning ordinance. They authorized City Administrator David J. Sumbardo to notify Laster and Co. of San Rafael today that the permit is void.

The vote to give Sumbardo authorization to take action carried by 4 to 1. Mayor Frank L. Lawrence dissented because the move was contrary to the advice of City Atty. Wallace S. Myers.

Laster and Co. allegedly is violating the zoning regulation that prohibits construction on a substandard lot when the owner has a contiguous lot. The company reportedly owns another substandard lot at 44 Taylor Drive.

Myers suggested that if the city wants only one house on the two lots it could take action if the company requests a permit to remodel the existing house at 44 Taylor Drive.

Several residents appeared at a special council meeting on personnel ordinance amendments to protest the building on the substandard lot.

At first Mayor Lawrence said the council would consider only the personnel ordinance, but later he opened the meeting to comments from residents.

Roger Skinner of 40 Taylor Drive opposed "little ticky tacky" construction that would change the environment and "perpetuate itself."

Councilman Robert R. Souza said the house under construction "is a small box." He distributed pictures of the framework to fellow councilmen.

Councilman George A. Pagni said "it's a clear violation and there should be a stop order."

Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni said there have been other violations of the zoning ordinance "and we've done nothing about them . . . We might as well throw the ordinance in the creek. The only solution is you go to court or you don't or forget about it."

Myers said there are hundreds of 25-foot lots in Fairfax. "It's a shame there were ever 25-foot lots," he said.

City Engineer Richard Nelson said homes can be constructed on 25-foot lots if they are lots of record and the owner does not own contiguous land. If an owner has two contiguous substandard lots, he must meet the requirement and have just one house on a 5,000-square foot lot.

The council requested Sumbardo to check the title on the property to determine whether Laster and Co. actually owns both lots.

The Fairfax City Council also:

1. Passed a resolution commending Daniel M. Miller, who resigned as chairman of the Fairfax Planning Commission last August, for his efforts, particularly for his work toward the Fairfax master plan.

2. Voted to transfer $1,000 from the contingency fund to central services to provide for part-time clerical help. The vote was 3-1-1, with Arrigoni dissenting and Pagni abstaining.

3. Adjourned until 8 p.m. March 14 at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Sewer Plans Due For Waldo Point

Preliminary engineering specifications and drawings for the Waldo Point sewage assessment district were discussed last night by Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors.

An adjourned meeting was set for March 14 at 8 p.m. in the Sausalito City Hall to act on the plans.

Board president Cyril G. Hansen said it is expected the board will call for bids and set a public hearing at the March 14 meeting. The proposed district includes an area between the northern Sausalito city limits and Yuba Street and a portion of land near the heliport.

Director George K. Elkington was seated as a new board member. The board adjourned in memory of John J. Gallas, former director who died last month, and passed a resolution memorializing him.

Voice Can Be Taped For Servicemen

Marin families with men serving in Viet Nam or elsewhere abroad can tape messages to them in the American Red Cross 's Tape-moobile—a bus which will be visiting the area tomorrow.

The service is part of the Red Cross's Tape-mobile — a bus gram and is provided free to the families of servicemen. The bus will be located outside the Marin Chapter headquarters at 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

One theory is that a person dreams all the time he is asleep but just doesn't remember all the dreams.

Senior Citizens Plan Valley Of Moon Visit

A luncheon at Santa Rosa's Marshall House and tour of the Valley of the Moon have been planned for March 24 for Marin County senior citizens, the San Rafael Recreation and Park Department has announced.

Charter buses will leave the Community Recreation Center at Second and Brooks streets at 10:30 a.m., returning at 5 p.m. Reservations must be made in person at the Community Center no later than 3:30 p.m. March 21.

No Objection Raised To Greenbrae Piers

The Army Corps of Engineers has received no objection to the application of Greenbrae Marina Co. and Bon Air Shopping Center to put piers and floats in Corte Madera Creek near the center.

Deadline for filing such objection was Thurday. Permit officer Alf Eklund, however, predicted it might be several weeks before processing of the permit is completed.

More Ranchers Sign Contract For Tax Break

Two more land owners yesterday signed agreements seeking a tax assessment break under the provisions of agricultural preserve.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Hall, with 1,200 acres of dairy land on the Point Reyes peninsula, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Onslow-Ford, with 275 acres of wooded ridgeland south of Inverness, both signed 10-year agreements to keep their property in agricultural use.

The Onslow-Ford property, however, is not productive and supervisors will have to decide whether the county will approve the pact.

The Hall Ranch will eventually become part of the Point Reyes National Seashore.

St. Patrick's Day Benefit Fete Planned

Marin County senior citizens will conduct a St. Patrick's Day benefit luncheon to raise money for shoes for needy families in the county.

The noon luncheon on March 17 will be held at the Community Recreation Center at Second and Brooks Streets, San Rafael. Sponsors are the Center Senior Advisory Board, the Marin Senior Assn., and the Marin chapter of the Needlework Guild of America.

Ross Involvement Hits Flood Plans

A flood control meeting in San Francisco yesterday, which included a quorum of the Ross Town Council, brought new difficulties to light in the Corte Madera Creek project.

The Army Corps of Engineers, who called the meeting, want to see the creek project extended into Ross to cure Ross Creek flooding before going ahead with the entire project.

County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said he could not get any commitment from the Army on whether the Ross phase would be required before construction of the lower creek portion can begin.

Lt. Col. Robert H. Allan, district engineer for the corps, explained that further engineering studies of the creek project have shown the need for some remedy for Ross Creek flooding.

Required would be a concrete lined culvert in Corte Madera Creek up to the confluence of Ross Creek, a landscaped earth ditch, or at least cleaning out and straightening of the ditch.

All Ross councilmen except Roy Farrington Jones were present at the session. The council opposes any creek improvement project, Kettinhofen said.

It was opposition from Ross, San Anselmo and Fairfax that caused their exclusion from the Corte Madera Creek flood control zone. The cities agreed to contribute toward creek maintenance through a joint powers agreement.

Further discussion of the corps' proposal will be held before the flood control advisory board at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Corte Madera Public Safety Building.

Pedestrian Hit By Car

Sandra Jean Storhaug, 20, of 99 Dartmouth Drive, Larkspur, was treated for a bruised right arm and knee at Marin General Hospital yesterday afternoon, after she was struck by a car while crossing Tamalpais Drive at Madera Boulevard.

She was struck while running in the cross walk by a car driven by David H. Provost, 19, of 125 Willow Avenue, Apt. 2, Corte Madera, police reported. Provost was making a left turn onto Tamalpais Drive.

Miss Storhaug is a daughter of Arthur E. Storhaug, former mayor of Larkspur.

Marin City Leasing

Plans for leasing 16,000 square feet in the first stage of commercial development to be built in Marin City will be discussed by Marin County Redevelopment Agency commissioners at 7:30 p.m., today, in the community lounge, Marin City. The Housing authority commission meets following the agency commission at 8:30 p.m.

Has the Volkswagen fad died out?

Yes.

But it was an unnerving experience while it lasted.

Because after we introduced our completely sensible car, people ran out and got it for completely frivolous reasons.

The first people bought VWs just so they could be the first people to have one.

And a lady in Illinois had one because it looked cute beside her "real" car.

However, the faddists soon found out that the bug wasn't an expensive toy, but a cheap car.

As a fad, the car was a flop.

(When you drive the latest fad to a party, and find 2 more fads there ahead of you, it catches you off your avant-garde.)

But as a car, the VW was impressive.

If you had to go someplace, it took you. Even when some cars wouldn't. And when you got there, you could park it. In places where other cars couldn't.

Once people took the bug's good points for granted, it became the best-selling car model in history.

And that's when the VW fad ended.

Replacement Gemini 9 Crew Picked

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Elliot See Jr., was quiet and introspective, humble about his part in America's space program but given to flashes of droll humor.

Air Force Maj. Charles A. Bassett II was a devoted family man who lavished attention on his Model A Ford whenever his rigorous schedule permitted.

As astronauts their training had been focused toward a single flight—the two-or three-day space mission of Gemini 9, tentatively scheduled for May.

See, 38, a civilian, and Bassett, 34, were flying from Houston into St. Louis yesterday for more training when their T-38 jet plane glanced off a McDonnell Aircraft Corp. building near the airport and fell to earth in flames. See and Bassett died in the crash.

Ironically, the capsule they were to ride into space was inside the building — less than 500 feet from their bodies. McDonnell builds the spacecraft.

In another T-38, right behind See and Bassett, was the Gemini 9 backup crew, Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, who landed safely. They did not see the crash.

Later in the day they were named the prime crew for the ninth mission, and a space agency official said the flights of Gemini 8 — in mid-March — and Gemini 9 are expected to be on schedule.

Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., who was the first American in space, flew to St. Louis to head the investigation into the crash.

Flags at the Space Center were lowered to half-staff.

Cernan, instead of Bassett, now will take the lengthy space walk during the flight that will test a complete new astronaut maneuvering unit. He will propel himself at least one time around the world outside the craft, using a back pack with small rockets instead of a space gun.

More than likely another backup crew will be named within a few days. This might be one area where a slight delay could occur — to give time for a new backup crew to catch up on some of the training.

Candle Wax Boils Over, Causes Fire

A large washtub of melted wax boiled over onto a wood stove at 12:32 p.m. yesterday and the resulting fire did $750 damage to the candle shop of the St. Eugene Monastery of the Russian Orthodox Church at Inverness Park.

Two Marin County Fire Department trucks from Point Reyes Station responded to the blaze, which burned through the roof of the small building several hundred feet from the main chapel on Balboa Avenue near White House Pool.

Brother Andrew, one of the three men who live at the monastery, said the shop had not been used for about a year, because there had been an adequate supply of candles on hand. He said the monks make about 350 candles a day at the shop for use during services. The monastery was established in 1956.

Missing Suspect Arrest Ordered

Warrant for arrest of James Williams, 37, was issued by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court yesterday following his failure to appear on a felony complaint charging grand theft.

Bail of $2,200 was forfeited. New bail was set at $5,500.

Williams, of Oakland, is accused to taking $260 worth of men's suits from the Montgomery Ward and Co. store at Corte Madera Shopping Center.

ATTENTION, PLEASE!
Do you want an organ in your home and the FUN it can give your ENTIRE family?
BUT
1. Don't want the inconvenience of going to a studio to learn to play?
2. Don't have the hours or time for private instruction in your home?
3. Cost of instruction too much for you or entire family when free lessons are over?
THEN WAIT NO LONGER
If any of these reasons are holding your musical enjoyment in check Pacific Organ & Piano's EXCLUSIVE new "FAMILY-FUN PROGRAM" is designed for you and all of your family. Children of all ages, mother & dad, grandmother & grandfather all CAN and WILL play the organ using Pacific's "FAMILY FUN PROGRAM."
Come in and see us now and find a lifetime of musical pleasure at your finger tips.

SMALL WONDER
a tight-running small home that is every bit as practical and charming as our little friend the Volkswagen (from whose advertisement weer—borrow our headline). Up in the hills on a view lot, just a few years old and in better than new condition, this is what a one bedroom home should be: just enough space to lighten your spirits and not so much that you become a slave to maintenance. Charming living room with raised hearth fireplace, view windows onto sunny deck; built-in kitchen, large paneled bedroom with beamed ceilings. Covered carport for your Volkswagen. Will also accommodate the Cadillac you buy with the money you save by buying this at a low $22,000!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Facial Palsy May Strike Quickly In The Span Of A Night's Sleep

VAN DELLEN

The facial nerves control the muscles of the face including the eye, wrinkle the forehead, open and close the lips, and support the cheeks. Bell's palsy, the most common affliction of the nerve, leads to a condition in which one side of the face sags. Best results are obtained when an all-out effort is made to save the stricken nerve.

The individual may go to bed feeling fine and upon awakening is astonished to find that one side of the face is drooping and motionless. In the typical case the muscles on one-half the face are paralyzed. The victim is unable to wrinkle his forehead, frown, or close his eye on the affected side. When attempting to smile, the corner of the mouth on the good side goes up whereas the other remains down. It is impossible to draw up the muscles of the mouth to whistle, smile, or show the teeth.

THE FACIAL nerve originates in the brain and passes through a small opening in the skull to reach the muscles of the face. Something happens to the circulation of the nerve causing the fibers within its tough sheath to swell. Most of the damage occurs where the nerve is constricted as it passes through the nonyielding bony canal. The quicker pressure is relieved the better the outcome.

Best results are obtained with a cortisone-type hormone that reduces inflammation. Intravenous procaine also is useful. Electrical tests can be done to determine the condition of the nerve and the possibility of recovery. Ingenious plastic surgery may help when the victim is left with noticeable sagging of one side of the face.

WHAT IS the prognosis for recovery? There is a better than 50-50 chance of spontaneous and satisfactory cure. But the nerve is made up of thousands of fine strands and the chance is slim that all will again function normally. As a result, many are left with telltale residues of the palsy.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

FRAZZLED NERVES

M. K. writes: I would like to know if anything can be done to stop palpitation of the heart. Would bourbon or brandy help? It is due to nervousness, not heart disease. This diagnosis was made after an electrocardiogram.

REPLY

Anything that calms your nerves should help. The list includes sedatives, tranquilizers, psychiatric care, or a little common sense. Alcohol is not advisable, because it may aggravate the palpitation.

DELUDED

N. B. writes: At times I suddenly feel as though I were in strange surroundings. Does this sensation call for treatment?

REPLY

If this is a hypnagogic state, no treatment is required unless you decide to stay in this strange place and talk with friends you meet there. This sensation is common when falling asleep or coming to.

THIN SKINNED

S. C. writes: Could you tell me why some people are affected by unsightly exposed surface capillaries?

REPLY

These changes are most likely of hereditary origin involving the texture of the skin. In some instances they are related to circulatory disorders, cirrhosis of the liver, or damage to the skin by ultraviolet or X rays.

FIBROIDS

Mrs. A. M. writes: Do fibroid tumors of the uterus cause sterility?

REPLY

These growths may prevent conception. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on fibroid tumors of the uterous.

COFFEE AND PRESSURE

Mrs. Y. writes: May a person with high blood pressure drink coffee?

REPLY

Yes, in moderation.

FUNGOUS INFECTION

A. L. writes: What is mycosis?

REPLY

Any disease caused by a fungus.

FUNNY BONE

I. G. F. writes: What is done when the ulnar nerves are transferred forward? Is this procedure considered dangerous?

REPLY

This nerve is located in the groove known as the "funny bone." It is moved over when the bone has been injured and the callus is pressing on the nerve. The technic is not dangerous.

YOU NEEDN'T

Mrs. P. J. writes: Is it normal to get a big stomach after an abdominal operation?

REPLY

No, but the surgery offers a wonderful excuse when appetite and the feeling of well being return.

Brittle Bottles Stronger Than Astronauts?

NEW YORK (AP) — Glass bottles are stronger than astronauts.

Bottles and jars in experiments being conducted by the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute are successfully withstanding G forces many times greater than those experienced by the Gemini astronauts on re-entry to the earth's atmosphere.

"G's" are a measure of the force on a person—or object—created by sudden acceleration or deceleration, as in a space capsule leaving or returning the earth. The Gemini astronauts experienced about 8 G's for several seconds on re-entry. No human could withstand more than 100 G's even for two one-thousandths of a second.

In laboratory tests, however, bottles have successfully withstood forces approaching 400 G's.

A lightweight, no-return beer bottle, for example, stood up under 200 G's. An everyday catsup bottle sustained 280 G's. A cooking oil bottle was still intact at 380 G's.

Campus Population Outracing Nation's

NEW YORK (AP)—This country's college population is growing at a rate nearly six times as fast as the increase in the U.S. population, says an executive of two firms with close ties to the campus world.

The 5.4 million students on college campuses this fall is double the enrollment 10 years ago. But the current over-all population of 195 million is only 17 per cent greater than in 1955, said Robert J. Keir, president of the Tuition Plan Inc. and C.I.T. Educational Buildings Inc.

Thief's Flight Costly

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —A man who stole some groceries caused more damage in fleeing than in stealing. The man collected $12 worth of food at a supermarket,, then crashed through a $100 plate glass window to make his escape, police said.

Four planets—Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune—are larger than the planet earth.

Seniors Gain Entrance Honors

Three additional Redwood High School seniors have been awarded "honors at entrance" at University of California, bringing the number of Redwood seniors receiving the award to six.

"Honors at Entrance" is awarded to students applying for entrance to the University of California who have made outstanding records in the courses required for entrance to the university.

Newly named recipients of the award are Christopher Newhall, son of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Newhall of Greenbrae; Claudia A. Marker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Marker of Larkspur, and Charles R. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Scott of Ross.

Previously named were Thomas A. McCarty of Kentfield, Robert E. McBain of Greenbrae and John G. Compton of Kentfield.

Professor Sues Over Notes Sale

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A professor at the University of California at Los Angeles has obtained a court order banning the sale of notes to students based on his lectures.

Dr. B.J. Williams, assistant professor of anthorpology, filed suit yesterday in Superior Court against J. Edwin Weisser, accusing him of "infringement" of his lectures by selling lecture notes for $5. Weisser, operator of Class Notes of UCLA, denied any infringement.

The suit sought $3,000 general damages and $8,000 exemplary damages. Williams contended he spent 15 years acquiring knowledge on which the lectures were based.

'Tugboat Annie' Last Rites Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Funeral services were planned here today for character actress Minerva Urecal, who played "Tugboat Annie" in a television serial by that name.

Miss Urecal, 71, died Saturday of a heart attack at a hospital in nearby Glendale.

Miss Urecal also starred in several radio serials, including the "Sunday Night Hi-Jinks," a popular program of the 1930s.

She is survived by her husband, Max Holtzer.

Sailors Union Keeps Long-Time Officer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Sailors Union of the Pacific has returned Morris Weisberger to his eighth term as secretary-treasurer, the organization's chief office.

Election results, announced yesterday, also showed members approved increasing initiation fees by $75 to $200.

Wolden Aide Tells Orders To Give Cuts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An aide testified yesterday that Assessor Russell L. Wolden had ordered him to reduce taxes for firms that contributed to the tax chief's political campaigns.

Wolden, for 28 years the San Francisco assessor, is on trial charged with bribery — taking money for reduced assessed valuations and thereby taxes.

On the stand was Max J. Newstat, who for 27 years had been an assistant to Wolden.

In reply to a question by Francis W. Mayer, chief assistant district attorney, Newstat said: "All tax consultants got reductions at the direction of the assessor."

He also said he was given a list of contributors. That showed which firms were to get special consideration when assessment rolls were prepared, he said. He was also expected to report which likely prospects were missing from the list, he continued.

Inventory and machinery assessments for some firms were cut by as much as 50 per cent from the figure regarded as standard, he testified.

Among the firms Newstat said contributed to Wolden's campaign funds were Dawson, Desmond and Van Cleve, a New Jersey tax consultant company; Carl Vogel, a Chicago tax consultant; Best Foods; and Armour and Co.

Son Reports Fatal Shooting Of Father

OAKLAND (AP)—Police, who said they were told by telephone that "I just shot my father," found a theatrical agent last night — shot in the head and bleeding to death.

Dead before he reached Highland Hospital was Willard J. Marcum, 47, who booked club and benefit dates.

Arrested for a homicide investigation was his son, Michael, 19, who had lived with his father and a dog in an expensive house overlooking San Francisco Bay from Skyline Boulevard.

Police, after questining the youth, said he appeared mixed up. A large number of small differences built up tension between the father and son, police said.

Marcum, who was divorced, operated a booking agency for performers in Oakland. An office under the same name also is located in San Francisco.

Police said the father came home one and one-half hours after the son and was eating dinner at the time of the shooting.

The elder Marcum was shot in the back of the head with a 22-caliber slug. A rifle was found nearby.

Zsa Zsa Gabor Seeking Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Hungarian-born actress Zsa Zsa Gabor, 43, and her fourth husband, Herbert L. Hutner, chairman of Struthers Wells Corp., have separated, and she will seek a divorce in Juarez, Mexico.

A spokesman said yesterday Miss Gabor's divorce petition would be sent to Juarez immediately along with other necessary papers. Attorney Bently Ryan said the actress probably would not go to the border city to obtain her divorce decree for at least a week.

"The divorce is amicable and neither is seeking a financial settlement," a spokesman said. The fact Miss Gabor's interests primarily are in California while Hutner's are in New York "helped influence" the divorce decision.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Press Releases Provide Comments

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —We read the network press releases:

From CBS-TV "Marshall Thompson, star of 'Daktari,' advises that to win the heart of an elephant one should feed him sweets, not peanuts. Elephants like sugar, honey and fruit. Sharp-seeded fruits, such as peaches, should be avoided."

Okay.

From NBC-TV: "Mike Landon, a costar of 'Bonanza,' and wife Lynn are adding 2,500 square feet to their home raising the total to 6,000 square feet. They're adding three bedrooms, two bathrooms and two playrooms."

And what else is happining in television?

From ABC-TV's "The American Sportsman": "Since Alex Cord is the next John Wayne, it figures that he should ride into the sunset, stalk a mountain lion and tie up the beast with his bare hands."

From the same press release: "'I like to do things on impulse,' said Cord, who is ramrod tall, smokes little cigars and has hard, grey eyes. 'If I had time to think about it, I probably wouldn't have tackled an animal weighing 160 pounds and with claws long enough to tear you to pieces.'"

Aw, c'mon, don't be so modest. You get to expect those things from guys are ramrod tall, smoke little cigars and have hard, grey eyes.

From the same press release: "Cord . . . is billed as reincarnation of Bogart, Cooper and Tom Mix. . . ."

Whatever happened to all those plans to succeed John Wayne? Was all that stalking of the mountain lion and tying it up with bare hands all in vain? I mean, first you say John Wayne and now you give us Tom Mix. You don't have to tie up a mountain lion with your bare hands to be the next Tom Mix. And how do you think Bogie would like being tied in with Tom Mix anyway?

From NBC-TV's "Mona McCluskey" series: "Herb Rudley is a veritable one-man hobby lobby. In fact, it's somewhat of a miracle that he finds time to squeeze his acting career into his busy schedule."

Yes, wherever you go you hear that.

Wireless 'Bugs' Face Crackdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has banned use of wireless microphones and similar eavesdropping devices in recording private conversations.

Rules adopted by the FCC yesterday prohibit anyone but law enforcement officers from using a radio device after April 8 to overhear or record private conversations of others. Violators are subject to a $500 fine for each day the offense occurs.

The FCC said the rules will not interfere with "accepted broadcast practices in covering public interest events."

The rules reflect, the FCC said, "growing public indignation with increased intrusions into the traditional right of privacy through the use of wireless microphones..."

Council To Consider County Zoning Law

Sausalito City councilmen will consider a resolution challenging legality of planned community zoning by Marin County at an 8 p.m. meeting today in city hall.

The council also will discuss the city's "sphere of influence" and recommendations from the city recreation commission on saving and creating small parks along Bridgeway in connection with the proposed widening of the street.

Tiburon To Double Weekend Policing

The Tiburon City Council last night moved to double the city's weekend police force to cover tourist and entertainment activities which bring a flood of extra traffic from Friday nights to Sunday nights.

The action was advised by City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose, who told the council that the present one-officer weekend force "simply cannot enforce even the basic traffic laws.

COUNTY CONTRACT

The council contracts with Marin County for policing by sheriff's deputies. It was left to Rose to arrange whether an additional deputy will be brought to the Tiburon sub-station on a full-time basis, to add five shifts to the present force, or whether deputies will be sent to Tiburon on a rotating basis.

"One of the reasons for incorporation of Tiburon was to get better police protection here" said Councilman John S. Hoffmire Jr. "Many people expected that we would have our own police department right away. While we haven't yet done this, the increase in the coverage seems a worthwhile step." Other councilmen concurred.

PROMOTION ASKED

On recommendation of the City Manager, the council also moved to ask Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos to promote Sgt. George Barnes, head of the Tiburon sub-station, to the rank of Lieutenant.

If promoted, Barnes would receive $753 per month, an additional cost to the city of $42 per month. Rose estimated Barne's raise and expansion of the weekend force, including renting an extra sheriff's department patrol car, would cost $3,521 for the remaining four months of the fiscal year.

Already calling him "Lieutenant," Councilman Fred Hannahs asked Barnes if he is spending much of his time with clerical work.

"I do spend quite a few hours typing up reports," Barnes admitted, adding, "I'm certain that a trained typist could get the stuff done a lot quicker than I can."

The council ordered Rose to look into hiring a part-time stenographer to free Barnes from his hunt-and-peck typing and give him more time to patrol the city.

Mill Valley Parks Ideas To Be Heard

Mill Valley parks and recreation commissioners last night agreed that their intent is to keep Boyle Park in large grassy expanses and to improve the children's play area.

Landscape architect Eldon Beck will present ideas of park uses at the commission's March 28 meeting, according to Jerome C. Hauke, who sat as chairman last night for the first time.

The commission will not meet as regularly scheduled March 14 since it is planning a "get-together" that night to honor Raymond J. Bell, who recently left the commission after six years.

Commissioners talked about the $4,315,000 county parks bond issue to be voted upon June 7 and agreed that the City of Mill Valley should present park improvements proposed in the city to voters prior to the actual election, Hauke said.

Housewife Killed In Bayshore Accident

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Sandra Dee Riley, 23, of Sunnyvale as killed early today when the small car in which she was riding with her husband hit a bridge railing on Bayshore Freeway.

Kenneth Riley, 25, was injured seriously.

Mossler-Powers Defense Stresses Lack Of Proof

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The defense, opening final summations of the Jacques Mossler murder trial today, admonished a jury that it lacks proof positive "that Melvin Lane Powers and no one else committed that homicide."

Harvey St. Jean, a Miami criminal attorney, arguing in defense of Powers and his aunt, Candace Mossler, who are accused of the 1964 slaying of her husband, said:

"What has satisfied you beyond a reasonable doubt that Melvin Lane Powers and no other persons committed that homicide?"

St. Jean called attention to Vincent T. Caltagirone, 29, a former roommate of the slain Mossler. From the witness stand Caltagirone denied any connection with the slaying.

"Where was he the night of the homicide?" St. Jean demanded. "He told you he had no alibi. The motive? A strange relationship."

Circuit Judge George Schulz, meanwhile, continued to reserve decision on motions made yesterday by the defense to dismiss the first-degree murder charges against Mrs. Mossler and Powers in the slaying of her 69-year-old multimillionaire husband.

Narcotics Panel Heard By Police

Panel discussion on narcotics problems was heard last night by 47 members of Marin County Peace Officers Assn. attending the first 1966 dinner meeting, held at Rancho Nicasio in Nicasio.

James Soetaert, director of the Field Service Division, Marin County probation department, talked of narcotic addicts and marijuana users on probation in this county. John Maher, agent for Synanon House at Marshall, discussed treatment of narcotics addicts, and Matthew M. O'Connor, supervising agent of the State Narcotics Bureau, related narcotic enforcement problems.

Capt. Theodore F. Parnow of the California Highway Patrol conducted the meeting.

San Rafael Salesman Still Not Conscious

William Phillip Simmons, 46-year-old San Rafael salesman, was still in a coma today at Marin General Hospital, six days after being found unconscious on a San Francisco street suffering from a head injury.

Until Simmons, of 42 Junipero Serra Avenue, recovers consciousness, police will be unable to learn whether he fell accidentally or was the victim of a mugging. His wallet and car were found nearby.

Sanitary Board Gives Pay Raises

The Novato Sanitary District Board last night granted a 5 per cent across-the-board salary increase to its 14 employees.

This will cost about $375 per month or $4,500 annually, said Charles Joseph, manager-engineer.

The board decided to review salaries annually at the first meeting in September. It also gave the manager-engineer authority to give merit increases of one step, and voted to review the range and step of each employee's salary at the first meeting of March each year.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

1. Accepted an 1,800 off-site sewer line for Wild Horse Valley and the main extension to service Marin Highlands.
2. Promoted John Thomas from maintenance man to asistant plant operator and approved permanent employment of Larry Domingez and Michael Faifua as maintenance men.
3. Approved in principle an agreement with the Novato Rotary Club and the City of Novato whereby the club would build and the city maintain a tiny tot playground on sanitary district property at Olive and Railroad avenues.

Novato Police Officer Re-Called Into Army

Patrolman Robert D. Fetter will leave the Novato police department at the end of this week to go on active duty as an Army helicopter pilot.

He and his wife, Beverly, a legal secretary for Palmer and Grundstrom in Novato, and their two children, Robin and Gregg, reside at 1382 Joyce Street, Novato.

"Many families are missing ways to reduce their income taxes."

Tax tips from an expert, Joseph M. Cullen, U. S. District Director of Internal Revenue (Northern California).

CROCKER-CITIZENS: How's business?
MR. CULLEN: Busy! We'll probably collect about $11 billion in California.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: How many families would you estimate use the standard 10% deduction rather than itemize their deductions?
MR. CULLEN: In California, I would guess about half use the standard deduction. But many families could reduce their taxes substantially if they took the time to itemize deductions. It isn't difficult if you follow step-by-step the Tax Instructions accompanying the forms sent to you. And remember — Uncle Sam doesn't want taxpayers to overpay their taxes any more than he wants them to underpay. The fair tax—that's what he's after.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: What deductions do you find are overlooked the most?
MR. CULLEN: Those related to the home. Many people, when itemizing deductions, fail to deduct interest they pay on home mortgages. And it's usually sizable. City and county real estate and personal property taxes are other deductible items. And if you are required by your job to use part of your home for business, you may deduct a pro-rata portion of the expenses of maintenance, including lighting, heating, repairs, insurance and depreciation.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: We follow you, but are these rules spelled out anywhere?
MR. CULLEN: Oh yes. An excellent reference is a Government publication entitled "Your Federal Income Tax." It's available at any of the 53 Internal Revenue offices in California for 50¢.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: What other deductions are overlooked?
MR. CULLEN: The family automobile can provide a big source of deductions. For example, let's say you bought a car in 1965 and it cost $3,000. If you itemize deductions, you can deduct the California State sales tax. On $3,000 at 4%, that's $120. And you can add that amount on top of the other "average" state sales tax you paid.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: What do you mean by "average?"

"Many people fail to keep track of their expenses. A checking account would help."

MR. CULLEN: We provide guidelines—in the Instructions—on how much state sales tax can normally be deducted without question. It's based on the size of your family and your annual income. This figure—plus sales taxes on cars and boats—can be lumped together and deducted. Also, let's say you financed the car. You can deduct some of the carrying charge, as outlined in the Tax Instructions. There's also the registration fee for your car. In California, you can deduct the amount you paid in 1965 in excess of $8 for a passenger car and $9 for a station wagon. For a $3,000 car bought in January, 1965, the registration fee is about $51. Subtract $8 and you get a deduction of $43. A lot of people overlook a casualty or theft loss on their auto, too. You can deduct the cost of accident repairs or replacement that exceed $100 for each accident—providing you were not reimbursed by an insurance company—or by the fellow who hit you.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: What if you use your car for business and pleasure?
MR. CULLEN: More deductions. To check them, determine how many miles you traveled in 1965—say 15,000. If 3,000 of them were "business" miles, then that represents 20%. You can then deduct 20% of your gasoline, oil, lubes, tune-ups, repairs and auto insurance bills, depending on the form you use. And don't forget depreciation. Figuring the life of the car is five years, and after salvage value, that $3,000 car would give you a $2,500 item to depreciate. That's $500 a year, or $100 a year you could charge off. Even if your company reimbursed you 10¢ a mile, you may still deduct any excess.

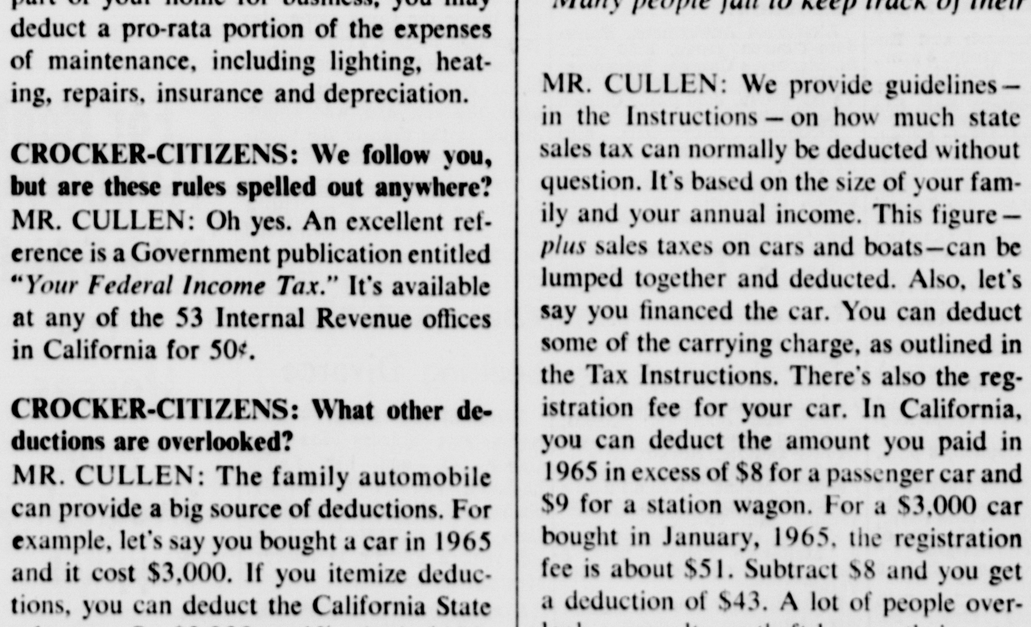
CROCKER-CITIZENS: Do some people report income they shouldn't?
MR. CULLEN: Yes. Quite a few folks overpay by declaring income from Social Security, unemployment benefits and certain scholarships. And then, many people forget to deduct their California State income tax, bad debts, rental cost of a safe deposit box in some instances and charges for money management—such as trust department charges. Others fail to realize you can still take a $600 exemption for a dependent who is a full-time student even though he is over 19 years of age and has gross income of over $600.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: How about the surviving spouse category?
MR. CULLEN: Yes. Many widows and widowers don't realize that if their husband or wife died as far back as in 1964 or even 1963, they are entitled to use Tax Schedule II, provided that they meet certain requirements listed in the Tax Instructions. Another thing: many divorced, legally separated or widowed persons qualify as Head of Household—but don't know it. If they furnish half of the cost of maintaining a household for an entire year for at least one relative, they probably qualify to use Tax Schedule III with its lower rates.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: Millions of Californians upgrade themselves by selling their old houses and buying new ones—or moving into apartments. Because of rising prices, the sale of the old house often results in a profit. The profit is generally taxable. Are there any exceptions?
MR. CULLEN: Yes. The tax is postponed if you purchase a new house within one year before or after the sale of your old residence, and you use the new one as your principal residence during that period. The cost of the new house must equal or exceed the adjusted sales price of the old house.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: In your opinion, what's the best way to keep track of all your deductible expenses?
MR. CULLEN: A checking account is excellent. If you pay everything by check and keep a record in your checkbook, you'll have a neat, orderly reminder file at income tax time. Also, your canceled checks are evidence of payment. And if you deposit all your income in a checking account, too, you'll have a useful record of income and outgo.

CROCKER-CITIZENS: Thank you.
MR. CULLEN: Thank you—and I would appreciate it if you would urge your readers to file their taxes as soon as possible before April 15. If they have a refund due, they'll get it faster. And if anyone has questions about any tax matter, we have a battery of experts at all our offices ready and happy to assist. Just drop in—but soon. Believe me, we won't throw a net around you. Not unless you don't file at all.



"The family automobile—and the home—can provide big sources of deductions."

Pirate Tobin Is Unanimous Pick

Bob Tobin, champion Drake High School's 6-5 center who scored more points than any other varsity player in the Marin Athletic League this year, was the only unanimous choice for a spot on the all-league basketball team, announced today by league commissioner George Corson.

Tobin led in the balloting for the dream team, gaining votes from all coaches who met in the San Rafael High School cafeteria last night. Five of the seven varsity coaches were there, but two were not able to make it. Class B coaches Al Ahlsten of Tamalpais and Bill Aires of Novato took the places of Ed Chavez and John Panagakis, respectively.

It was a clean sweep for the Tamalpais Union High School District.

Other members of the first All-League team are Drake guard Will Curley, Tamalpais guard Steve Woodward, and Redwood's guard Russ Smith and forward Bruce McGee. Woodward is a junior, the others seniors.

Point-making was the key to the selections, as the top four scorers in the league were on the first team. Tobin scored the most points, 173, but Smith had the best average, 14.7. Tobin was No. 2 on the average list at 14.4, followed by Woodward at 14.2 and McGee at 14.0. Curley was in ninth place on the scoring list, but he was very valuable as a defensive specialist and floor leader for the Pirates.

Named to the second team were juniors Chet Carlisle of Drake, Andre Horn of Redwood and Steve Johnson of Tam, and seniors Tom Corder of Novato and Honor Jackson of Tem.

Joe Cunningham of San Rafael, Everett Fritz of Novato and Brian Perron of Terra Linda, all seniors, were given honorable mention.

B CHAMPS

Tamalpais High School's undefeated champion Class B cage team dominated the lightweight sections, landing three men on the first team.

From Tam were Larry Adams, Leroy Barrow and Pat Schafer, the latter easily winning the individual scoring title with 201 points and a 16.8 average.

Other members of the six-man first "B" team were Steve Durham of San Rafael, Jim Jaccard of Terra Linda and Harry Matsinger of Marin Catholic.

Foul Play Suspected In Tam District—Too Many Stars

I'M GOING to petition the California Interscholastic Federation to launch a full-scale investigation into the hanky-panky goings on in the Tamalpais High School District. I might even bring in James Bond, the FBI, Sam Spade and Sheriff Louis Mountanos. Hell, let's call out the National Guard.

As we all know, recruiting is prohibited in high school levels, so I would like to know just how come the Tamalpais District is loaded with such outstanding basketball talent. All those stars just didn't happen to grow up in that neighborhood, did they? I think they must have been smuggled into the district and I'm pointing an accusing finger at district Superintendent Chester G. Carlisle.

MR. CARLISLE, you oldies may remember, was quite a basketball star in his day and I suspect the big guy is loading his district with big, agile, sharp-eyed boys.

Carlisle was an All-American cager at Cal back in the 1930's, and it looks like he's grooming half the teen-aged male population in his district to follow in his footsteps.

Just look at the 1966 Marin Athletic League basketball season: Drake first, Tam second, Redwood third. All Chet's teams.

In the individual scoring race eight of the top ten players are Tam district stars.

AND YESTERDAY the coaches picked the All-League team and it read like a Tam District roll call: All five varsity first team selections and four of the five second team picks were Carlisle Corpsmen.

Yessir, I demand an investigation. We may have a juicy scandal right in our midst.

P.S. Carlisle's son, Chet Jr., will follow in his dad's footsteps — literally. Young Chet is starting forward for the champion Drake Pirates and will play in the Tournament of Champions March 10-11-12 at the Cal gym in Berkeley, scene of the Senior Carlisle's heroics nearly 30 years ago.

Public Will Not Hear Financial Testimony

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The combatants in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball agreed today that the closely-guarded financial secrets of National League clubs can be used in arguments but that they will be kept from public view.

League attorney Louis Carroll told Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller that he had discussed the matter with Willard Stafford, special counsel for Wisconsin's attorney general, and that counsel were prepared to stipulate that the material could be used if the courtroom were cleared for the testimony.

"We're extremely concerned about the realm of confidentiality concerning players' salaries," Carroll told the court at a session in chambers.

Stafford agreed that he would so stipulate except for the financial affairs of the Braves, whose transfer to Atlanta — leaving Milwaukee without a major league franchise — brought on the state allegation that baseball operates in violation of state antitrust statutes.

Earl Jinkinson, attorney for the Braves, said he would agree to use of Braves' records, but said he would not like to have specific salaries of individual players in public testimony "because it would cause dissension on the club, and on other clubs."

Referring to an earlier Stafford observation that the state attorney might use some of the information in his opening statement, Jinkinson said jocularly, "I'd hate to interrupt his opening statement when he has such a large gallery."

The court room, which seats 150, was jammed for the brief opening session Monday.

A return to open court was delayed this morning because attorneys did not finish marking exhibits Monday, although Judge Roller kept them at it into the evening.

The state filed some 70 documents pertaining to the case, and the defense had as many ready.

While the exhibit-numbering session moved slowly, it did provide the first indications of the war of words that will be waged before a decision in the case ultimately is reached.

Mantle May Miss Opener

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle signed his fourth straight $100,000 contract ith the New York Yankees today and disclosed that the recuperative period from his recent shoulder surgery will be longer than expected.

"I don't know if I can start the season," the veteran outfielder said. He revealed that the Jan. 25 operation at the Mayo Clinic involved inflamed tendons as well as a bone chip.

"It'll take longer to get in shape than if it were just a bone chip," Mantle pointed out. "But if I hadn't had the operation, I could not have played."

Al Randig Leads Novato Tourney

Al Randig will be taking a four-point lead into the final round of the 54-hole Stableford Tournament at Indian Valley Golf Club in Novato next Sunday.

Tars' Playoff Game Moved Up To Friday

The "challenge game" between College of Marin's basketball team and San Joaquin Delta of Stockton will be played Friday night in Napa rather than Saturday, it was announced today by Harry Pieper, director of athletics at Marin.

It was announced yesterday the game would be played Saturday night, but a telephone call from San Joaquin Delta changed that. Delta officials pointed out that the state athletic code governing junior college basketball called for the game to be played on the Friday following the last regular season game.

Since Marin ends its regular season tomorrow night against Napa Junior College, Friday has to be the night for the game. It will still be played in the Napa J.C. gym, at 8 p.m., as the rules allow the "challenged" team to pick a neutral court in its conference.

If Marin beats Napa tomorrow night, it will be the first team to ever go undefeated through the Golden Valley Conference, as the Tars have won their first 11 conference games.

Then Friday comes the big playoff for the state tournament. As there are five Northern California J.C. conferences and only four Norcal spots in the state tournament, a playoff is necessary.

This season it was the Valley Conference that got to choose an opponent from champion teams in the other four conferences. So San Joaquin Delta, champs of the Valley Conference, picked Marin, champ of the Golden Valley Conference.

Cummins Favored In Cage Tourney

Neil Cummins' 8th grade basketball team, undefeated in 15 games this season, will be heavily favored in the annual Redwood Elementary League tournament starting tomorrow in the Redwood High School gymnasium.

Games tomorrow and Thursday start at 4 p.m., and the finals Friday will start at 7 p.m. Jerry Piro, leading scorer for the Cummins team, averaged 16.5 points per game and scored 39 points in a victory over Del Mar.

Other teams in the tournament include Kent, Hall, Ross and Del Mar.

Drake Meets Oakland In Tournament

Sir Francis Drake Pirates, champions of the Marin Athletic League, will play the Oakland Athletic League titlists in the first round of the high school basketball Tournament of Champions in Berkeley, it was determined yesterday.

Fremont and McClymonds high schools, who tied for the OAL title, were to play off today to determine the league's T of C representative.

The Drake-OAL champion game will be played at 9 p.m. on March 10. Earlier first round games will be: 4:30—Washington (Mission Valley League) vs. Alameda County League champion (either Berkeley or El Cerrito); 6—Aroya (Hayward Athletic League) vs. winner of playoff between Diablo and East Bay athletic league champions; 7:30—San Francisco champions vs. North Bay League champions (either Santa Rosa or Sonoma).

The tournament continues March 11 and 12. If Drake wins the first round it will play the winner of the San Francisco-NBL game at 9 p.m. Friday and if Drake loses in the first round it will play the loser of the S.F.-NBL game at 6 on Friday.

Ellis Heads All-Norcal Quint; Edwards Named Coach Of Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Joe Ellis of the University of San Francisco was the only unanimous choice for the All-Northern California basketball team chosen by the writers and sportcasters.

He also was named player-of-the year.

On the club with the 6-foot-6-inch Ellis are teammate Erwin Mueller, Keith Swagerty of University of the Pacific, S.T.Saffold of San Jose State and Art Harris of Stanford.

Players were chosen regardless of position. The second team included four guards and one forward, Bob Krulish of UOP. The guards are Mike Critchfield of California, Bob Paulson of Santa Clara, Mike Gervasoni of Santa Clara, and Russ Gumina of USF.

COACH OF YEAR

Dick Edwards of UOP, whose club has virtually ended the four-year domination of USF in the West Coast Athletic Conference, was voted coach-of-the-year. UOP beat USF 82-71 last Saturday in the showdown for the WCAC title although each club has two games left. It was the first home court defeat for the Dons in 35 games.

UOP, with an 11-1 conference record, plays at San Jose State on Wednesday night and at UC Santa Barbara on Saturday night. USF, at 10-2, goes to Loyola on Friday night and Pepperdine the following evening.

HONORABLE MENTION

Given honorable mention in the Northern California Basketball Writers and Sportscasters balloting yesterday were: Pete Newell, San Jose State; David Fox, UOP; Bob Bedell and Ray Kosanke, Stanford; Bob Wolfe, California; Dennis Black, USF; Bob Heaney, Santa Clara; Don Devincenzi, St. Mary's; Ev Adams, San Francisco State; and Howard Foster, Hayward State.

Freshman coaches made their own all-star yearling selections of Don Griffin and Mal McElwain of Stanford; Robbie DeWitt and Bob Jones of UOP and Dave Pouliot, Santa Clara.

On the second frosh team were Don Johnson and Wayne Stewart, California; Pat Foley, UOP; Kim Kellenberg, USF; and Bob Kelly, Santa Clara.

Cepeda In Great Shape; Can He Make Comeback?

A FAMILIAR SWING — Orlando Cepeda, San Francisco Giant first baseman who was sidelined last year with a bad knee, takes a swing at the ball during yesterday's spring training session at Casa Grande, Ariz. Behind the plate is catcher Tom Haller. (AP Wirephoto)

Giants In Opening Workouts

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—Orlando Cepeda, slimmed down to 215 pounds, romped through the opening of spring training with the San Francisco Giants and said his repaired knee feels "just great."

Return of the slugger will bring more power to the Giants' lineup and the problem to Manager Herman Franks of where to play him.

Cepeda, who led San Francisco hitters with a .304 average and also banged 31 homers in 1964, sat out much of last season with the ailing knee.

Willie McCovey returned to first base and walloped 39 homers while batting .276. Before the Giants took off for their Arizona training, Franks said Willie was his first baseman.

"I'm not going to tell McCovey to play left field," said Franks. "Not after the way he played last year. If he tells me he's willing to go back to the outfield, fine, I'll consider it. But he'll have to tell me."

That would put Cepeda in left field, presumably, and Franks said, "If Orlando shows me he can play, then I'll find a spot for him somewhere in the lineup."

Orlando was 15 pounds lighter than when he reported in 1965 after undergoing knee surgery the previous December.

As the team went through a light, two-hour workout, Cepeda ran sprints in the outfield and took his turn at batting practice to prove his contention that a winter of running has sufficiently strengthened his ailing joint.

Franks' problem was a happy one compared with that of vice president Charles (Chub) Feeney who had four players still out of the fold.

Pitchers Juan Marichal and Bob Shaw, who won 23 and 16 respectively as the two top winners of 1965, remain at home. Both want substantially more than the Giants offered.

McCovey and outfielder Jesus Alou are in camp but as yet haven't agreed to terms. Shortstops Dick Schofield and Tito Fuentes, who've signed 1966 contracts, were not in camp yesterday, but were reported en route.

Feeney brought second baseman Hal Lanier into the fold yesterday and announced they had reached agreement in a telephone conversation. Lanier said he was leaving his St. Petersburg Beach, Fla., home immediately and would report to camp in a couple of days.

Feeney told newsmen he had received a letter from Marichal in the Dominican Republic expressing dissatisfaction with the 1966 proposal. Juan received a reported boost of $20,000 to $60,000 last year after winning 25 games in '63 and 21 in '64 and apparently wants another big boost this time after notching the 22 last year.

Cazzie Heads All-America

Independent Journal Sports

36 Tues., Mar. 1, 1966

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP) — Cazzie Russell, a 6-foot-5 whiz from Michigan, became a two-time All-America today with the announcement of the 1966 college basketball All-America by Associated Press.

Joining Classy Cazzie on the first team are Clyde Lee, the 6-9 dandy from Vanderbilt, 6-4 Dave Schellhase from Purdue, 6-1 Louie Dampier from Kentucky and 6-3 Dave Bing from Syracuse. All are seniors except Dampier, a junior.

Russell dominated the voting by 214 sports writers and broadcasters from throughout the country. The Michigan ace collected 1,036 points on the basis of five points for a first team vote and two for the second team.

Lee polled 808 points, Schellhase 613, Dampier 541 and Bing 527. Russell was named on the first team by 206 voters, Lee by 146, Dampier 91, Schellhase and Bing 87 each.

Russell, a native of Chicago, has been a prime factor in keeping Michigan among the country's basketball powers the last three years.

Lee, who moved up from the 1965 second team, has been the key factor in Vanderbilt's drive to a spot in The Associated Press' top ten rankings this year. His home town is Nashville.

Schellhase, who also moved up from the 1965 second team, is the country's leading major college scorer. A native of Evansville, Ind., the Purdue ace recently set a Big Ten single game scoring record with 57 points against Michigan.

Coach Adolph Rupp credits Dampier with being the driving force behind Kentucky's rise to the nation's top-ranked power and sparkplug of its sweep through 23 straight opponents in an undefeated season. Dampier is from Indianapolis.

Bing, who hails from Washington, D.C. is the nation's third highest scorer and sparked Syracuse to a berth in the NCAA championship tournament. He also leads the Orangemen in assists and rebounds.

First Team

WARRIORS' SUPER ROOK EYES SCORING RECORD

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rick Barry should become the highest scoring rookie forward in National Basketball Assn. history tonight when his San Francisco Warriors battle the Knickerbockers at New York.

Tabbed "Super Rook" by his fellow Warriors, the 6-foot 7-inch All American from Miami of Florida has scored 1,739 points in 69 games and needs only four to break the rookie record for forwards by Elgin Baylor of the Lakers during the 1958-59 season at Minneapolis.

If he can average 23.5 points per game for the final 11 games, Barry can become the fourth man to top 2,000 during a rookie year.

Walt Bellamy had 2,495 for his first season, Oscar Robertson 2,165 and Wilt Chamberlain 2,007. Bellamy and Chamberlain are centers, Robertson a backcourt star.

When somebody told Barry after Saturday night's game that he needed only four points for a record, he asked:

"What record?" It came as a surprise to him.

The slim Warrior, who has to battle to keep his weight above 200 pounds, seems a cinch for "Rookie of the Year" honors. He could be the first rookie since Robertson in 1960-61 to be named to the league's all-star five.

In the last 16 games, as San Francisco fights for a play-off spot, he has scored 21 or more points — 30 or more in 14 of them. During the span he topped 40 on three occasions and averaged 33.4. His season's top of 57, against the Knicks in New York, came earlier in the campaign.

Barry doesn't impress himself, saying, "I'm fortunate to be scoring, but I'm not pleased with my shooting. I still miss too many from outside."

He plans to practice shooting a lot during the off-season.

Fans know from Barry's grimacing when he isn't happy with himself and he's become a favorite because of his all-out efforts.

Rick started the season as a regular and Coach Alex Hannum said, "We're putting a lot of pressure on him."

On the second swing around the loop, opposing defenses seemed to have Barry's number, but he reacted quickly and since then has virtually been unstoppable.

"I learned to work in getting free for a shot," he explained. "You have to use the screens and picks more than in college. But perhaps the biggest thing was getting confidence in myself so I could feel loose and quit pressing."

Barry wears Willie Mays' No. 24 from choice. As a youngster, he once ran into centerfield at the Polo Grounds to shake the hand of his baseball hero.

Strangely, as yet the two have yet to meet.

Oregon St. Clinches Title Tie

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Oregon State Beavers need only one victory to take the Pacific Athletic Conference basketball title from two-time defending NCAA champion UCLA.

The Beavers earned at least a tie last night by beating Washington 54-43 and boosting their PAC record to 10-2.

In another PAC contest, Washington State beat Oregon 88-83.

Oregon provides the opposition this weekend in the Beavers' last two games. UCLA, PAC champs the last three years, must not only beat Southern California twice this weekend, but the Beavers must lose both for the Bruins (7-4) to gain a tie.

It took a while for OSU to solve Washington's 6-foot-10 Gordy Harris. But the nation's No. 1 defensive team held the Huskies to 17 points in the second half.

Washington led 26-25 at half with Harris scoring 15 points. He was stopped with six in the second half and the Huskies didn't score for 5½ minutes at one point.

This is Oregon State's second year in the PAC after playing five years as an independent. The Beavers shared the old Pacific Coast Conference title in 1957-58, but lost a playoff for the right to go into the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. regionals.

Cal Gets A New Grid Assistant

BERKELEY (AP) — Joe Marvin, offensive backfield coach at Washington State the past two seasons, was named assistant football coach at the University of California Friday.

Marvin will fill one of two vacancies which occurred recently when two UC coaches went to other universities.

Marvin, 37, a tailback at UCLA under the late coach Red Sanders, played one year of professional football with the Washington Redskins.

Oakland Games For Warriors

Owner Franklin Mieuli plans to have his San Francisco Warriors play "nine or ten" games the next National Basketball Assn. season in the 15,000-seat Oakland Coliseum Arena, now under construction.

"But that does not mean we'll play any fewer in San Francisco than we are this season," Mieuli said yesterday. "We play 24 of our 40 home games at Civic Auditorium this year, not from choice, but because we couldn't get more dates."

A private report made recently said San Francisco could not retain the Warriors because the 7,500-seat Civic Auditorium was too small and didn't have enough parking. The report was released soon after San Francisco lost a National Hockey League franchise to the new Oakland Arena.

"We play four games in Oakland Auditorium this season," said Mieuli. "Next year, if the schedule works out and the dates are available, I'd like to play at least one game against each of the other teams in the league in the coliseum."

(This would mean at least nine games because of the recent NBA expansion. However, the San Francisco Seals of the Western Hockey League also play next season in the new arena as the California Seals and dates could conflict.)

"In this way," continued Mieuli, "we could eliminate some of the faraway sites we've been using for lack of a local auditorium. We've had to shift some of our home games to such places as Las Vegas, Miami, Memphis, Phoenix, Seattle and Eugene, Ore., as well as Oakland, San Jose and Sacramento."

Mieuli pointed out that the Los Angeles Lakers are the only NBA team to play all home games in its home court.

"That's because they are averaging 10,000 attendance in the Sports Arena," Mieuli said. "If we could do that, we'd stay at home, too. But our attendance for all series this year is up over last season."

Raiders Hire Promotions Man

OAKLAND (AP) — Bob Halford, 34, former public relations director for the University of Texas and the Kansas City Chiefs, has joined the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League as director of promotions.

Halford's duties will include work in the Raiders' game program and merchandising products and in season ticket sales.

Ol' Diz Dean Fired From TV Job And He's Plenty Miffed

WIGGINS, Miss. (AP) — It appears that the colorful, sometime ungrammatical voice of Dizzy Dean will not be heard this summer on national television with play- by-play accounts of baseball games interspersed with reminiscing and witticisms.

Dean is quite unhappy about what he calls "a nice way of telling me I was fired."

"I'll do everything possible to get back on the air," said Dean last night.

Dean said the New York advertising agency for Falstaff Brewing Co., one of the sponsors of the Baseball Game of the Week telecasts, "asked for me to retire."

Dean and Pee Wee Reese did the play-by-play and color commentary for CBS-TV for several years on the weekend television games.

Now NBC has the exclusive right to televise the game of the week as well as the World Series and the All-Star game (after paying $30.9 million for a three-year contract).

Dean says Falstaff will continue as one of the sponsors but that he had apparently been frozen out.

Ole Diz said he "vigorously refused" when the advertising agency suggested that he announce his retirement.

"They wanted me to say I was retiring, but they can't tell me I'm going to retire," said Dean. "I'm not. They've got no right to put words in my mouth."

"I want it clear that it wasn't NBC that asked me to retire," said Dean.

But apparently he wants to talk to NBC about the situation, anyway.

"I've been trying to get hold of NBC since Saturday, but I can't locate anybody to talk to me, and they won't return my calls."

NBC announced the signing last week of Curt Gowdy, a veteran commentator, to handle the play-by-play on the Game of the Week.

A network spokesman said last night there would be no immediate comment on Dean's statement.

Dean said he understood Reese was interviewed yesterday as a possible co-worker with Gowdy and that the network was also trying to land Ted Williams as a commentator.

Dean, now 55, was a pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals before World War II in the era when the Cards were dubbed the Gashouse Gang.

His last full year was 1940 although he pitched one game each in 1941 and 1947. He posted a 150-83 career record.

Dean, a member of the Baseball Hall of Fame, has been broadcasting for more than 20 years.

Boxing May Aid In War Effort

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Boxing champions of the present and the past can help their nation and their sport by visiting with the armed forces in Viet Nam, says Sol Silverman.

The chairman of the California governor's committee on boxing safeguards proposed such visits today to boost the morale of the United States fighting forces.

In making his proposal, Silverman termed the action of current heavyweight champion Cassius Clay "so repugnant and reprehensible that it gives a black eye to boxing and robs the sport of almost its last vestige of popularity and prestige."

He says Clay certainly isn't typical of boxing's champions and feels all would be willing to do their part if given the opportunity.

Silverman proposes the government underwrite expenses for those who cannot pay their own and points out there are more than 100 champions and ex-champions in the United States.

"I talked with Fred Apostoli and Willie Ritchie, both former champions, and they were enthusiastic about such a project," Silverman declared.

Ritchie, ex-lightweight king, served as a boxing instructor for the Army during World War I and Apostoli, who once shared the middle-weight crown, was in the Navy during World War II.

Two Top Fights Set For Bay Area Rings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two 10-round fights have been scheduled for this month in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Promoter Benny Ford announced yesterday he's matched heavyweights Elmer Rush of San Francisco and Billy Daniels of New York for Wednesday, March 23 at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

Meanwhile, promoter Don Chargin said he's sending fifth-ranked middleweight Jimmy Lester of San Francisco against Artisto Chavarria of Los Mochis, Mexico, Friday, March 11 at Oakland Auditorium.

Lester was to have met the Hurricane Kid March 8 in San Francisco. But the Kid's infant son needed medical treatment in Honolulu and the fight was postponed.

Should Daniels be stopped this Thursday in Los Angeles by Amos Lincoln, the Rush bout would have to be postponed until April 3 or thereafter.

The California Athletic Commission forbids boxers who don't go the distance to fight for 30 days following the bout.

Daniels' last fight was a technical decision loss in San Francisco to sixth - ranked heavy Thad Spencer. Daniels had knocked Spencer down for the first time in the San Francisco boxer's career.

But he was behind on points in the fifth round when Spencer suffered a cut eye as a result of a head butt, giving Spencer the fight under Athletic Commission rules.

Seals Hit The Road

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — The San Francisco Seals take their fading Western Hockey League playoff hopes into Vancouver tonight for a game against the same Canucks they've beaten their last two meetings.

The Seals repose in last place, three points behind Los Angeles and 11 points behind the fourth-place Seattle Totems. To gain the playoffs, the Seals must get in front of Seattle before the season ends 20 games from now.

This short road trip ends Wednesday against Victoria. The Seals then return home for four contests. Of the 20 final games, 11 are in the Seals' Cow Palace home.

Market Dives; Glamour Issues Beaten Badly

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a bad beating today, closing sharply lower in heavy trading.

It as far and away the orst loss of 1966 as glamour stocks were clobered by profit taking.

Such high-priced issues as IBM and Fairchild Camera were off between 12 and 16 points.

Many of the aerospace, electronics, airplane and other glamour stocks took a pounding.

The market as mixed at the start, turned strong and then gradually disintegrated under waves of profit taking.

Volume for the day was estimated at 10 million shares compared with 9.92 million yesterday.

The industrials were down substantially on average. Early strength was shown by such recent leaders as aerospace defense issues, color televisions, other electronics and specially situated stocks but many of these backed away decisively as the session wore on.

Fairchild Camera plummeted 11 or more. Magnavox and Sunshine Mining lost 3, Collins Radio 3, Missouri Pacific "A" 4, IBM 6, Xerox (ex-dividend) and Zenith 1.

Johnson and Johnson dropped 8, U.S. Rubber, Control Data, Texas Gulf Sulphur, SCM Corp., Delta Airlines and Chrysler about 1 each.

Some airlines and aerospace issues rebounded as averages sank.

United Air Lines rose 2. Up a point or more were Eastern Air Lines, Pan American World Airways, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft.

General Motors, U.S. Steel and Standard Oil (New Jersey) were about unchanged. Du Pont gained a fraction.

Losses of a point or more were shown by Kennecott, Anaconda and American Smelting amid strike news from the copper industry.

Consolidated Laundries was up 7 on news of a tender offer to Dunhill, which traded about unchanged.

Raytheon, unchanged, looked like the most active stock.

Standard Oil of California lost 2 at 73½ on 58,500 shares. Glidden declined ¾ to 23⅞ on 37,000 shares.

Decisions Are Coming On Economy Control

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — How far the government should go in guiding wages, prices, money and credit may come to a showdown this month.

The administration's guidelines have been challenged by some labor leaders, criticized by some corporate executives, and declared inadequate by some bankers.

President Johnson has taken two steps which should result in either fresh approaches to the problem of inflation or in a clearer view of just where the government stands.

First, the President has asked his top department heads and advisers to outline definite plans for combatting, or warding off, inflation. The question still to be answered is whether the plans will be for immediate action or of a standby nature.

Second, the President has named to the Federal Reserve Board an economist he calls a moderate. The board has been split fairly evenly between conservatives and liberals in tackling the problem of easy money vs. tight money. The moderate, Andrew F. Brimmer, would succeed C. Canby Balderston, a conservative. President Johnson himself has been regarded as a liberal or easy money man, while the board chairman, William McChesney Martin, usually is on the more conservative side.

Just how Brimmer will vote on the question of tightening money and credit further if inflationary drives increase may not be known for awhile. But the day of decision can't be too far off, in the view of many bankers.

The reaction of labor, business and the financial community to any tightening of the guidelines might be one of resentment and resistance. It depends on how the new plan is proposed and how it is administered.

The public, too, will have a stake in the outcome. That's because plans to fight inflation will probably involve taxes and the cost of borrowing money and the returns for lending it.

Labor thinks any new taxes should be aimed at corporate profits. Management thinks this would kill the goose that is laying the golden egg of economic expansion: Without a chance for profits there'd be little incentive to build new plants, buy new equipment, hire more workmen.

All taxpayers will be unhappy if income tax rates are raised again, if more excise taxes are restored, if the paycheck is cut by larger withholdings.

But as March starts, labor, business, and bankers seem to be pretty much as loggerheads with the government's policy of guidelines on wages, prices and money policies. A showdown, if in the making, would at least clear the air of uncertainties which today are befogging the stock market and business planning.

GE World Operations Set Records

NEW YORK — General Electric Co.s' 1965 worldwide operations reached record levels in sales, employment, plant investment, and wages and benefits.

On the company's newly adopted worldwide consolidated basis, 1965 sales amounted to $6,214,000,000, a gain of 14 per cent over consolidated sales in 1964 of $5,450,000,000.

Consolidated net earnings were $355 million, or $3.90 a share, an increase of 21 per cent over comparable 1964 earnings of $294 million, or $3.24 a share. This is equivalent to 5.7 per cent of sales, compared to 5.4 per cent in 1964.

The company has for the first time consolidated its reporting of results, combining its U.S. and Canadian operations and overseas manufacturing and marketing subsidiaries for which the company has management responsibility.

The change in the basis of consolidation reduced reported 1965 net earnings by approximately $25.8 million or 28 cents a share.

Strong sales gains were shown by all four of the company's main product areas in 1965, officials said.

Sales of industrial components and materials worldwide rose 16 per cent, heavy capital goods sales increased 15 per cent, consumer goods businesses had a 12 per cent increase, aerospace and defense sales reversed their declines of recent years, rising 13 per cent.

Blithedale Mobile Due New Owners

Barnes and Menzio will take over the Mobil Service Station at 630 East Blithedale Avenue in Mill Valley tomorrow from former owner William A. Eberhart of Mill Valley.

William Barnes of Novato and Philip Menzio of Petaluma will provide service including minor repairs, tune-up and brake work plus pick-up and delivery. They are leasing the station from Mobil Oil Co.

Eberhart will continue to run Eberhart Enterprises, which includes car and truck renting and leasing plus auto sales, on adjacent property facing Camino Alto.

Barnes, who has been in automotive business 12 years, worked the last three years as manager and mechanic for Terra Linda Union service. He lives at 5 Stacia Drive with his wife, Marjorie, and family.

Menzio has had nine years in service station work, last working for Greenbrae Union, Greenbrae. He lives with his wife, Jackie, in Petaluma.

More Buildings Are Going Up On Francisco Boulevard East

The continuing development trend on Francisco Boulevard East near the Bellam Boulevard junction will soon include another building to be erected by the Glenn-Lee Enterprises (Glenn Wentz and Lee Mosk).

These two already have one 1,400-square foot building almost completed at this point. Mosk will move his real estate office here from 1075 Francisco Boulevard. Also signed up for occupancy is a One-Hour Martinizing cleaning service of Richard M. Lewis of Tiburon.

But construction is also expected to get under way this month on a new structure more than 10 times that size. This will be located across the street and should be completed in May or June. Already signed up for occupancy here is A and H Auto Parts, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Flaum of Bel Marin Keys. The Flaums have been operating A and H at Geary Boulevard and Second Avenue in San Francisco for the past 23 years. Still undecided is whether the San Francisco store will be retained or not, but the Flaums will be able to give up commuting back and forth to the city every day.

They are taking about half of the building for their retail and wholesale auto parts business and will also have a machine shop here. Wentz and Mosk will lease out the rest of the space.

FRANK G. GOODALL of San Rafael has been appointed regional manager for the West Coast at McGraw Hill Book Co. and will work out of the new Novato facility into which the company moved last weekend. He joined McGraw Hill in 1964 as a salesman for the trade division. Previously he was sales manager for Lane Book Co. and before that a salesman for Prentice-Hall.

ROBERT B. VARNER of San Rafael, president of Varner-Ward Leasing Co., San Francisco, has been elected to the Young Presidents Organization, an educational association of young, successful chief executives who have become presidents of sizable companies before the age of 40. The group has an international membership of 2,100 such executives in more than 30 countries.

NEW CONTROLLER at GTI Components, San Rafael, a division of GTI Corp., is John J. Stockburger of Petaluma. He has held managerial positions in accounting and budget analysis for Huggins Laboratories, Varian Associates and Crown Zellerbach Corp. GTI Components is building a new plant in San Francisco Industrial Park, Petaluma, and expects to relocate there soon, abandoning the San Rafael location.

TWO MARIN RESIDENTS, William A. Cancilla of Corte Madera and Ron Wren of Lucas Valley, principals in the advertising firm of Cancilla, Wren and Knapp, Inc., San Francisco, will be account supervisor and account executive, respectively, for the Canadian Bank of Commerce account which the firm has recently acquired.

VINCENT McGUIRE of San Rafael, senior associate of James Cassou and Associates, reports that this company has been appointed manufacturers representative for the Sparton Manufacturing Co. line of marine supplies--horns, lights and safety equipment.

INTERESTING BOOKLET, "Modern Days of Marin," published by Marin County Savings and Loan Assn., San Rafael, commemorating its 80th anniversiary this year, has a good collection of aerial photos covering almost the entire county.

Stockholders Meeting Slated

The Bank of Marin will hold its annual stockholders meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the bank's main office at 836 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Shareholders will fix the number of directors to be elected and hold an election of directors for the 1966 term.

The meeting was postponed from the customary annual meeting period, the third Thursday of each January.

Ward Record

CHICAGO—Montgomery Ward today reported record sales for its 1965 52-week fiscal year ended Feb. 2 as $1,748,292,578, an increase of 3 per cent over sales of $1,697,390,884 for the company's 1964-53-week fiscal year. For comparable 42-week periods, the sales increase was 4.4 per cent.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

It's Wise To Refuse A Trick Even With Double Stoppers

As an experienced player, you are willing to refuse a trick when you have only one sure stopper in the enemy's long suit.

The idea of refusing a trick when you have two sure stoppers may, however, seem too much of a good thing.

If so, take a good look at today's hand.

Opening lead — ♠ 5

South cannot afford to win the first trick when East puts up the jack of spades.

If South does win the first spade, East will take the first club and return a spade to set up West's suit.

West will gain the lead with the king of clubs in time to defeat the contract with the rest of the spades.

EAST SEES LIGHT

When South refuses the first spade trick, East sees that there is no great future in the spades.

The clever fellow therefore shifts to the queen of hearts.

South must once more refuse the trick.

If South does take the first heart, West will win the first club trick and lead his other heart to set up East's suit.

West will get in with the ace of clubs in time to defeat the contract with the rest of the hearts.

NOW HELPLESS

After South has held up in both spades and hearts, the defenders are helpless.

Whether East continues hearts or shifts back to spades, declarer will make his contract by winning and leading a club.

If East has continued hearts, he cannot afford to win the first club since he will then have no entry to the hearts.

But if West wins the first club he is out of hearts and cannot do his cause any good.

EITHER WAY

The same thing is true if East has switched back to spades at the third trick.

If East wins the first club he cannot lead another spade, so South is safe.

And if West wins the first club he can set up his spades but can never get back to cash them.

Either way, the defenders get one spade, one heart and two clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ Q 10 7 5 2
◇ 8 5 4
♣ K 4 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

This weak raise shows trump support with about 6 to 10 points, counting distribution as well as high cards.

Do not raise to four spades with your terrible distribution just because you have such good trump support.

Today is Tuesday, Mar. 1, the 60th day of 1966 with 305 to follow.

The moon is between is first quarter and full phase; the morning star is Venus; the evening stars are Jupiter and Mercury.

British actor David Niven was born on this day in 1910.

On this day in history:

In 1781, a civil rights act provided for Negroes to serve on juries and guaranteed them equal rights in public places.

In 1932, the 20-month-old son of Col. Charles Lindbergh was kidnaped from his bed near Hopewell, N.J. The body was found May 12, 1932 and Bruno Hauptmann was electrocuted for the crime on April 3.1936.

In 1962, all 95 persons aboard an American Airlines plane were killed after a New York City takeoff. In 1964, two years later to the day, 85 persons died in a plane crash in a Lake Tahoe, Calif., storm.

A Thought for the Day — Italian poet Dante said: "There is no greater pain than to recall a happy time in wretchedness."

LINDA STORHAUG
In Africa, a white school

Larkspur Family Returns From African Mission Work

By LAVERNE CONWAY
Redwood High School

Armed warriors, lions, and volcanoes were common sights for Redwood High School senior Linda Storhaug this past year.

Linda, her sister, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Storhaug of 99 Dartmouth Drive, Larkspur, have returned from missionary work with the Lutheran Church in Arusha, Tanganyika.

Linda attended a boarding school which had two Africans in attendance. When questioned about segregation in the schools, she defended it, explaining that the Africans are required to take different courses than those offered in the white schools. "The black-white relationship in general was much better than here," she declared.

During her stay Linda traveled extensively and enjoyed seeing game reserves, native villages, and Nasai homes which are plastered with cow dung.

Linda and her family were highly impressed with the work being done by the Peace Corps and other organizations.

Publication Of Rolls Might Measure Assessor's Job

Two new bills in the State Assembly would provide that county assessors publish county assessment rolls in local newspapers.

We are in hearty agreement with the concept embodied in both bills—giving the taxpaying public a frank and full disclosure of how their properties and those of their neighbors are assessed.

AB 43, by Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego, requires that county assessors publish the property assessment lists, taking a batch each year so that the entire county can be covered within five years.

AB 48, by Assemblyman William E. Dannemeyer, D-Fullerton, differs only in that publication would be permissive, not mandatory. The language of the Dannemeyer bill says the assessor, with the approval of the board of supervisors, "may" have the assessment lists published.

We have some reservations on the mandatory requirement under AB 43, but fully support the aims of both pieces of legislation. In either case, names of property owners should be published; parcel numbers alone would have little meaning.

The mechanics of implementing the provisions of these bills will need a thorough review by experts in taxation and assessment procedures. At the same time, the merits of the permissive vs. the mandatory bill can be thrashed out, although, as we said before, the permissive legislation would seem preferable because it gives the local people and their elective representatives some discretion.

Publishing assessment rolls en masse will serve several useful purposes.

Each taxpayer will be intelligently informed, not only of his own assessments but also how the assessment on his property compares with those of his neighbors and with comparable properties in other parts of the county.

Publication of assessment information is a sure means of discouraging and eliminating favoritism and bribes such as those exposed during last year's statewide assessment scandals.

The Marin County assessor has always applied a uniform assessment ratio to market value in determining assessed value. In counties where the assessment ratio has not always been uniform, the publication of assessment rolls will halt the practice of some assessors of arbitrarily selecting a lower ratio for favored property owners.

Any attempt at unfair assessments or undue leniency toward one taxpayer or another will be quickly exposed.

Open publication cannot help but result in more fair and equitable assessment practices.

Both Assemblymen Dannemeyer and Barnes are to be commended for sponsoring legislation that would turn the spotlight of public scrutiny on an area which has been tainted with abuses and shady practices.

The Sap Rises

When the sap rises in the spring, it brings with it the opening of blossoms and leaf buds. This is elementary. But with such a diversity of plants and trees as we have here in Marin County, our botany is not elementary, it is highly complex.

In the case of a number of Bay Area trees, such as, the acacia, the live oak and the beautiful, leathery-leafed southern magnolia, the sap circulates the year around.

In fact, our magnolia is so sappy, it thinks it is May and is starting to bloom now. And the crazy acacia annually spreads its yellow clusters of blossoms above the frosty white earth.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

One Of Governor's Biggest Jobs Is To Watch Interest Conflict

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The problem of "conflict-of-interest" for government personnel is one of the biggest administrators encounter. So far, the problem has been insolvable, as there is much divergence of opinion on the fine line that separates the moral from the immoral phases that crop up from time to time.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, however, has been concerned with conflict of interest ever since his first inauguration. He has been successful in maintaining a clean administration and, as he says, "California has a national reputation for clean government and has been free of any conflict of interest scandals for many years."

HOWEVER, like liberty, eternal vigilance is the price administrators have to pay for maintaining a good reputation and Brown is no exception. He has, to maintain this vigilance, and perhaps extend it, issued an executive order establishing a new governor's code of ethical standards.

In addition, he appointed three outstanding attorneys, Dean Bayless Manning, Stanford law school; Professor Preble Stolz, Boalt Hall, and Daniel Frost, Los Angeles, to make a detailed study of conflict of interest problems and recommend legislation.

The legislation no doubt will refer to legislators themselves as the governor pointed out the constitutional revision commission has recommended an amendment permitting legislators to fix their own salaries.

"There are serious problems," the governor said, "raised in a legislature whose members must have an outside source of income because of low legislative salaries.

"There is much support for salary levels high enough to permit senators and assemblymen to devote full time to their state responsibilities. I believe any such increase should be accompanied by changes in the laws governing the conduct of legislators in private ventures which might place them in conflict with their official duties."

THE LINE of distinction between conflict of interest and proper activities becomes finer where legislators are concerned. Obviously, legislators have to make a living, the same as anyone else. Very few have been rich enough to finance terms in the Senate and Assembly without working in private enterprise of some kind.

Attorneys, for instance, who are in the Legislature not only make the laws of the state, but use them in the courts in application on cases they handle for private clients. Many other professions are involved in the same situation. But the question is where does conflict start?

WHEN AND IF the electorate votes a full-time Legislature with sufficient pay to make legislation a full-time job, there is a possibility there could be drastic reductions in situations which lend themselves to conflict. This remains to be seen, but the possibility, looking at it from a practical matter, appears to be somewhat remote.

Consequently, for some years to come, at least until voters take some cognizance of the problem, it will be up to individual legislators to govern their conduct to comply with generally accepted practices in relation to conflict of interest.

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi

"It's a nagging thought. While we're saving the world, life is passing us by!"

"And, unfortunately it could get so bad that ALL the schools in Marin would have to close!"

Yachtsman Praises Aerial Photograph

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Permit me to compliment your newspaper and photographer Bob Hax on the nice aerial view entitled "Island City and Its Mainland Sister" appearing in the Feb. 22 edition.

I happen to be a member of San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere, and of course I find my power cruiser moored in the Yacht Harbor in this picture.

I wonder if it would be possible to secure a contact print of this view, for quite often in my travels I would like to show my friends what a beautiful yacht harbor we have at Belvedere/Tiburon.

Parking Ban's Only Excuse Is Income

Editor, Independent-Journal:

San Anselmo's lusterless City Council reaffirmed on Feb. 21 its support of the car curfew ordinance. In San Anselmo it is illegal to park on the streets for more than a half hour between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m.

During the many years that this ordinance has been in effect the vehicle population has grown. Offstreet night parking is less available. Rigid enforcement of the night parking ordinance has meant that more and more vehicles wind up at night on pedestrian pathways and on sidewalks. This is in violation of State law that prohibits sidewalk parking.

The pathway parked vehicles present a real hazard to the elderly and the blind who run into them. Fortunately for the motorist, but unfortunately for the pedestrian, the sidewalk parking law is not enforced in San Anselmo. One wonders why sidewalks and foot paths could not be reserved for the pedestrian, and the streets for the motor vehicles? Doesn't this make more sense?

I take issue with San Anselmo Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro, who said as reported in the I.J. on Feb. 22 "I think this night parking law protects all the citizens: It has been on the books 20 years; there must be a good reason for it." There is: revenue. There is none other.

Covered Creek Held Taxpayers' Folly

Editor, Independent-Journal:

For the information of those concerned re: The decking of Corte Madera Creek — I certainly back up 100 per cent Donald Frost's rejection of this plan as impractical and prohibitive in cost. Some years back we had a "Doodle Bug," —dredge to you—dredge the canal to College Avenue bridge in Kentfield. This worked out fine for a while until the channel started filling up again, and as there has been no maintenance on it, it has caused these disastrous floods. This will continue more so in the future as more construction takes place. . . .

There has to be constant maintenance on such a development, so how in the world will they be able to maintain and clean out the creek with a 60 foot road over it? Rip it up every few years to let a dredge in, cut holes in the road every few feet to let a clamshell lower its buckets, or maybe send a rowboat up the creek with a bucket and scoop it out? It would take only one small tree to block the channel and back up the debris again and over the period of time would lift the road up and float it down to Larkspur. They would name it "Taxpayers Folly" highway.

Gentlemen of the Board of Supervisors, don't shove us up the creek without a paddle again. Reject this proposal as most impractical and costly. Remember when the boats used to use the creek and look at it now; you can't float Junior's toy boat on it at low tide.

I have had considerable experience as construction inspector on waterfront developments and water canals for the government and know these canals require maintenance and cleaning out. It is too impractical and costly to cover it over and still maintain it.

Support Public Works Director Donald Frost and once and for all eliminate this "Taxpayers Folly" highway and don't float our money down the creek. . . .

GEORGE FOSSEY

No Harm In Racing

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In regard to your editorial about night racing posing the same evils as lotteries, I see no wrong in either, if they are handled right. The State of New Hampshire has a lottery and it seems to be doing all right. Some states also have night racing.

For years the State of Nevada has been luring people from this state to gamble, and they respond like ants to syrup. Dozens of chartered busses leave California day and night for the casinos in Reno and Stateline. Chartered planes also leave for Reno and Las Vegas.

Even when the people are in Nevada they bet on California races, but the money stays in Nevada.

California could well use the money that leaves this state. With taxes rising each year on property, etc., this state could use the added revenue. Night harness racing would keep the money here instead of its being gambled elsewhere.

About 10 years ago Post 58 Veterans of Foreign Wars sponsored, along with Congressman Fina of New York, a bill to have a national lottery with the proceeds to support the veterans hospitals. Congress turned it down.

There are millions of Irish sweepstake tickets sold in this country yearly and the newspapers print the numbers of the winners. No one says anything about that.

As for the writer from the San Francisco newspaper, he doesn't say anything about Nevada casinos and all the come-on advertising they print to get the people there. They get paid for advertising it.

With the thousands of people who each week leave this state to gamble, I sure don't see any harm in night harness racing.

MR. AND MRS. Hubbard's 16-year-old daughter was out at her first dinner dance, and when her escort hadn't brought her home by 11 p.m., they were frantic. They knew the dance was being hosted by a lady named Jones, but there were 14 Joneses listed in the phone book so they scarcely knew where to begin. They chose one Jones at random and dialed the number. A lady answered. "Pardon me," said Mrs. Hubbard, "but might you be the Mrs. Jones who is giving a party this evening for teen-agers?" "I am not," was the decisive reply. "I am the Mrs. Jones who was taking a bath two flights up when you called."

A PROUD Westchester father got his come-uppance from his adored five-year-old daughter the other morning. He stopped her on her way to kindergarten to purr, "My, that's a pretty dress you're wearing! Do all the other kids wear pretty dresses, too?" She answered, "Not all, Daddy. Only the girls."

DAFFYNITIONS:

BRAT—A child who acts like your own, but belongs to a neighbor.

BULLDOZING — Falling asleep during a political speech.

IMPUDENCE — The quality that enables a man sitting in a crowded bus to flirt with a girl who is standing.

LEISURE TIME — When your wife can't find you.

MIDDLE AGE — The time when a man finally admits that the only way he still gets a gleam in his eye is when the sun hits his bifocals.

Hanoi Hierarchy Shows Few Signs Of Softening Position

By SPENCER DAVIS
(James Marlow is ill.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist North Viet Nam evidently has had its own closed-circuit version of the U.S. policy debate on the course of the Vietnamese war. The hardliners in Hanoi who refuse negotiations appear firmly in control.

EXPERT ANALYSTS say they cannot tell if there is any real split within the government of 76-year-old President Ho Chi Minh that goes beyond immediate tactics.

But there is no doubt of the stern public rebuke administered earlier this month by party theoretician Le Duc Tho to what he called "a small number of comrades who have developed erroneous thoughts and views.

"They entertain subjectivism and pacifism," complained Tho.

"They display pessimism and fail to realize clearly the deceptive peace negotiation plot of the enemy."

WHILE STRIKING out at the doubters and waverers, Le Duc Tho mentioned no names. Experts believe these are at least three or four in the top ranks of Hanoi's hierarchy and assume that there may be 30 or 40 more scattered through the second echelon of leaders.

It is known here that Alexander Shelepin, the secretary of the powerful Soviet Central Committee, left Hanoi in mid-January after a visit without feeling there was any room for the moderates.

It is also known here that at no time during or since the 37-day pause in U.S. bombing of North Vietnamese targets has the North Vietnamese leadership shown any difference in approach that might encourage negotiations.

Inside Ho's politburo, the pro-Chinese element is believed led by Truonk Chinh, 58. He is the militant chief ideologist of the Communist party.

He played a leading role in establishing the revolutionary government and was a member of the North Vietnamese delegation to the 1954 Geneva conference. Ten years ago he fell into disgrace for his handling of a land reform program but reappeared after a short eclipse of two years.

RANKING SECOND to Ho in the party hierarchy is Le Duan, 58, the first secretary of the central committee. He is said to be pro-Soviet rather than pro-Chinese. Nevertheless he is one of the driving forces behind the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

Le Duan and Le Duc Tho have been bitter rivals for more than a decade. They headed competing Communist groups in South Viet Nam during the war that preceded the 1954 Geneva agreement.

Also counted in the pro-Soviet team is Prime Minister Van Dong, 58. He headed North Viet Nam's delegations to the Geneva conferences in 1954 and 1962. He has been premier and foreign minister.

Le Duc Tho's criticism of foreign policy apparently was aimed at Dong.

Among the generals, Gen. Vo Vguyen Giap, who defeated the French in the 1954 battle of Dien Bien Phu, is a hardliner who is believed to stand nearer to Moscow than Peking.

THE TOP general among the pro-Chinese group is Gen. Nguyen Chi Thanh, considered a close collaborator with Truong Chinh. Ho has made frequent trips to both Moscow and Peking in his efforts to steer a middle course, knowing his regime depends on continued aid from both Communist giants.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

LBJ Weighs Callup, New Tax, Draft Hike

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson is nearing decision on three major Viet Nam war problems that will directly affect every man, woman and child on the home front.

To meet Gen. William Westmoreland's request for 50,000 additional troops by mid-May, the President is pondering the following:

Further increase of the monthly draft quota, activation of certain National Guard and reserve units with specialized skills—particularly in communications, and another tax boost.

THE UNANNOUNCED decision to send 50,000 more troops to Viet Nam by mid-May was made at the recent Hawaii conference. General Westmoreland held they were necessary to execute his approved overall battle strategy of "progressively opening up the land lines of comunication, the roads and ultimately the railroads throughout South Viet Nam."

Two pressing factors are behind the strong likelihood of higher monthly draft quotas:

Need for replacements for troops being rotated from Viet Nam; and restoring the combat effectiveness of strategic units in the U.S. and abroad that have been stripped of forces for Viet Nam. Both problems are increasingly urgent.

ALREADY the President has tentatively approved an April draft of around 40,000. Subsequent drafts of 50,000 are likely. However, continuance of the increased number of Marine Corps volunteers may hold down the monthly quota.

The March draft is 32,900—27,900 for the Army; 5,000 for the Marines.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara is advising the President to delay activation of selected National Guard and reserve units until June—when his plan for a partial merger of the two forces goes into effect.

ON THE TAX ISSUE, Treasury Secretary Fowler is under instructions to make an immediate study of the amount of revenue that could be obtained from an excess profits tax modeled after the one in effect in World War II. This compilation will be in the President's hands shortly.

At the Honolulu conference, General Westmoreland stated that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces are in the process of "regrouping, re-equipping and retraining in a network of secret bases" in South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia for a massive spring offensive.

The U.S. battle commander estimated enemy strength as follows: 77,000 regular North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops; 100,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese guerrillas; 17,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong supply and support troops.

A PENTAGON memorandum outlines Westmoreland's basic strategy to meet the anticipated Red spring offensive:

"U.S. and South Vietnamese forces plan to defend the major centers of population, including the cities, the provincial towns and the district towns. U.S. and South Vietnamese forces plan to progressively open up the land lines of communication, the roads and ultimately the railroads.

"These forces will secure the U.S. base complexes where troops are stationed . . It is also planned to maintain a major share of our forces in a mobile configuration to take advantage of oportunities to fight and destroy the enemy, with emphasis on enemy main units.

"It is also planned to continue and intensify the air campaign to the North."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Tomales Area Fast Becoming A True Geographical Center

In the history of this country, too often we have tired of having boundaries along their natural lines, and just drawn straight lines for boundaries.

Many times, these have no reason, except that, we suspect, the early map makers were tired of trying to establish the natural boundaries of an area.

One of the most natural boundaries in the world was that between California and Nevada. It should have been the crest of the Sierra, but no, it is some imaginary line, drawn God knows why at its present location.

THERE ARE MANY other examples of such ridiculous boundaries — such as the eastern part of the boundary between Oregon and Washington. It should have followed the Columbia and Snake Rivers, but instead, it takes off across country in a straight line to join the Salmon River farther east. One county in Arizona is separated by the Grand Canyon and people living on one side of the canyon must drive 250 miles around the canyon to their county seat.

The same thing applies to Marin County's northern boundary. Geographically and economically, part of Marin County belongs in Sonoma County and part of Sonoma County belongs in Marin County.

THE SAME THING holds true for the school districts in the area. It is certain that Laguna and Union school districts actually beyong to Petaluma. The students from these small schools naturally gravitate to Petaluma to go to high school.

However, farther west in the area, the reverse is true and the districts are joining with the larger districts in Marin County.

Tomales High School serves not only West Marin districts, but also districts in southwest Sonoma County. One large unification of all the districts in this high school district narrowly failed because one district voted against it.

HERE AGAIN, the natural area for West Marin might be with the larger district to the east, which in this case would be the Tamalpais High School District.

But to the north, the southern part of Sonoma County is moving toward Tomales. The Bloomfield district will annex to the Tomales Elementary District on July 1. On April 19, the American Valley, which takes in the town of Valley Ford, will vote on annexing to the Tomales Elementary District. The Tomales district already takes the upper grade students from this school.

THE TOMALES Elementary School District is growing both in the number of students and the assessed valuation. Along with this is the growing quality of education. The school now operates eight grades and has tentative plans for starting a kindergarten next year. It opened a school library last week.

So with the rehabilitation of the buildings at Tomales High School progressing slowly, that town is getting to be the educational center for northwest Marin and southwest Sonoma counties.

The area is growing slowly and if it ever gets a good road into it, will boom, not only because of the Point Reyes National Seashore but also because of its other natural recreational advantages with Tomales and Bodega Bays. Just count the people that have moved into the area and are living in trailers now because of a lack of adequate housing.

OTHER SIGNS that the area is getting ready to meet the future lie in the movement to get a good water system for a large portion of it by annexing to the North Marin County Water District.

So with the signs of immediate growth all over the area, we think it would be a shame to kill the beginnings of an educational center at Tomales and send these students on long bus rides to other areas to get the education which they will be offered nearer home.

It's just another case of map makers in some distant place wanting to make their work easier by drawing lines where they think they should be rather than taking natural geographic or economic areas into consideration.

20 YEARS AGO

City Engineer Raymond Boege told the San Rafael City Council that it would require more than $1 million to bring city streets up to "respectable" condition.

James Ricketts, general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, urged state legislators to improve Sears Point and Black Point Cutoff roads.

The Marin County Library opened a branch in Forest Knolls to serve the San Geronimo Valley.

MORRIE RYSKIND

Letters Reveal There Are Plenty Who Aren't Converted To Liberals

Thus a long-time critic of these essays on my return to the columnar wars: "Bless my soul! I thought all you troglodytes had either accepted the inevitable and entered the 20th Century or committed hari-kiri. How many of the 27 million Goldwaterites are left—twenty-seven?

"What price conservatism when the GOP hails as notable victories in New York and Philadelphia the election of two gentlemen who had ADA backing?"

WELL, MY FRIEND, if I can judge by some 4,000 letters received in the three months I was hors de combat, there are still plenty of unconverted who have not accepted the Liberal Revelations. True, at the moment their forces have been dispersed by the monolithic Juggernaut which rolls over the land and they are disheartened as any group compelled to live under the heel of an invader.

But this is an Old Guard that may die, but will never surrender its basic beliefs. Its members may be dragged into but will never willingly hit the trail that leads to the mirage of the Great Society, where everyone lives happily ever after—in chains.

THEY THINK it necessary to have a good—or at least sensible — society before you can have a great one. And they find ironic the grandiose promises pledging order and harmony for the entire world, delivered from a capital city whose own streets—as a policeman warned me—are unsafe after dark. They think the physician might well heal himself before making out prescriptions for the universe. And they are still primitive enough to rank safety above beautification.

They are bewildered when the same politico who reverently quotes JFK's famous phrase about not asking what your country can do for you but what you can do for your country then rushes to the hopper to throw in a giveaway bill that will milk the country dry.

AND THEY NOTE that, though the drawing-boards of the administration engineers are wet with tears for "the common man," the formulas that emerge are based on bloc votes and ignore the human equation.

Take one of the favorite nostrums, Urban Renewal. The very phrasing is enough to prove that Pennsylvania Avenue is far superior to Madison Avenue in salesmanship. It hints eloquently of tearing down ramshackle dwellings and turning them into havens of happiness for the underprivileged. Who can resist this appeal?

And, sure enough, the bulldozers do their work and up springs a handsome apartment house with a uniformed attendant. The eyesore that rang with the raucous shouts of children is gone. . . . And so are the poor, scattered to the four winds because they can no longer afford to live there.

ASK ANY DOCTOR in the vicinity—and he'll tell you, if you know him, about the hidden cost in human values: "It's prettier, it's quieter, I get more per visit—but it's no longer a neighborhood. Something wonderful, if intangible, has gone.

"Mrs. Jones has moved some four miles away, but she still comes to see me occasionally, though I can't do anything for what really ails her. She has been uprooted—and sometimes I think that's the worst illness of all.

"She spent some forty years here, and her neighbors were her friends. If she became ill, Mrs. Pastrano would fix some soup for her, and another neighbor's daughter would run errands for her. She knew the butcher, who saw to it that she got the cut of meat she wanted, the baker, the candlestick maker, the newsman and the cobbler, the mailman and all the rest. They were her friends, and if her check was late, nobody dunned her.

"AND NOW? She's in a new neighborhood, where she knows nobody. At her age, she can't make new friends very well. She's a lost soul, for the ties of 40 years have been severed —and there are thousands of Mrs. Joneses all over the city. What price progress?"

And there, I believe, is the key to the current conservative bewilderment. Like Mrs. Jones, we, too, have been stripped of our homes, as it were, and, more importantly, of our lares and penates, the friendly household deities on whose virtues and precepts we had relied so long. But now God is dead, self-reliance is out, and patriotism is a dirty word.

Marin Airman Earns Enlistment Bonus

Airman 1/c Stephan A. Margossian, son of Margo Margossian of 155 Canal Street, San Rafael, will receive a $3,456 bonus for re-enlisting in the Air Force.

Margossian re-enlisted at Goose Airbase in Canada. He will receive the bonus in four annual payments as part of the Defense Department's new "variable re-enlistment bonus" program, designed to encourage servicemen with special skills to pursue careers in the armed forces. He is an air armament mechanic.

Zone Change Request To Be Considered

The San Anselmo Planning Commission, meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in city hall, will hear a request from Tor and Ilda Nielsen for rezoning lot at 20 Tamalpais Avenue from commercial to multi-family. The lot is within the area designated as commercial under the city's revised downtown center plan, said City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell.

At the request of the city council, the commission will also again consider the city's ordinance which limits the height of front yard fences to four feet.

Belgium has raised the luxury tax from 16 to 20 per cent on such items as radios, perfumes, cameras and sporting goods.

Five of the six staff members pictured above have been the working core of STENSTROM BUICK for many years and with former owner, Mr. S. A. Stenstrom, formed the heart of our company. With the death of Mr. Stenstrom in January of 1963 —Mr. DON COLLINS moved up to the post of president and owner.

DON COLLINS has been with STENSTROM BUICK for over 15 years—joining the company in 1951 after having worked for the Buick Motor Division of General Motors Corporation prior to that date.

In his years with STENSTROM BUICK—Mr. COLLINS has served as office manager, used car sales manager, new car sales manager, general manager and now owner.

He's lived his entire life in Marin. He attended Fairfax Grammar School, San Rafael High School, College of Marin, and is a graduate of Stanford University. He served aboard a U.S. Navy aircraft carrier during World War II.

Don Zubler has been our capable service manager ever since the inception of our company in 1946. John DeMartini has been with us for over 15 years while Al Melville and Helen Stetson have been at their posts almost 10 years.

In fact almost our entire staff of Buick Service Technicians pictured right, have been with us for over 15 years. There isn't an auto agency in Marin that can match the continuous service record of our staff of mechanics.

Through the years our organization has built our agency's reputation into the finest in Marin County—and we hope to continue this trend at DON COLLINS BUICK for many years to come.

Sausalito will have its annual Sister City celebration starting Saturday.

Called "Salute to Vina," it is the sixth annual celebration honoring the affiliation between Sausalito and Vina Del Mar, Chile. The event continues through March 11.

There will be a band concert at noon Saturday, weather permitting, in Vina Del Mar Plaza. Tables will be placed in the park to accept donations to the student exchange program and for interested persons to sign the sister city honor roll, Loren L. Jay, People-to-People chairman, said today.

Sunday at 11 a.m. there will be an anniversary breakfast at the Sausalito Woman's Club on Central Avenue.

Proceeds from the breakfast, at which Chilean champagne will be served, will go to the Sister City fund for the student exchange program. Reservations may be made through Col. C. L. Hail of 645 Sausalito Boulevard, through Friday.

The breakfast program will include a report from Gerald Hill of Sausalito of his and his wife's recent visit to Vina Del Mar and to the new Sausalito School, built in a workingman's district of the city.

Hector Burr, consul - general of Chile in San Francisco, will speak, as will Fernando Alegria, a Chilean poet, novelist and literary critic. Rev. James M. Moher, pastor at Star of the Sea Church, will give the invocation; Dr. Norman Culiner will act as master of ceremonies, and Mayor Jan Paul Dyk will welcome guests. Jay will make a report to the community on the People-to-People program.

Other activities in the week-long celebration include an essay contest for grades five through eight at Richardson Bay School and the making of pennants and posters by Sausalito school children to decorate downtown Sausalito. Sausalito Artists and Merchants and the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce are cooperating to decorate city streets.

Hearing Set On Rezoning

The Larkspur City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall, will hold a public hearing on a request by George Bertram for rezoning of two lots and two small parcels at Cane Street and Holcomb Avenue from single to multiple family residential.

The request was approved by the planning commission over the protests of some local residents who complained it will change the character of the now single family residential neighborhood.

The council will also consider a policy on assessment districts which was recommended by former city mgr. Ronald E. Piper. They will consider drainage plans for a portion of the Arroyo Holan Creek and for industrial area east of Highway 101.

The council will also discuss problems in the preparation of a city budget for fiscal 1967, as the city will probably be without a manager until May.
